UNITED STATES STEEL crossed 140 yesterday, highest price. That started speculative suction that will dry in little lambs all over the country. Stocks were up, bonds also, bears stage down.

Individual owners of United States Steel common number 93,671, and all wish somebody would answer these questions.

What will "Steel" do with its four or five hundred millions or more of accumulated cash?

Will it pay out accumulated reserves and leave itself naked to the winds and weather? or will it issue a stock dividend? If so, what dividend will that stock pay?

Answer those questions and you can become rich in the short time needed to call up your broker. Don't gamble!

FLO ZIEGFELD of many "Follies," does not mean to have the wicked tide of nude stage indecency roll over him. Having devoted his life to "glorifying American girls" he now announces his intention to "purify the American stage, and the American girl with it." He advertises a show in which the most beautiful girls ever seen on earth [illegible] Those that [illegible] old, little [illegible] to hear [illegible] nty costumes [illegible]

Dancing originally was all wild, as among American Indians or African savages. Primitive man desiring to "express himself," danced himself into exhaustion.

Then came brief control, stately minuet, waltz, jerky polka, quadrille. There is no personality or expression in them.

The Charleston, allowing youth to throw up both legs and arms at once, will stay until our craving for "self expression" shall have been satisfied.

THOSE that understand finance, there may be two or three among our 115,000,000, watch Caillaux's efforts to stabilize the franc.

Money is mysterious. If the franc goes down to nothing, as the German mark did, danger is feared—although Germany survived it.

If the franc went back to its pre-war value, or half that, France would be swept by a dreadful panic of "dear money."

IS YOUR GARDEN SICK?

Is there something wrong with your garden? Are your plants turning yellow and dying? Are the vines wilting and drying up? Are the beans and the squash and the tomatoes covered with bugs? Are you almost in despair because you don't know what to do to save the many hours of labor you have given to your garden?

The United States government is the best doctor in the world for sick gardens. In its booklet "Diseases and Insects of Garden Vegetables" it tells how to prevent and cure most garden ailments. With this booklet at hand you can diagnose the trouble and apply the correct remedy.

Our Washington Bureau will secure a copy of this booklet for you if you will send in your name and address together with two cents in stamps to cover return postage.

FIREWORKS BAN EFFECTIVE AS COUNCIL PLAN IS THWARTED

Benedum Explains Action in Killing Ordinance.

SAFE HOLIDAY

Solons Cannot Act Upon Veto Before July 11.

Pointing to the fact that "casualties of past years have been so numerous and so serious" that many communities have adopted prohibitory legislation, Mayor Ralph C. Benedum today vetoed Ordinance No. 2041, enacted by council last Saturday night, which, if allowed to become a law, would have repealed the measure banning the use of fireworks in East Liverpool.

The veto [illegible] be read to council at [illegible] g in Municipal court headquarters, but inasmuch as 10 days must elapse before the [illegible] no effort to evade the veto will be made before July 11.

The mayor, in his message to council, expressed the opinion that "human life and safety as well as property will be conserved" by allowing the fireworks banning ordinance to remain in effect and advocated the strengthening of the measure by legislation "prohibiting the sale as well as the use of fireworks."

The repealer was passed by the solons by a vote of 6 to 1 at last Saturday night's meeting. Mayor Benedum had planned to defer action until Saturday night, making it too late for council to re-enact it, a state law was discovered which prohibits the overriding of the mayor's veto by a legislative body until 10 days have elapsed.

The state law, covering this point, is found in Section No. 4234 of the General Code of Ohio which reads: "When the mayor disapproves an ordinance or a resolution, or any part thereof, and returns it to the council with his objections, council may, after 10 days, reconsider it . . . . ." This means that the ordinance cannot be taken up for passage over the mayor's veto before July 11.

About 12 dealers have taken out permits for the sale of fireworks which began today. Instructions have been issued to the police to arrest persons who discharge pyrotechnics within the city limits.

Mayor's Veto Message.

Mayor Benedum's message to the city law makers disapproving the repealer message, his first veto since assuming the reins of office last January 1, follows:

"I am returning herewith an ordinance passed by your honorable body on June 26, 1926, entitled 'An ordinance to repeal ordinance number 2041 passed on the 18th day of February, 1926, prohibiting the use of fireworks within the corporate limits of the City of East Liverpool, Ohio,' which I have seen fit to veto.

"While I realize that the Fourth of July is just four days ahead and your honorable body will not be in position to override my veto by a two-thirds

ELKS PLAN BOAT TRIP TOMORROW

Officers of Elks' lodge No. 258 today announced plans for their first boat excursion of the season which will be held tomorrow night on the steamer Washington.

The boat is scheduled to leave the Broadway street wharf at 8:30 o'clock. Music for the dancing will be provided by Elder's Dreamland orchestra.

THREE PERSONS HURT IN TWO AUTO WRECKS; SEDAN IS OVERTURNED

2-Year-old Boy Fatally Burned In Blazing Sedan

CLEVELAND, July 1.—Burns received when he was trapped in a blazing sedan here late yesterday proved fatal today to 2-year-old Clifford Krieger. The car caught on fire from gasoline spilled on an overheated exhaust pipe while the motorist was having the tank filled. Attracted by the mother's screams, V. L. Tichy, 28, rescued Evelyn Kobbs, 3, from the back seat where she rode with the boy, but was unable to reach the boy before the flames burned him.

Three persons were injured, none seriously, in two traffic accidents, one on the Lincoln highway, near Sherwood, at 9:15 o'clock last night, and the other at the intersection of Fifth and Washington streets shortly after 7 o'clock this morning.

The injured:

MISS ALICE PUTNAM, Pennsylvania avenue, laceration on head and possibly internally hurt; in City hospital.

MRS. CATHERINE FARROW, 89, Frances avenue, Pleasant Heights, bruised; attended at hospital by Dr. C. B. Bailey and removed to her home.

A. L. DONOHEW, 21, Frances avenue, Pleasant Heights, lacerated and cut about the face and head; treated at hospital by Dr. Bailey and sent home.

Four other persons, who figured in two crashes were unhurt.

Accident in Lincoln Highway.

The accident along the Lincoln highway, last night, was the more serious of the two. Young Donohew, accompanied by Mrs. Farrow and the latter's two grandchildren, Frank Farrow, 6, and Florence Farrow, 10, children of Henry Farrow, were returning to their homes from a pleasure ride. Near the George McClintock home, Sherwood, their car was struck headon by a Buick coupe driven by Robert Thompson of Wellsville, who was accompanied by William Kessler, also of Wellsville.

One front wheel of Donohew's machine was demolished and the car disabled. The four occupants, including the children, who were unhurt, were taken to the hospital in the Sturgis ambulance.

Although damaged, Thompson's car continued on its way after the accident. Sheriff George Wright and Deputy Sheriff Lawrence Kindsvatter, who had been notified of the accident, started toward East Liverpool in an effort to locate the driver. They met Thompson and his companion on the grade just north of "Hall Deaden." The pair were loaded into the sheriff's car and brought to the East Liverpool jail. McElravy Brothers' wrecker hauled the Thompson machine to their garage.

Thompson entered a plea of not guilty to a charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated and was re-

Run Down by Car After Two Men Stripped Her.

AKRON, July 1. — The pretty 25-year-old girl who was run down and killed on Portage Lake drive early today after being stripped and attacked by two men who took her away from her escort, J. J. Griffiths, 32, whom they beat up, was identified today as Mrs. Otto Coppage, also known as Opal Woodyard. The identification was made at the morgue about noon by Donald C. Merton, of 36 North Walnut street, where the woman and her husband, Merton said, had light housekeeping rooms.

Mrs. Coppage was evidently thrown from the automobile of her assailants. Half-dazed and attired only in a flimsy chemise she tottered in front of a machine occupied by Ollie E. Sockwell, 22, and George Wicker, 23, who were driving rapidly in the dark road. An artery was ruptured in her lung by the impact of the car against her body and death followed in a few minutes.

Sockwell and Wicker have been exonerated, but will be used as witnesses if the abductors are caught.

Detectives were looking for an alleged Portage Lake bootlegger and his companion, it was said.

W. H. Proctor, Former Local Resident, is Earthquake Victim

William H. Proctor, 45, former resident of East Liverpool, was among those killed two months ago in an earthquake at Santa Barbara, Cal., according to word received here today by his sister, Mrs. Estella Hilton Shamp.

Proctor, who was driving his machine along the highway near Santa Barbara, met his death when a building, shaken by the tremor collapsed, burying the car under the debris.

He is survived by his wife and three children, two sisters, Mrs. Annie Ledbetter, Muskogee, Okla.; Mrs. Shamp, and one half brother, Earl Hilton, Youngstown.

Burial was made at Santa Barbara.

OLLIE HARVEY IS FINED $25

Ollie Harvey, colored, Second street, was fined $25 and costs by Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley this morning when he was found guilty on a charge of using profane language. Harvey was arrested upon affidavit signed by Frank Marshall in behalf of his daughter. The fine was paid.

STATE BOARD TO ACT JULY 16 IN WELLSVILLE POLICE FIGHT

Civil Service Chiefs Will Conduct Investigation.

H. F. HURD CASE

Attorney General Will Send Counsel to Get Facts.

Promising an investigation into "the situation relative to the enforcement of civil service laws," members of the state civil service commission, accompanied by a representative of the attorney general's office will arrive in Wellsville on July 16, as an aftermath to the ex-Patrolman H. F. Hurd controversy, according to dispatches today from Columbus.

In announcing the proposed investigation, the state civil servcie commission says:

"Under provisions of civil service laws of Ohio, the state civil service commission and a representative from the office of the attorney general of Ohio will conduct an investigation under the date of July 16, 1926, at Wellsville, Ohio, of the situation relative to the enforcement of the civil service laws which has been officially referred to this office."

Mayor Will Co-Operate.

The state commission consists of Rollin Swisher, William S. Bundy and Frank W. Forsythe, secretary.

Mayor W. L. Fogo listed inefficiency, drunkenness and "other reasonable causes" in charges filed against Hurd recently with the Wellsville civil service commission.

The deposed patrolman, in filing an appeal for a hearing before the Wellsville commission, asked that the board require the dates and places of the charges be specified and that the charges in general be made more specific.

Although Mayor Fogo today said he had not received notice of the investigation, he announced that he would welcome the Columbus delegation and will co-operate in any way possible in the inquiry.

HARRY BROKAW LIONS' LEADER

Club Officers Will be Installed Next Wednesday.

Attorney Harry Brokaw will head the local Lions club for the fiscal year beginning July 7, his election having occurred at a recent meeting of the club. He succeeds Emmet E. Mylar.

Other officers are:

First vice-president, M. E. Eppley; second vice-president, Lee Welkert; third vice-president, Willis Davidson; secretary, H. D. Rist; treasurer, Earl Greenwalt; tail twister, Joseph Smith; pepmaker and cheer leader, Robert Baur; assistant pepmaker, Kenneth Martin.

New members of the board of directors are Emmet E. Mylar and Fred Glenn. Three other members of the board who retain their places are Dr. John A. Fraser, Charles Kidd and Attorney G. L. Brokaw.

Rev. R. C. Ehrheart, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church of Chester, addressed members of the club at yesterday's meeting. M. J. Lejeune was a guest.

Officers will be installed at the weekly luncheon meeting at the Y. M. C. A. next Wednesday.

OCCUPANTS UNHARMED AS AMERICAN HOUSE AND HOME ARE RAZED

RESIDENCE ADJOINING HOSTELRY, ALSO YOUNG'S, WAS UNOCCUPIED

Barn, Owned by Mrs. George Downard, is Also Destroyed, While Other Dwellings are Threatened in Village Which Has No Fire Fighting Equipment.

Fire, originating in the third story of the Irondale hotel building, known as the old American House, wiped out the frame structure and an adjoining two-story residence this morning at 7 o'clock, entailing a loss estimated between $8,000 and $10,000.

The owner and occupants of the hotel, handicapped by lack of adequate fire fighting methods, were forced to watch the buildings converted into a mass of charred timber.

Robert Young and family, who operated the hotel, were living there along with four boarders, all of whom escaped.

While first floor equipment was removed before reached by the flames, practically all the hotel furniture on the [illegible] and third stories went up in smoke.

The house adjoining the hotel building was unoccupied. Dr. J. V. Rice, Irondale's physician, had previously been living in the house. Yesterday he moved out.

Today the Young family was to have moved into the house and Richard Furniss, of Wellsville, pastry baker, was to have taken over the management of the hotel. He also planned the installation of his baking equipment there.

Wellsville Firemen Called.

A barn owned by Mrs. George Downard, a short distance from the hotel was caught by the flames and [illegible] stroyed.

Other residences, including the J. T. Lowry home, across the creek, were threatened for a short time.

A call was sent into the Wellsville fire department, but, lacking a pumper, which would have been necessary to throw water on the flames, the down river department was not able to render any aid.

The loss is partially covered by insurance.

Whistles Scream As Mail Airplane Lands in Boston

BOSTON, July 1.—Amid the din of screaming factory whistles the zooming of airplanes over head and floating above streams of water shooting high from fireboats, the first mail airplane reached the East Boston airport today, linking Boston closer to the west and middle west.

The plane came from New Brunswick, N. J., via Hartford, Conn., and carried on its maiden run as a passenger from Hartford, Governor John H. Trumbull of Connecticut.

Ohio Power Company Bond Issue Given State's Approval

COLUMBUS, July 1.—State utilities commission today authorized the Ohio Power company, headquarters at Canton, to issue $9,625,900 in bonds, to be sold at not less than 80 and $517,600 in preferred stock.

Proceeds are to be used in purchasing properties of six electrical and public service companies in various parts of Ohio and in liquidating a portion of the Ohio Power company's indebtedness.

American Woman Is Given Divorce By Seine Tribunal

PARIS, July 1.—Mrs. William Heraldo Brady, the former Alice Emma Leonard, of Mt. Vernon, N. Y., was granted a divorce by the Seine tribunal today.

Mrs. Brady in her petition charged that her husband had refused to resume marital relations.

Uncle Sam Begins New Fiscal Year With $19,433,000,000 Debt

WASHINGTON, July 1. — The government began the new fiscal year today with a total public debt of $19,433,000,000, it was announced at the treasury.

The surplus for the fiscal year which closed at midnight was officially set at $377,768,000.

The public debt is $875,000,000 less than on July 1 a year ago.

J. J. PURINTON KIWANIS GUEST

Banker Discusses History of Building and Loan Units.

History of the building and loan associations in the East Liverpool district was traced by John J. Purinton, president of the First National bank and secretary of the Potters Savings & Loan company, in an address before 60 members of the Kiwanis club and their friends in Larkins' annex, Market street, at noon today. His subject was "A Building and Loan and Its Relation to the Community."

First building and loan association was organized in East Liverpool, according to Purinton, in 1885, by George Wilson, who later moved to the south. This was known as the Bitna Building and Loan association. Two years later the East Liverpool Building and Loan association was formed by Robert Hall and Purinton. This was followed by the Potters' Savings and Loan association, which was organized in 1898, the Union Savings and Loan, formed in 1898, the People's Building and Loan in 1899, the Federal Savings and Loan and the Hancock County Building and Loan association, Chester, both in 1902.

Main purpose of the institutions, he said, is to assist people in becoming home owners. Assets of the several associations in Columbiana county total $15,600,000, of which approximately 11,000,000 is held by East Liverpool institutions. No better security for the thrifty investor is offered any

SCHOOL TEACHER AND EAST LIVERPOOL MAN WED IN TAXICAB ON "NARROWS" ROAD BETWEEN CHESTER AND NEWELL

With the meter registering continuously the fare, Miss Dora Dorothy Allison, of Chester, and Truman C. Greenwalt, of East Liverpool were married shortly after 8 o'clock last evening while sitting in the rear seat of one of H. C. Hyatt's green taxicabs as it rested on a grassy spot off the Chester-Newell roadway, known as "the Narrows," just along the Ohio river.

The officiating clergyman was the Rev. John F. Dimit, pastor of the First Methodist Protestant church of this city, who told the contracting parties that since they had procured their license in West Virginia, the ceremony must also be performed in that state.

The taxicab was driven by H. C. Hyatt. The run began at 8:10 and was concluded at 8:35.

Two women witnesses were members of the taxi bridal party. One of the witnesses sat in the rear seat with the principals, while the other woman and the minister occupied the two push seats.

Upon the return to the Ohio side Rev. Mr. Dimit was taken to the postoffice and the wedding party to the Diamond, where they boarded a street car for Chester.

Though Hyatt parked his car off the highway so as not to block the road, no one passed during the progress of the ceremony.

Mr. Greenwalt and his bride-elect had gone to the Methodist Protestant church, where they expected to be married. When the marriage license law was explained by the pastor, the taxicab was called and the trip made across the river.

The bride, who is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Allison, near Chester, wore a pretty gown of Rosewood crepe with hat to match. For the past several years she has been a teacher in the primary department of the Butler district school at Weirton.

The bridegroom is a son of Mrs. Nan J. Greenwalt. He is employed in the Cord Tire corporation of Chester.

After a honeymoon trip, Mr. and Mrs. Greenwalt will reside in East Liverpool.

STATE BOARD TO ACT JULY 16 IN WELLSVILLE POLICE FIGHT

Civil Service Chiefs Will Conduct Investigation.

H. F. HURD CASE

Attorney General Will Send Counsel to Get Facts.

Promising an investigation into "the situation relative to the enforcement of civil service laws," members of the state civil service commission, accompanied by a representative of the attorney general's office will arrive in Wellsville on July 16, as an aftermath to the ex-Patrolman H. F. Hurd controversy, according to dispatches today from Columbus.

In announcing the proposed investigation, the state civil servcie commission says:

"Under provisions of civil service laws of Ohio, the state civil service commission and a representative from the office of the attorney general of Ohio will conduct an investigation under the date of July 16, 1926, at Wellsville, Ohio, of the situation relative to the enforcement of the civil service laws which has been officially referred to this office."

Mayor Will Co-Operate.

The state commission consists of Rollin Swisher, William S. Bundy and Frank W. Forsythe, secretary.

Mayor W. L. Fogo listed inefficiency, drunkenness and "other reasonable causes" in charges filed against Hurd recently with the Wellsville civil service commission.

The deposed patrolman, in filing an appeal for a hearing before the Wellsville commission, asked that the board require the dates and places of the charges be specified and that the charges in general be made more specific.

Although Mayor Fogo today said he had not received notice of the investigation, he announced that he would welcome the Columbus delegation and will co-operate in any way possible in the inquiry.

HARRY BROKAW LIONS' LEADER

Club Officers Will be Installed Next Wednesday.

Attorney Harry Brokaw will head the local Lions club for the fiscal year beginning July 7, his election having occurred at a recent meeting of the club. He succeeds Emmet E. Mylar.

Other officers are:

First vice-president, M. E. Eppley; second vice-president, Lee Welkert; third vice-president, Willis Davidson; secretary, H. D. Rist; treasurer, Earl Greenwalt; tail twister, Joseph Smith; pepmaker and cheer leader, Robert Baur; assistant pepmaker, Kenneth Martin.

New members of the board of directors are Emmet E. Mylar and Fred Glenn. Three other members of the board who retain their places are Dr. John A. Fraser, Charles Kidd and Attorney G. L. Brokaw.

Rev. R. C. Ehrheart, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church of Chester, addressed members of the club at yesterday's meeting. M. J. Lejeune was a guest.

Officers will be installed at the weekly luncheon meeting at the Y. M. C. A. next Wednesday.

OCCUPANTS UNHARMED AS AMERICAN HOUSE AND HOME ARE RAZED

RESIDENCE ADJOINING HOSTELRY, ALSO YOUNG'S, WAS UNOCCUPIED

Barn, Owned by Mrs. George Downard, is Also Destroyed, While Other Dwellings are Threatened in Village Which Has No Fire Fighting Equipment.

Fire, originating in the third story of the Irondale hotel building, known as the old American House, wiped out the frame structure and an adjoining two-story residence this morning at 7 o'clock, entailing a loss estimated between $8,000 and $10,000.

The owner and occupants of the hotel, handicapped by lack of adequate fire fighting methods, were forced to watch the buildings converted into a mass of charred timber.

Robert Young and family, who operated the hotel, were living there along with four boarders, all of whom escaped.

While first floor equipment was removed before reached by the flames, practically all the hotel furniture on the [illegible] and third stories went up in smoke.

The house adjoining the hotel building was unoccupied. Dr. J. V. Rice, Irondale's physician, had previously been living in the house. Yesterday he moved out.

Today the Young family was to have moved into the house and Richard Furniss, of Wellsville, pastry baker, was to have taken over the management of the hotel. He also planned the installation of his baking equipment there.

Wellsville Firemen Called.

A barn owned by Mrs. George Downard, a short distance from the hotel was caught by the flames and [illegible] stroyed.

Other residences, including the J. T. Lowry home, across the creek, were threatened for a short time.

A call was sent into the Wellsville fire department, but, lacking a pumper, which would have been necessary to throw water on the flames, the down river department was not able to render any aid.

The loss is partially covered by insurance.

Whistles Scream As Mail Airplane Lands in Boston

BOSTON, July 1.—Amid the din of screaming factory whistles the zooming of airplanes over head and floating above streams of water shooting high from fireboats, the first mail airplane reached the East Boston airport today, linking Boston closer to the west and middle west.

The surplus for the fiscal year which closed at midnight was officially set at $377,768,000.

The public debt is $875,000,000 less than on July 1 a year ago.

J. J. PURINTON KIWANIS GUEST

Banker Discusses History of Building and Loan Units.

History of the building and loan associations in the East Liverpool district was traced by John J. Purinton, president of the First National bank and secretary of the Potters Savings & Loan company, in an address before 60 members of the Kiwanis club and their friends in Larkins' annex, Market street, at noon today. His subject was "A Building and Loan and Its Relation to the Community."

First building and loan association was organized in East Liverpool, according to Purinton, in 1885, by George Wilson, who later moved to the south. This was known as the Bitina Building and Loan association. Two years later the East Liverpool Building and Loan association was formed by Robert Hall and Purinton. This was followed by the Potters' Savings and Loan association, which was organized in 1898, the Union Savings and Loan, formed in 1898, the People's Building and Loan in 1899, the Federal Savings and Loan and the Hancock County Building and Loan association, Chester, both in 1902.

Main purpose of the institutions, he said, is to assist people in becoming home owners. Assets of the several associations in Columbiana county total $15,600,000, of which approximately 11,000,000 is held by East Liverpool institutions. No better security for the thrifty investor is offered any

With the meter registering continuously the fare, Miss Dora Dorothy Allison, of Chester, and Truman C. Greenwalt, of East Liverpool were married shortly after 8 o'clock last evening while sitting in the rear seat of one of E. C. Hyatt's green taxicabs as it rested on a greasy spot off the Chester-Newell roadway, known as "the Narrows," just along the Ohio river.

The officiating clergyman was the Rev. John F. Dimit, pastor of the First Methodist Protestant church of this city, who told the contracting parties that since they had procured their license in West Virginia, the ceremony must also be performed in that state.

The taxicab was driven by E. C. Hyatt. The run began at 8:10 and was concluded at 8:35.

Two women witnesses were members of the taxi bridal party. One of the witnesses sat in the rear seat with the principals, while the other woman and the minister occupied the two push seats.

Upon the return to the Ohio side Rev. Mr. Dimit was taken to the postoffice and the wedding party to the Diamond, where they boarded a street car for Chester.

Mr. Greenwalt and his bride-elect had gone to the Methodist Protestant church, where they expected to be married. When the marriage license law was explained by the pastor, the taxicab was called and the trip made across the river.

The bride, who is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Allison, near Chester, wore a pretty gown of Rosewood crepe with hat to match. For the past several years she has been a teacher in the primary department of the Butler district school at Weirton.

The bridegroom is a son of Mrs. Nan J. Greenwalt. He is employed in the Cord Tire corporation of Chester.

After a honeymoon trip, Mr. and Mrs. Greenwalt will reside in East Liverpool.

C. E. Dutt Writes Story In Haberdashers' Magazine

"Rejoice in Success of Your Neighbor," is Advice of William Erlanger Company's Advertising Manager.

"Rejoice in the success of your neighbor!"

This is the advice of Clarence E. Duff, advertising and display manager for the William Erlanger Company, this city, writing in the May jubilee number of The Haberdasher and The Clothier & Furnisher, New York trade publication. The story carries the heading "How Your Town Can Hold Its Trade."

"If your competitor has succeeded in bringing in customers to his store," reads the article, "you are going to profit, too, by his good fortune and efforts, that is if you are equally as progressive and have not allowed your customers to become disloyal through slip-shod methods, unreliable merchandise, poor advertising and uninteresting window displays.

"Every time a merchant makes a sale of dependable merchandise, he is helping the other merchants of his city. True, it may be only an indirect aid, but nevertheless the customer has made a purchase from a reliable store and the more satisfactory his purchase proves to be, the more merchandise he is going to buy in stores of that city. He becomes not only the customer of the clothing store, but also the dry goods store and other stores that can supply his needs, keeping his money in circulation in his own city, helping his friends, himself and his community."

Speaking of window displays in which Duff is a recognized expert, the article says:

"People like good clothing and haberdashery, good automobiles, good roads, good books—and they like to see good window displays. If the larger city stores can attract our customers away from us by neat, attractive uncrowded displays, and thrive on them, we can compete with them by making our displays just as modern and interesting by emulating the methods that they have found to be so restful in building up such great merchandising institutions."

Duff possesses many prizes which he has won in window display contests. At the 1925 convention of the International Association of Display men, held at St. Louis, he was awarded the gold medal championship prize, held only by 14 other advertising men in the United States. He is the first Ohioan to receive this honor and was awarded it only after he had qualified by winning a number of other prizes, each of which was counted in points.

Since beginning his window display work, Duff has captured approximately 100 trophies. These include silver cups, baskets, gold, silver and bronze medals, drawing sets, engraved diplomas and cash awards.

Simple Home Treatment That Is Giving Amazing Results.

The world progresses. Today ailments that took weeks to cure can now be ended in a few days. If you have varicose veins or bunches you can start today to bring them back to normal size, and if you are wise you will do so.

Just get an original bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil at any dispensing pharmacist and apply it night and morning to the enlarged veins. It is very powerful and penetrating, and only a little is required.

After a few days' treatment the veins will begin to grow smaller and by regular use will soon reduce to normal.

Moone's Emerald Oil is also a marvelous healing agent. One application for instance stops the itching of eczema, and a few applications cause the eruptions to dry up, scale off and completely disappear. It is equally as effective in barber's itch, salt rheum, redness and inflammatory skin trouble.

People who want to reduce varicose veins, or get rid of eczema, ulcers, or piles in a few days should not hesitate to get a bottle at once. It is so powerful that a small bottle lasts a long time. Any pharmacy can supply you. Mathew's Medicine Store and J. D. Holloway sell lots of it.

NEW OVERLAND WHIPPET READY

American Firm Builds European Low, Light Car.

It has been anticipated for some months that a large American builder of motor cars would soon be on the market with a European type low, light car. The initial production of what may be the forerunner of a complete change in our great mass production of light automobiles made its appearance in this city this week. It is the Overland Whippet on which the engineers of Willys-Overland, Inc., have been working, both here and in Europe, for the past two years.

This new car is totally different from anything we have ever seen before in this country. It looks different, it acts different and it serves a different but constantly increasing demand. Mechanically, it is an adaptation of the best that Europe has to offer in the way of powerful, economical engines, with a wide speed range, more power for climbing than has characterized even the best of the European productions, and with a flexibility, silence and smoothness of running which is new to our light car production.

It is a quality product in every detail from the trim, smart, extremely low body with its brilliant finish and superb upholstery to the last detail of its mechanical construction.

The sedan will travel 58 miles an hour as easily and comfortably as the great majority of our present day "sixes."

It will accelerate from five to 25 miles an hour in 10 seconds, or in just half a second more time than some of our largest and most flexible "sixes" and it will cover 28 to 30 miles on a gallon of fuel.

It will stop in a little over twice its own length from an average driving speed, for it is equipped with four wheel brakes, having a drum diameter of 11 inches, which is larger than those on many of our large cars.

The motor develops 23 per cent more power per cubic inch of piston displacement than any other light four-cylinder motor built in America.

A Girl Guide organization has been formed in British Guinea.

Metropolitan Dancer and Radio Singer Top All-star Bill Which Opens Three-day Engagement.

Basil Fomeen's Royal Accordion Ensemble, with Nita Rosso, a whirlwind dancer, and Dana Call, radio singer, will be the metropolitan vaudeville feature in connection with an all-star photo play program at the Ceramic theatre today, tomorrow and Saturday.

Fomeen and his two pretty girls have scored hits in the biggest vaudeville theatres in the country, and they were engaged for the East Liverpool visit through the agency which books attractions for the Million Dollar Grand theatre, Pittsburgh.

The vaudeville program will be presented with Richard Dix and Lois Wilson in the rollicking romance, "Let's Get Married," and Walter Hiers in "Fresh Faces," a Bingville beauty comedy. Orchestra music will be rendered afternoon and evening.

The Morgantown, W. Va., Post, speaking of the Royal Accordian Ensemble says:

"An act which strikes the fancy of Morgantown theatre patrons is offered at the Metropolitan today and Saturday in the sketch presented on the stage by Basil Fomeen's Accordion Ensemble, with Nita Rosso, the girl named the "whirlwind dancer," and Wanda Goll, famous as a radio soprano. Musical selections which range from the overture from "William Tell" to a medley of popular song hits of the day, are handled well by the quartet of skilled accordion players, who were given an enthusiac reception on Thursday.

"Miss Rosso in her opening dance gave a classical interpretation of "The Swan Song," which was probably the best bit of work of its kind seen here this season. Explanatory to the excellence of the dance is the announcement that Miss Rosso has been appearing with "Pavlowa" and was also included one season in the revue of the Greenwich Village Follies. Miss Rosso's Charleston dance offered the audience a chance for comparison of another district type of her art.

"Wanda Goll, whose sweet soprano voice and charming stage presence won Thursday's audience, is offering a group of songs that have won her fame in the theatres and moving picture houses of Chicago. She brings the fine western enthusiasm into her work, which is of a popular type here."

Richard Dix, popular Paramount star, knows all about the inner workings of Blackwell's Island now. In his latest farce comedy, "Let's Get Married," he is sent "up the river.' And many of the scenes actually show him in jail. But it must be admitted that Richard succeeds in getting out. Lois Wilson is seen as the warden's daughter. Gregory La Cava directed for Paramount.

Most likely, you've never been to Blackwell's Island. It's a little drop of land placed in the East river, right near New York city. Here we are on the Queensboro bridge; and now we're drawing up to a sign which reads, "Welfare Island." Don't let the name confuse you. Behind that bit of painting, there's another name—"Blackwell's"—and this is our destination.

Down in the elevator and on to the island itself. Look around. Everything is spotlessly clean. Many Florida developments would make it look awfully small. It's only about one hundred and twenty acres in area. But here, on this diminutive stretch of land are located those city institutions which could not possibly be maintained in the heart of New York. Such things as sanitariums and hospitals are part and parcel of it. And last but not least—Blackwell's Island is the proud possessor of a huge prison.

The jail, to say the least, is forbidding in stature. It's the kind one looks at from the bridge which towers above, and gives vent to a slight shudder. Why? Because, though they are unseen, one knows that steel bars are keeping a lot of men captive.

Although the highest bidder, an American firm was awarded the contract for paving the streets of Cordoba, Argentina.

May Abolish Primary System

The August 10 primaries, when state and county nominees will be named by the Republican and Democratic parties, may be the last conducted in Ohio.

The question of abolishing the primary system and adopting a new plan of nominating candidates for public offices will be submitted at the November election if 210,000 signatures required are obtained.

Decision to circulate petitions was reached yesterday at Columbus at a conference of representative Republicans who favor a proposal that will enable both Democrats and the G. O. P. to pave the way for a return to party responsibility which is impossible in the present primary system.

Under the proposed amendment, the road is open for the legislature to determine how nominations shall be made—whether by convention, or a modified primary system involving a pre-primary convention and an endorsed slate. However, it provides delegates must be elected by the voters if nominations are to be made by convention. The method of selecting delegates to national conventions is left unchanged.

In the opinion of many observers, abolition of the present primary system should arouse more interest in the selection of party nominees and, too, it will encourage many qualified men and women, who dislike to be made targets of mud-throwing, to permit their names to be suggested for public office.

Popular Summer Schools

Summer schools are open, or opening, in all parts of the country. There are summer courses for every grade of pupil from the little tots to teachers taking post-graduate work.

The increasing popularity of summer study for adults may be attributed to the higher requirements for teachers and to the interest in travel and professional advancement.

The youngsters go to summer school for various reasons. Sometimes it is because they failed in a subject in regular term and want to make it up instead of staying behind their class. Sometimes it is because they have been absent a good deal during the regular session and, although they could be passed, it is better for them to have a little more practice and training in certain difficult branches before they start the new school year. In still other cases, it is because they want to get ahead, to finish the full school course in a year or a term less time. Finally, some pupils go to summer school for the simple but surprising reason that they like it. The summer term is short. It leaves ample time for vacation fun before the fall term begins. The classes are small. The teachers have time to give individual attention to pupils.

A summer teacher in a high school remarked, "The children enjoy the summer work. One little girl told me it was more fun to come to school than just fool around at home."

All this popularity of summer schools is interesting. It may hasten the day of all-year-round schools, with short holidays between them instead of two long semesters with long summer vacation.

Metropolitan Curfew

"Curfew" used to be rung at 7, 8 or 9 o'clock, according to season and place, when the curfew was a real thing. Then the good wife "covered fire," people came in off the streets, city gates were locked, and soon everybody went to bed.

People lived, on the whole, naturally and healthily in those times—until epidemics carried them off.

Modern lighting has greatly prolonged the evening. So we find New Yorkers, mostly financially interested persons, objecting to Mayor Walker's "curfew law" closing places of entertainment and refreshment at 3 a. m. A strangely deferred curfew, our ancestors would have thought it.

Many persons don't want to go home at 3 a. m. But probably a more or less paternal city government owes it to them, and to the community that they often disturb by night, to give them an impulse homeward before dawn comes. A little sleep will do them good, and do the city good.

In fact, a little more sleep would do this whole nation good. There are so many new and engrossing kinds of nocturnal entertainment that often the leisure hours after the day's work is done are wrested from their proper purpose and unfit people for the next day's work instead of preparing them for it. Half our "nerves" and "break-downs" and "degenerative diseases of middle age" would be prevented by adequate and regular sleep.

Rewards of Art

Bud Fisher, famous comic artist, sued for divorce by his French countess wife, is asked for $3,000 a month alimony, $5,000 for expenses and $10,000 counsel fee pending settlement of the case. It is stated by friend countess wife that Bud admits spending $100,000 a year for living expenses, and pays $15,000 a year to the trainer of his racing stable.

America subtly manifests its democratic opposition to royalty by entertaining royal visitors to death.

Brazil might organize a Portuguese league of nations, and have any office she wanted.

Mickey (Himself) McGuire— By Fontaine Fox

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, July 1. — In a few weeks New York will prepare to return from the country. And enjoy a little comfort. Sepia complexions will be on parade in smart cafes as a reminder to those forced to stay in town that the wearers have been enjoying the great open spaces!

They will have a "well, that's over with!" look. Somehow I don't believe New Yorkers enjoy the summer isolation as much perhaps as they should. Some one foisted the notion on the social world that to remain in town during June, July and August carried a stigma. And everybody fled.

So going to the country becomes a duty more than a vacation. It is something to refer to—like a yacht. I never knew a yacht owner to keep his ownership a secret. It is the husband who suffers in this summer hegira. His life becomes a race for trains.

And when the season is over he has not yet mastered the time table. They all do it, of course, for the wife and kiddies, but it puts a crimp in their club life that is painful. Just about the time they are in the middle of hearing a new one, they look at their watch and romp to Grand Central.

Then there are the week-end visitors. I have come to believe that around New York nobody wants week-end visitors any more than the visitors want to suffer themselves to be put up in guest rooms. A guest room is where the reading lamp never works and the window always rattles.

If there has ever been a comfortable guest room I have never seen it, and I have done a lot of week-ending before taking the pledge. A guest room was designed for an unpopular step-child in the beginning and has remained true to type.

Guests spend the evening on the verandah, trying to look comfortable while the bull mosquito calls all his boy and girls friends to work on their ankles. Then they go to the guest room and read the only book there—"Modern Andirons and Their Use."

A stroll on Fifth Avenue invariably offers a spicy touch to life. Yesterday one of the strollers was a dancer, upon the front of whose linen dress was embroidered a cherry tree with branches running down the sleeves. There was also a step ladder against the tree and a figure picking cherries. She seemed utterly oblivious to the way the curious circled around her and looked back. One wag suggested it might have been a good idea to have embroidered beneath the tree: "Matinees Wednesdays and Saturdays."

The hatless fad among men so popular last summer did not gain many new recruits this year. The idea was really wafted from Hollywood, where many motion picture males go hatless. And lead a police dog.

There is one pleasant aspect of life in the country I overlooked in a flurry against it. That is the open fireplace. I think it was Max Beerbohm who said one should know a man at least seven years before poking his fire. If that is true I have committed innumerable breaches of hospitality, for I am always poking up the dying embers and laying on new logs in strange homes. It is the only feature that makes a visit bearable. Of course, the so-called country estates around New York are not the real country. They have the flavor of the summer scenes in musical comedies, where the handsome tenor in flannels sings and the girls cluster adoringly at his feet.

Find Shell Fossils in Well.

In drilling an oil well recently near Medicine Hat, a stratum of fish and shell fossils was found. The fossils were struck at a depth of 3720 feet and it was apparent that they were being washed into the well. Other finds were reported. Iron pyrites and talcum were found at varying depths, the talcum rock being about 750 feet down.

My Favorite Stories

PROTECTING THE GENTLER SEX

A certain young lady who gives interpretative dances in rather scanty costume was engaged to go to a staid community in New England and dance before the local dramatic and literary society.

The day after her appearance the entertainment committee—all women—held a meeting to discuss the affair of the night before. Several had been heard, when one member raised her voice.

"Personally," she said, "I enjoyed it ever so much. To me it was most artistic and symbolic and everything. But if you ask me, I must say this: It certainly was no place to take a nervous man!"

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Chemists In Industry.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 1. — Early last year the wood alcohol industry reports showed that it was in a prosperous condition with excellent business prospects. Within sixty days this industry, which has more than $100,000,000 invested in it and turns out an annual product valued at a third of that amount, had received a body blow, the full effects of which have not yet been determined.

This was due to the simultaneous discoveries by a Frenchman and a German of a process for manufacturing methanol, which is the scientific name for the kind of alcohol that is distilled from wood, that is very much cheaper than the distillation process. If all that the inventors of the new process claim for it is true it is said that the wood alcohol industry in its present form will cease to exist.

This is cited as a sample of the things that chemists are doing to and for industry. For the most part, the things they are doing are helpful. Improved products and lowered production costs are the results that they achieve regularly. However, occasionally there comes from the laboratory a new process that works havoc with an old industry, unless it happens that that industry has had the foresight to do the experimenting that led to the discovery, and is able to adjust itself accordingly.

Chemists say that their field is as broad as all industry. Everything that we touch, see, smell; everything that we use, light, heat, transportation; everything that we consume, food, clothing—everything, is a chemical compound of some kind or another and can, in time, be reproduced synthetically.

Therefore it is said that the industry that does not keep step with the progress of modern chemical research is likely to get a jolt at any moment that may prove fatal to it and distressing to its stockholders.

"The American investor owes himself the obligation of supporting the managers of industry who are looking ahead and of forcing those who are not to wake up," says one of the experts.

The Price Of Survival.

"Eternal research is the price of survival in modern industry. No investor or banker can feel sure that his interest in any security is secure in the absence of the assurance given by knowledge that science is on guard. The producer who survives modern competition is the producer whose technical advisers know what is going on in the world and whose executives know how and when to apply their knowledge."

There are some 200,000 corporations in the United States that are engaged in manufacturing, mining, transportation, and various other productive pursuits, and none of them is safe, it is declared, unless it is doing everything that can be done in the line of chemical research, or is identified with an association that is doing this work.

Industry is being revolutionized by the scientist who is developing new products and new processes every hour of every day, and not infrequently what were flourishing industries are being scrapped overnight as a result of the chemist's work in his laboratory. When this last happens, it is inevitable, of course, that new industries are created to take the place of the ones that are scrapped, but in many instances the new industries have new managers and new owners, and the managers and owners of the obsolete concerns are junked along with their enterprises.

These changes are coming more rapidly with each year that passes. It has not been so very long since the indigo growers of India, it is pointed out, lost their means of livelihood and their investment in the indigo industry as the result of the discovery of a chemical method of manufacturing a purer indigo from the waste products of coke manufacture, but since that time the chemist has discovered how to make artificial silk, artificial dyes, artificial rubber, and many other vitally important products. Some of these as yet do not compare favorably with the natural products—synthetic rubber, for instance—but it is only a question of time, the chemists claim, until they supplant the products of nature.

Often Improve Upon Nature.

Moreover, it is asserted that the chemist not only succeeds in duplicating the products of nature in most cases, but often he actually improves upon the natural product, making a stronger, purer, and more lasting thing than nature can or does turn out, and more beautiful, too. The chemist's colors—some of them—have no counterpart in nature and are much more brilliant and enduring.

Some of the country's greatest industries are subject to the hazards of revolutionary change quite as great as that which the chemist has brought about in the wood alcohol industry. Take the oil industry as an example. At this very moment there may be in some laboratory a process in the course of development or even actually perfected that will produce a fuel that will be a substitute for gasoline, and when that happens the oil industry will have either to re-discover how gasoline once was made and sold at less than ten cents the gallon or develop a new use for the volatile product that is as universal as that for which it wil be supplanted.

Chemistry's most significant contribution to industry, however, is said to be in the lowering of production costs, rather than in the displacing of existing products, and it also serves notably in turning out better and purer products. The chemist is not a destroyer; he is a builder, a purifier, and a simplifier, as well as a creator. He achieves some of his greatest results, also, in the utilization of waste products or by-products.

An illustration of the latter that is frequently pointed out is what Henry Ford does with coal. The flivver king gets by-products out of a ton of coal that in the aggregate are worth two or three times the value of the coal as

Constipation! How to Keep Bowels Regular

To Dr. W. B. Caldwell, of Monticello, Ill., a practicing physician for 47 years, it seemed cruel that so many constipated men, women, children, and particularly old folks, had to be kept constantly "stirred up" and half sick by taking cathartic pills, tablets, salts, calomel and nasty oils.

While he knew that constipation was the cause of nearly all headaches, biliousness, indigestion and stomach misery, he did not believe that a sickening "purge" or "physic" was necessary.

In Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin he discovered a laxative which helps to establish natural bowel "regularity" even for those chronically constipated. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin not only causes a gentle, easy bowel movement, but, best of all, it never gripes, sickens, or upsets the system. Besides, it is absolutely harmless, and so pleasant that even a cross, feverish, bilious, sick child gladly takes it.

Well Known Lady Gets Relief After Five Years of Rheumatism

Was so bad at times she couldn't even walk or raise her arms Gained complete relief after taking Dreco for six weeks.

"For over five years I suffered so with rheumatism that every joint and muscle in my body ached," says Mrs. Martha Krantz, 2408 Larkyns Way, South Side, Pittsburgh, Pa.

"I was unable to do any of my housework and for months at a time was not able to help myself around. At such times I couldn't walk or even raise my arms to my head. I had to be helped from my bed six or seven times a night to relieve my kidneys. Losing so much sleep made me nervous and cross and even a chair scraping across the floor would irritate me.

"I was always constipated and had a stale taste in my mouth and a coated tongue. I was subject to severe headaches and suffered so with my stomach I lost all appetite for food, which made me lose lots of weight. Believe me, I was a very sick woman and I didn't believe there was a thing in the world that would help me.

"Then I learned of Dreco and in six weeks this wonderful remedy has made me completely well. I'm enjoying my meals better than I have in years and never had the least trouble with indigestion or constipation afterwards. The headaches have vanished entirely. I can sleep soundly all night thru, and my body is as free from rheumatism as any baby's. I can almost cry for joy now that Dreco has made me well and I recommend it to everyone I meet."

May Abolish Primary System

The August 10 primaries, when state and county nominees will be named by the Republican and Democratic parties, may be the last conducted in Ohio.

The question of abolishing the primary system and adopting a new plan of nominating candidates for public offices will be submitted at the November election if 210,000 signatures required are obtained.

Decision to circulate petitions was reached yesterday at Columbus at a conference of representative Republicans who favor a proposal that will enable both Democrats and the G. O. P. to pave the way for a return to party responsibility which is impossible in the present primary system.

Under the proposed amendment, the road is open for the legislature to determine how nominations shall be made—whether by convention, or a modified primary system involving a pre-primary convention and an endorsed slate. However, it provides delegates must be elected by the voters if nominations are to be made by convention. The method of selecting delegates to national conventions is left unchanged.

In the opinion of many observers, abolition of the present primary system should arouse more interest in the selection of party nominees and, too, it will encourage many qualified men and women, who dislike to be made targets of mud-throwing, to permit their names to be suggested for public office.

Popular Summer Schools

Summer schools are open, or opening, in all parts of the country. There are summer courses for every grade of pupil from the little tots to teachers taking post-graduate work.

The increasing popularity of summer study for adults may be attributed to the higher requirements for teachers and to the interest in travel and professional advancement.

The youngsters go to summer school for various reasons. Sometimes it is because they failed in a subject in regular term and want to make it up instead of staying behind their class. Sometimes it is because they have been absent a good deal during the regular session and, although they could be passed, it is better for them to have a little more practice and training in certain difficult branches before they start the new school year. In still other cases, it is because they want to get ahead, to finish the full school course in a year or a term less time. Finally, some pupils go to summer school for the simple but surprising reason that they like it. The summer term is short. It leaves ample time for vacation fun before the fall term begins. The classes are small. The teachers have time to give individual attention to pupils.

A summer teacher in a high school remarked, "The children enjoy the summer work. One little girl told me it was more fun to come to school than just fool around at home."

All this popularity of summer schools is interesting. It may hasten the day of all-year-round schools, with short holidays between them instead of two long semesters with long summer vacation.

Metropolitan Curfew

"Curfew" used to be rung at 7, 8 or 9 o'clock, according to season and place, when the curfew was a real thing. Then the good wife "covered fire," people came in off the streets, city gates were locked, and soon everybody went to bed.

People lived, on the whole, naturally and healthily in those times—until epidemics carried them off.

Modern lighting has greatly prolonged the evening. So we find New Yorkers, mostly financially interested persons, objecting to Mayor Walker's "curfew law" closing places of entertainment and refreshment at 3 a. m. A strangely deferred curfew, our ancestors would have thought it.

Many persons don't want to go home at 3 a. m. But probably a more or less paternal city government owes it to them, and to the community that they often disturb by night, to give them an impulse homeward before dawn comes. A little sleep will do them good, and do the city good.

In fact, a little more sleep would do this whole nation good. There are so many new and engrossing kinds of nocturnal entertainment that often the leisure hours after the day's work is done are wrested from their proper purpose and unfit people for the next day's work instead of preparing them for it. Half our "nerves" and "break-downs" and "degenerative diseases of middle age" would be prevented by adequate and regular sleep.

Rewards of Art

Bud Fisher, famous comic artist, sued for divorce by his French countess wife, is asked for $3,000 a month alimony, $5,000 for expenses and $10,000 counsel fee pending settlement of the case. It is stated by friend countess wife that Bud admits spending $100,000 a year for living expenses, and pays $15,000 a year to the trainer of his racing stable.

America subtly manifests its democratic opposition to royalty by entertaining royal visitors to death.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, July 1. — In a few weeks New York will prepare to return from the country. And enjoy a little comfort. Sepia complexions will be on parade in smart cafes as a reminder to those forced to stay in town that the wearers have been enjoying the great open spaces!

They will have a "well, that's over with!" look. Somehow I don't believe New Yorkers enjoy the summer isolation as much perhaps as they should. Some one foisted the notion on the social world that to remain in town during June, July and August carried a stigma. And everybody fled.

So going to the country becomes a duty more than a vacation. It is something to refer to—like a yacht. I never knew a yacht owner to keep his ownership a secret. It is the husband who suffers in this summer hegira. His life becomes a race for trains.

And when the season is over he has not yet mastered the time table. They all do it, of course, for the wife and kiddies, but it puts a crimp in their club life that is painful. Just about the time they are in the middle of hearing a new one, they look at their watch and romp to Grand Central.

Then there are the week-end visitors. I have come to believe that around New York nobody wants week-end visitors any more than the visitors want to suffer themselves to be put up in guest rooms. A guest room is where the reading lamp never works and the window always rattles.

If there has ever been a comfortable guest room I have never seen it, and I have done a lot of week-ending before taking the pledge. A guest room was designed for an unpopular step-child in the beginning and has remained true to type.

Guests spend the evening on the verandah, trying to look comfortable while the bull mosquito calls all his boy and girls friends to work on their ankles. Then they go to the guest room and read the only book there—"Modern Andirons and Their Use."

A stroll on Fifth Avenue invariably offers a spicy touch to life. Yesterday one of the strollers was a dancer, upon the front of whose linen dress was embroidered a cherry tree with branches running down the sleeves. There was also a step ladder against the tree and a figure picking cherries. She seemed utterly oblivious to the way the curious circled around her and looked back. One wag suggested it might have been a good idea to have embroidered beneath the tree: "Matinees Wednesdays and Saturdays."

The hatless fad among men so popular last summer did not gain many new recruits this year. The idea was really wafted from Hollywood, where many motion picture males go hatless. And lead a police dog.

There is one pleasant aspect of life in the country I overlooked in a flurry against it. That is the open fireplace. I think it was Max Beerbohm who said one should know a man at least seven years before poking his fire. If that is true I have committed innumerable breaches of hospitality, for I am always poking up the dying embers and laying on new logs in strange homes. It is the only feature that makes a visit bearable. Of course, the so-called country estates around New York are not the real country. They have the flavor of the summer scenes in musical comedies, where the handsome tenor in flannels sings and the girls cluster adoringly at his feet.

Find Shell Fossils in Well.

In drilling an oil well recently near Medicine Hat, a stratum of fish and shell fossils was found. The fossils were struck at a depth of 3720 feet and it was apparent that they were being washed into the well. Other finds were reported. Iron pyrites and talcum were found at varying depths, the talcum rock being about 750 feet down.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Chemists In Industry.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 1. — Early last year the wood alcohol industry reports showed that it was in a prosperous condition with excellent business prospects. Within sixty days this industry, which has more than $100,000,000 invested in it and turns out an annual product valued at a third of that amount, had received a body blow, the full effects of which have not yet been determined.

This was due to the simultaneous discoveries by a Frenchman and a German of a process for manufacturing methanol, which is the scientific name for the kind of alcohol that is distilled from wood, that is very much cheaper than the distillation process. If all that the inventors of the new process claim for it is true it is said that the wood alcohol industry in its present form will cease to exist.

This is cited as a sample of the things that chemists are doing to and for industry. For the most part, the things they are doing are helpful. Improved products and lowered production costs are the results that they achieve regularly. However, occasionally there comes from the laboratory a new process that works havoc with an old industry, unless it happens that that industry has had the foresight to do the experimenting that led to the discovery, and is able to adjust itself accordingly.

Annual Convention Will be Held August 9 to 14.

$12,000 PRIZES

Pacific Fleet Will be Anchored There During Session.

SEATTLE, Wash., July 1—Extensive preparations are being made by Seattle Aerie No. 1 of Eagles for "Home Coming Week," when the twenty-eighth annual convention will be held here August 9 to 14, inclusive.

Plans for entertaining more than 50,000 guests are well under way and many added attractions have been secured for the entertainment of the visitors.

Prizes totaling more than $12,000 have been offered for drill teams, bands, ritualistic contests to be open to the public.

Seattle, the play ground of the Northwest, offers every attraction possible for the guest. Its ideal location on Puget Sound, with the snow covered Cascade range on the East and the Olympic mountains on the West make it the wonder spot of this section.

The Pacific fleet will be anchored in Seattle waters during the convention week and the Pacific Northwest Merchants Exposition will also hold its annual show.

Hotel facilities are ample to care for the big crowd expected, while more than $100,000 has been raised for entertainment.

All local golf clubs will throw their links open to the visitors, assuring them plenty of opportunities to play, while the big lakes surrounding Seattle offer ideal swimming, yachting and fishing attractions.

Swedish Crown Princess Says Nothing to Criticize In U. S.

—Once Popular Song.

Being a princess places certain obligations on one, and raising a racket (and also roses) seems out of the picture until you hear the Crown Princess Louise of Sweden contess that that such is her favorite sport. Not the traditional "sport of kings" but that of a modern princess who says when asked of hobbies:

"I play a little bad tennis."

"English roses grow beautifully in Swedish gardens. They don't seem to mind transplanting."

And this lovely young British princess has weathered transplanting from her own land to Sweden's court. She possesses gratifying chic which, strangely enough, withholds itself from the camera, so that you behold a royal elegance that too seldom exists among the highly placed. She says of American women:

Her Costume.

"I have always had lots of American women friends, but I find them even more charming in their own country I think, perhaps, one is always best against one's own background."

Feminine eyes eagerly took in details of the princess' costume—beige tailored frock, nude stockings and light kid one-strap slippers to match her gown; broad-brimmed hat of black transparent straw with a wide rose velvet ribbon twisted smartly about its crown and tucked under the brim with a matching rose or two; rose and white figured chiffon scarf about her throat.

"Look at that lovely old fashioned jewelry the Princess wears," one of the company whispered. So it was—old fashioned—wide yellow-gold wedding ring, the conventional solitaire, neither too big nor too small, and a simple size sapphire of a style that begun at least fifteen years ago.

Likes Silk Stockings.

"I would like to do some shopping in New York," said the Princess. "Especially for silk stockings. We have good ones in our own country, but there is something about American silk stockings that is simply wonderful. I shall take home quantities of them.'

The Princess smoked while she talked, using a long, plain black holder, which she held at an angle of 45 degrees.

"I don't see much difference in skirt lengths here and back home," she replied to a question. "Styles are the same everywhere.

"Yes, Sweden has gone in for bobbed hair," she laughed, a fringe of light brown bobbed hair showing under the picture hat.

"Fashions have grown comfortable, and I am sure they will stay that way.

"The Charleston? Oh, I saw that in Paris. It looks like fun, doesn't it? I love your theatre. We saw "Craig's Wife,' the play of the woman who loved her home too much. In America you don't have to wait between the acts as long as we do on the other side.

Didn't Try Subway.

"I didn't try the subway. Didn't want to. I know one thing I should like to do in New York—walk, and walk and walk.

"If you ask me if I have noticed a distinct American type in women, I should say yes—that it is rather on the tall side, slender, graceful.

"Your country life here is just like England's. In Sweden I have not been at many private homes—just a few castles."

American cooking? The Princess likes it.

"I like your hot rolls and lobster. All your food is splendid.

"Of course I found charming—the Americans who have entertained me."

The Princess laughed at the question someone asked, as if she could not or would not say otherwise. Talking on with her cigarette holder hanging from the corner of her mouth:

Women Advanced.

"Women of Sweden are advanced, that's true. They are interested in labor movements, in feminism and in education, in work for children and in better hospitals. But I think women should, and most of them do, place their homes first in importance."

Ahead of her when she returns is a pleasant Summer working in her garden. Of this she confides:

"In the Summer we can keep to ourselves more. We can be quiet and talk and plan."

Her slender hands seemed to tremble a little as she took the burned-out cigarette from its holder and arose to say goodbye. The Crown Princess is quiet and retiring and very likely would prefer not to be interviewed.

"No, I shan't criticize anything in America,' she said. "I see nothing to criticize."

500,000 AWAIT ADMISSION TO UNITED STATES

GATES CLOSED

Irish Free State Alone Did Not Send Number Allowed.

WASHINGTON, July 1.—With the closing of the government's fiscal year today, immigration quotas were exhausted and more than a half million foreigners were vainly seeking admission to the United States.

Under the present quota law many must wait three years or more before making legal entry.

Of the larger countries it was indicated that the Irish Free State alone would fail to exhaust its quota. The number allowed Germany, Great Britain, Norway, Poland, France and other large countries had been reached some time ago.

The restrictive immigration law permitted 164,667 immigrants to enter the country during the year ending today.

During the next fiscal year more than 71 per cent of the European immigrants will be examined abroad by American consuls, state department officials declare.

In the past many aliens have sold their slender possessions and sailed for the United States, only to be told at Ellis island that they must go back.

Atlantic-Pacific Company Increases Advertising Funds

Announcement comes from the main offices of The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea company in Jersey City, that the company's advertising appropriation for the current year will show an increase of $500,000.

A&P, as it is known throughout the country, is a large and consistent user of newspaper advertising space, and the bulk of the advertising increase this year is being devoted to newspapers for the furtherance of local retail business in every community where A&P is established. A magazine campaign will also be inaugurated.

The familiar red front of the A&P store is to be seen in practically every neighborhood trading center in the larger cities, and in the smaller communities as well.

The administrative and buying organization of the A&P is world-wide. In London, England, is a purchasing office with a complete purchasing staff. Food brokers from all parts of Europe travel regularly to London to offer their merchandise to A&P. In South America, A&P maintains five coffee-purchasing offices—one at Santos, Brazil; one at Rio de Janeiro and three in Colombia. These buyers make several trips into the interior each season, 300 and 400 miles, to the coffee plantations, where they inspect and examine the coffee in the growing bean, on the trees.

In San Francisco, A&P maintain fruit and vegetable purchasing headquarters. Its salmon fisheries in Alaska are operated for the exclusive use of the company stores. Other representatives are scattered throughout the Orient.

Kills Pesky Bed-Bugs

Doctors declare that bed-bugs and other vermin are the most to be feared means of spreading such diseases as consumption, spinal meningitis and other infectious troubles. There is no disgrace in getting bed-bugs in your home, because that can't be avoided. But it is a disgrace to permit them to remain and thrive when it is so easy to get rid of them with the new chemical compound, P.D.Q., which quickly puts an end to these pesky devils.

A Million Bed-bugs

A 35-cent package of this golden chemical will make a quart of a mixture that is so deadly to bed-bugs that it would kill a million of them if you could get that many together. Instantly it smothers and annihilates the living creatures; coats their eggs and stops them from hatching and multiplying.

Cut This Out

Your druggist has P.D.Q. and will be glad to furnish it for 35 cents. One package makes a quart of the mixture and is equal to a barrel of old-fashioned bug-killer. Don't accept a substitute. If your druggist hasn't P.D.Q. write Owl Chemical Co., Terre Haute, Ind., sending us your name and 35 cents and we will send you a package postage prepaid to your address.

Will Not Damage Goods

P.D.Q. will not injure delicate fabrics, clothing, carpets, furniture, bedding, wall paper or woodwork. In fact, it is often used as a deodorizer and disinfectant.

Kills Fleas on Dogs

If your pet dog is infested with fleas take a little P.D.Q. mixture in your hand and rub into the fur. Then watch the fleas move. They will be dead before they hit the floor.

Moths

Very simple to rid these pests from furs or clothing. Just follow the directions on each package. Impossible for moths to exist with the proper use of P.D.Q. A treatment on garments will prevent moths for two years.

For Ants and Cockroaches

Ants and cockroaches stand no chance of surviving a treatment of P.D.Q. It attacks them and their eggs with such force that it kills their whole generation.

P.D.Q. In Liquid Form

P.D.Q. can be purchased in sealed bottles double strength liquid form, with patent spout free. P.D.Q. Liquid can be diluted to make a quart or it can be used pure.

P.D.Q. is marketed in two style packages, Liquid form 50c, ready for use and P.D.Q. Dry form, 35c. Each package makes one quart.

Get P.D.Q. from your druggist today. Your money back if the bugs are not gone tomorrow.

50,000 WILL GO TO SEATTLE EAGLES' MEET

Annual Convention Will be Held August 9 to 14.

$12,000 PRIZES

Pacific Fleet Will be Anchored There During Session.

SEATTLE, Wash., July 1—Extensive preparations are being made by Seattle Aerie No. 1 of Eagles for "Home Coming Week," when the twenty-eighth annual convention will be held here August 9 to 14, inclusive.

Plans for entertaining more than 50,000 guests are well under way and many added attractions have been secured for the entertainment of the visitors.

Prizes totaling more than $12,000 have been offered for drill teams, bands, ritualistic contests to be open to the public.

Seattle, the play ground of the Northwest, offers every attraction possible for the guest. Its ideal location on Puget Sound, with the snow covered Cascade range on the East and the Olympic mountains on the West make it the wonder spot of this section.

The Pacific fleet will be anchored in Seattle waters during the convention week and the Pacific Northwest Merchants Exposition will also hold its annual show.

Hotel facilities are ample to care for the big crowd expected, while more than $100,000 has been raised for entertainment.

All local golf clubs will throw their links open to the visitors, assuring them plenty of opportunities to play, while the big lakes surrounding Seattle offer ideal swimming, yachting and fishing attractions.

Secluded Camp Becomes Nation's Political Center As Coolidges Flee Heat of Capital for Summer

Swedish Crown Princess Says Nothing to Criticize In U. S.

—Once Popular Song.

Being a princess places certain obligations on one, and raising a racket (and also roses) seems out of the picture until you hear the Crown Princess Louise of Sweden contess that that such is her favorite sport. Not the traditional "sport of kings" but that of a modern princess who says when asked of hobbies:

"I play a little bad tennis."

Gardening is really her favorite pastime. She tells you with a glow in her hazen eyes:

"English roses grow beautifully in Swedish gardens. They don't seem to mind transplanting."

And this lovely young British princess has weathered transplanting from her own land to Sweden's court. She possesses gratifying chic which, strangely enough, withholds itself from the camera, so that you behold a royal elegance that too seldom exists among the highly placed. She says of American women:

Her Costume.

"I have always had lots of American women friends, but I find them even more charming in their own country I think, perhaps, one is always best against one's own background."

Feminine eyes eagerly took in details of the princess' costume—beige tailored frock, nude stockings and light kid one-strap slippers to match her gown; broad-brimmed hat of black transparent straw with a wide rose velvet ribbon twisted smartly about its crown and tucked under the brim with a matching rose or two; rose and white figured chiffon scarf about her throat.

"Look at that lovely old fashioned jewelry the Princess wears," one of the company whispered. So it was—old fashioned—wide yellow-gold wedding ring, the conventional solitaire, neither too big nor too small, and a simple size sapphire of a style that begun at least fifteen years ago.

Likes Silk Stockings.

"I would like to do some shopping in New York," said the Princess. "Especially for silk stockings. We have good ones in our own country, but there is something about American silk stockings that is simply wonderful. I shall take home quantities of them."

The Princess smoked while she talked, using a long, plain black holder, which she held at an angle of 45 degrees.

"I don't see much difference in skirt lengths here and back home," she replied to a question. "Styles are the same everywhere.

Jones-Maloney Wedding Solemnized At Home of Bride

Miss Jeannette Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Jones, of Newell, W. Va., and Roy Maloney, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Maloney, of Church alley, were married at noon today at the home of the bride's parents, with Dr. J. G. Reinartz, pastor of St. John's Lutheran church, officiating.

The bride was gowned in cream georgette combined with point lace, and she carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses and lilies of the valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Maloney left this afternoon for a honeymoon trip to Philadelphia, Canada and lake points. After July 15 they will be at home to friends at 129½ West Fifth street.

Bridge Party at Porter Home.

The second of a series of bridge parties was given yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Sidney Porter, of Newell. Eight tables were in play. Trophies were presented Mesdames H. Dan Smith and Walter Hewitt.

Refreshments were served by the hostess. Summer flowers were used in the appointments.

Mrs. Effie Wines Entertains.

Mrs. Effie Wines entertained the members of the Golden Eagle club last evening at her home in Riley avenue. The social hours were spent with music and a guessing contest, which was won by Mrs. Thomas Farrell. Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Delcie VanDyke and Mrs. Della Tice, covers being arranged for 20 guests.

Special guests were Mesdames Thomas Farrell and Myrtle Clutter and Miss Josie Nolan.

The club was reorganized, and the first meeting of the fall season will be held August 5 at the home of Mrs. Herman Roth, of Bradshaw avenue.

Fine Imported Swiss Cheese, at Heddleston Bros., 4th and Market.

Bible Class Session.

Members of the Berean Bible class of Pleasant Heights will be received tonight at the home of Mrs. Mentor Shenkle, of Northside avenue. The first chapter of Exodus will be reviewed by Mrs. Shenkle. The devotionals will be in charge of Mrs. William Good.

Community Club Reorganized.

The Community club of East End was reorganized last evening, when a meeting was held in the East End fire station. The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. May Hutchison; vice-president, H. A. Miller; secretary, John N. Hughes; treasurer, Miss Florence Stuttler; chaplain, I. N. Hughes; trustees, Frank Stuttler, F. E. Dailey and Mrs. Earl Hughes; social chairman, Mrs. Zella Stuttler; entertainment chairman, Mrs. Kathryn Anderson. Three new members were enrolled.

At the close of the business session, an old-fashioned box social was held. Eighteen members were present.

On next Wednesday evening, officers will be installed, after which the social committee will serve a surprise luncheon, honoring the newly elected officers.

On Monday evening Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Thoms, of LaCroft, will entertain the club members.

Mrs. Russell Floyd Hostess.

Members of the Always Ready class of the Nazarene church were entertained Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Russell Floyd, of Gardendale. The devotionals were in charge of the president, Mrs. Fred Stoffel, after which a short business session was conducted. The class donated clothing for a mission school in Kentucky.

Luncheon was served by Mrs. Floyd, assisted by Mrs. Greenwood and Mrs. C. F. Brindley.

Senior C. E. Society Picnic.

The Young People's Senior Christian Endeavor society of the Second Presbyterian church will hold a picnic at Rock Springs park tomorrow evening at 6:30 o'clock.

Class No. 14 of the church will meet in the church basement tomorrow evening, with Mesdames Roy Burson and Joseph Boyd as hostesses.

Birthday Anniversary Observed.

Celebrating the third birthday anniversary of little David Mullen, and also in honor of Miss Dorothy Loretta Green, of Dublin, O., who has been the guest of her grandmother, Mrs. Bertha Dunn, of West Sixth street, friends were entertained yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. L. Welch of St. Clair avenue.

Luncheon was served in the rose arbor on the lawn, a color scheme of red, white and blue predominating. The table was centered with a birthday cake bearing three lighted candles. Mrs. Welch was assisted in serving by her mother, Mrs. B. L. Dunn, and her sister, Mrs. H. C. Green of Columbus. Places were arranged for Dorothy Veigle, Alberta Rose Mullen, David Mullen, Dorothy Loretta Green, Junior Yost and Clara Louise Savelsberg.

Japanese Weddings Too Costly; Discuss Plan to Cut Expense

TOKIO.—Weddings in Japan are too expensive and a movement to cut down nuptial expenditures has been launched by the Ladies' Thrift & Savings society. The movement is a part of a nation-wide thrift campaign launched by the organization. Other economies recommended by the society include non-use of silk in dresses for school girls, a reduction in the number of servants per household, and the complete abolition of smoking and drinking.

It is interesting to know, also of the research work in another line. During the present summer a series of tests will be carried out at the Bureau of Standards, Washington, on the fastness to light colored textiles and printing inks, at the instance of the American Association of Textile Chemists and Colorists. The dyeings have been made by some twenty cooperating laboratories, and the samples to be tested will be divided into sets, each set consisting of 1047 dyeings divided equally among cotton, wool, and silk colors. They represent several hundred of the important textile dyes dyed in either of two or in three strengths.

The printing inks to be tested represent the important organic dye lakes and pigments and the inorganic pigments in several strengths. The total number of samples to be exposed is 10,710, or 9 duplicate sets of 1190 samples each.

Sciatic Neuritis

The sciatic nerve, situated at the back of the hip joint is frequently the subject of Nepritis, giving rise to the painful disease Sciatica. The symptoms are intense pain which shoots dow the thigh to the foot, often aggravated by walking, and with painful points along the course of the nerve, very tender to the touch.

The disease is a very obstinate one and does not readily respond to ordinary treatment. It takes more than the usual pain sedative even to alleviate the pain.

The quickest, safest and surest way to get rid of the persistent nerve racking pains of Neuritis is to get a bottle of Allenrhu Special Formula No. 2, which comes in capsule form. Take them as directed and notice how in about 24 hours they have considerably reduced, if not entirely banished, all pain and soreness. Continue until the neuritis has entirely disappeared and you are able to work and rest in comfort once again. Mathews' Cut Rate Store keeps Allenrhu Special Formula No. 2 in stock all the time and sells lots of it.

fuel, or its cost to mine and transport to Detroit.

It is interesting to know, also of the research work in another line. During the present summer a series of tests will be carried out at the Bureau of Standards, Washington, on the fastness to light colored textiles and printing inks, at the instance of the American Association of Textile Chemists and Colorists. The dyeings have been made by some twenty cooperating laboratories, and the samples to be tested will be divided into sets, each set consisting of 1047 dyeings divided equally among cotton, wool, and silk colors. They represent several hundred of the important textile dyes dyed in either of two or in three strengths.

The printing inks to be tested represent the important organic dye lakes and pigments and the inorganic pigments in several strengths. The total number of samples to be exposed is 10,710, or 9 duplicate sets of 1190 samples each.

Sciatic Neuritis

The sciatic nerve, situated at the back of the hip joint is frequently the subject of Nepritis, giving rise to the painful disease Sciatica. The symptoms are intense pain which shoots dow the thigh to the foot, often aggravated by walking, and with painful points along the course of the nerve, very tender to the touch.

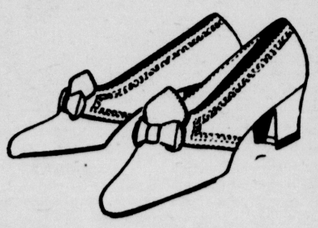

The disease is a very obstinate one and does not readily respond to ordinary treatment. It takes more than the usual pain sedative even to alleviate the pain.

The quickest, safest and surest way to get rid of the persistent nerve racking pains of Neuritis is to get a bottle of Allenrhu Special Formula No. 2, which comes in capsule form. Take them as directed and notice how in about 24 hours they have considerably reduced, if not entirely banished, all pain and soreness. Continue until the neuritis has entirely disappeared and you are able to work and rest in comfort once again. Mathews' Cut Rate Store keeps Allenrhu Special Formula No. 2 in stock all the time and sells lots of it.

Mother's Love For Children Prompts Choice of Jail Term

New Philadelphia Woman Refuses Opportunity to Return Home and Away From Tots When Arrested.

CLEVELAND, July 1.—A mother's love for her two children, caused Mrs. Donna Peters, 32, pretty brunette of New Philadelphia, to choose a stay in the Cleveland jail, where she believes she will have an opportunity to get her children, in preference to returning to her home, but away from the tots.

"My love for my children is everything. Nothing else matters, I will not leave Cleveland without them," she told Judge Moylan, in police court, when she was arraigned before him on a charge of carrying concealed weapons. The court gave her the choice of returning immediately to her home without her children or being held for the grand jury. She chose the latter.

Today she is in jail in lieu of $500 bond.

Her story is that of thwarted mother love, she said. Three years ago she was divorced from her former husband. Last Sunday he came to New Philadelphia and asked to take the children, Donald, 11, and Mary Louise, 7, for an automobile ride. She consented, Mrs. Peters said.

A few hours later her husband called and said he was going to keep the children.

The mother, almost penniless, determined to come to Cleveland and regain her children. On the way she purchased a gun in Dover. Tuesday morning she went to Peters' place of employment and drawing the gun, demanded the children. The pistol was taken from her and she was turned over to police.

The children were placed in the temporary custody of their father by Judge Baer in common pleas court. The same judge granted the divorce three years ago. He said that Peters charged his wife was unable to care for the children.

Peters, according to Judge Baer, said that humane officers at New Philadelphia a short while ago requested him to care for the children.

BAN CESSPOOLS IN EAST END

Health Board Will Order Connections With Sewer.

Cesspools, owned by property holders who have access to a sanitary sewer, are to be condemned immediately upon acceptance of the East End sanitary sewer, the board of health ordered at the monthly meeting in the clinic rooms, in the Diamond, last night.

Many property owners in the East End, it is claimed, have made no effort to connect with the sewer since its installation, but until the city approves the contract they cannot be forced to connect. The contract, it is declared, will be o. k'd shortly.

C. T. Beatty, Walnut street, appeared before the board to protest against the mixing of poisonous chemicals at the Mason Color and Chemical plant, Broadway, which, he claimed, was destroying vegetation and plant life in the neighborhood. Mason will be required to appear before the board at the next meeting.

Fifteen new cases were admitted to the clinic during the past month, Health Commissioner Fraser reported. Treatments given numbered 161. Seven cases of scarlet fever and one of diphtheria prevailed here during the month.

Mrs. Alice Davidson, registrar of vital statistics, reported 58 births and 28 deaths during the month.

NAME STUDENTS IN INN HOLD-UP

Warrants Recommended for Five Michigan University Men.

DETROIT, July 1.—Warrants charging five University of Michigan students with staging the hold-up of Harry Sowers roadhouse at Plymouth and Farmington roads June 2, in which two patrons were shot, were recommended today by James E. Chznot, assistant prosecutor.

Clare Monroe, 20, of Ann Arbor, is under arrest and has admitted driving the automobile, according to deputy sheriffs. Two of the others sought are Charles A. Johnson, of Ironwood, Mich., and Lawrence O'Farrell, of Iron Mountain, Mich. The names of two have not been obtained.

According to deputy sheriffs the students staged the robbery to get funds for their summer vacations.

About $400 in cash and $1,000 worth of jewelry was obtained in the robbery.

Jack Zimmerman and James F. English, patrons, shot during the hold-up, recovered.

Prepare Five More Illinois Election Fraud Indictments

CHICAGO, July 1.—Five or more indictments charging election frauds in the April primaries have been prepared here, it was announced today.

The indictments are understood to be scheduled for presentation to Chief Justice Lynch of the criminal court when the June grand jury is dismissed tomorrow.

The July grand jury, summoned to meet next Tuesday, will delve into alleged wholesale vote stealing and fradulent returns indicated by the recount being conducted under direction of County Judge Jarecki.

naped, carried into Mexico, held prisoner, etc. Some reporter suggested that there was a "love mystery." Not at all. The lady will only marry a man six feet tall at least, able to play the trombone, a good singer, "a good and holy man," and also a preacher. It sounds like a difficult combination.

CHANG TSO-LIN, Manchurian dictator, is conferring with his rival and enemy, Wu Pei-Fu, in Pekin, and China may have peace—for a while.

Streets were sprinkled with golden sand, flowery arches erected by the people to welcome the war lords. Chang brought 100,000 troops into Pekin. Wu brought only 30,000.

All that is as old as the great wall.

The strange thing is to see people with golden sand and flowers welcoming men that put them to cutting each other's throats.

ROME will build subways, and Mussolini, who respects the past, will avoid as far as possible running fast trains through the Catacombs. If the old bones of the early Christians and others could think, how would they explain electric trains rushing through the ground with the crowds of the living? Would they believe those trains on their way to the infernal regions an improvement on Charon's slow old boat?

Charon, son of night, and grandson of Chaos, is replaced by electricity and modern engineering.

leased under $100 bond for his appearance in court at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning. Kessler was fined $10 and costs upon a charge of intoxication. Thompson's brother, who appeared at the city hall this morning to claim the car, told the police it had been taken from the garage yesterday morning without his knowledge or consent. Donohew and Mrs. Farrow will appear at the hearing against Robert Thompson tomorrow.

Crash at Intersection.

The crash at the corner of Washington and Fifth street occurred when a Jewett car, owned by Lewis Pollitt, Railroad street, and driven by his brother-in-law, William Martes, also of Railroad street, collided with a Nash sedan, driven by Alonzo G. Sells, 1,200 Harker avenue.

Sells, accompanied by his wife and Miss Alice Putnam, Pennsylvania avenue, on their way to the Edwin M. Knowles' pottery, Newell, where they are employed, was traveling west in Fifth street while Martes, accompanied by his nephew, William McGrew, was headed north in Washington street.

Sells claims that he attempted to avert the accident by swinging his car to the right and believes the accident would not have occurred had it not been for a woman who was standing on the street near the Ogilvie store preparing to cross. Martes machine struck the rear end of the Sells sedan, overturning it on the street.

Woman Taken to Hospital.

Miss Putnam was placed in a passing automobile and taken to the hospital where her injuries, caused mainly by flying class, were dressed by Dr. R. J. Marshall. None of the others was injured.

Patrolman Norman McFarland, who investigated the crash, ordered Martes, McGrew, Pollitt and Sells to appear in police court, where an investigation was made. He filed a charge of fast and reckless driving against Martes.

Upon the witness stand, both Sells and Martes admitted having exceeded the speed limit, which is 15 miles per hour at street intersections. Solicitor Hoover then filed a charge of fast and reckless driving against Sells, who was fined $1 and costs. A fine of $10 and costs was assessed against Martes, who agreed to settle for the damages done to Sells' car.

Martes and McGrew are employed at the Hall China company's plant. They had just driven Pollitt, who is employed by Peter Milliron, to work a few minutes before the accident occurred.

ROBBERS FLEE WITH $75,000 PERSIAN RUG

Three Men Loot Art Institute at Detroit.

DROP TREASURES

Escape in Auto When Policeman Approaches Them.

DETROIT, July 1.—Three robbers who apparently spent the night removing treasures from the walls of the Art institute, East Jefferson avenue and Rivard street, fled with the $75,000 Persian rug recently given the institute by Mr. and Mrs. Edsel Ford, when a policeman interrupted them as they carried loot out early today.

Seeing the policeman, approaching as if to question them, the trio paused only long enough to deposit on the sidewalk a $28,000 Florentine bust they were carrying. Leaping into their car, they fled before the officer could shoot.

Investigating, the policeman found that a Franz Hals canvas recently donated to the museum had been removed from the wall and laid on the balcony, ready for transfer to the car. Several other items were also believed missing, but determination of the robbery's extent awaited an inventory of the museum.

The robbers had apparently concealed themselves in the building during a musicale held there last night.

William Brown, Negro night watchman, slept peacefully throughout the robbery.

About a year ago, a valuable collection of gems was found to have been removed from the institute, paste substitutes being left in its place. This mystery has never been cleared up.

A rope hanging from the third floor window had been used, apparently, to lower the loot to the ground, whence the trio below transferred it to their car. If a fourth man was inside lowering the loot, however, he escaped by some other exit, and no trace of him was found.

101 RANCH SHOW AGENT IN CITY

Advertising Car No. 1 Will Arrive Here Tomorrow.

Allen J. Lester, special representative for the Miller Brothers 101 Ranch Wild West Show, was in East Liverpool yesterday to arrange for the tented organization to exhibit at Columbian park, Saturday July 17.

Advertising car No. 1 is scheduled to arrive here tomorrow to begin the billing. The second advertising car will come about a week ahead of the show.

The show will come here from New Brighton where it will exhibit on Friday, July 16, and will go from East Liverpool into Pittsburgh where it will make a two-day stand on July 19 and 20. Dates in Cleevland, Massillon and Alliance will also be filled during the week.

Next to the Ringling Brothers-Barnum Bailey circus, the 101 Ranch is the largest tented organization on the road. Sixty railroad cars, traveling in two sections, are required to move the show which requires the same amount of field space as does the "biggest show on earth." Seating arrangements for 10,000 persons are provided in the tents.

A twwo-mile street parade will be given at 12 o'clock. The tentative route for the parade is Pennsylvania avenue to Mulberry street to St. George street, River road to Broadway to Third street to Jefferson street to Sixth street to Broadway and thence back to the show grounds along the River road. More than 100 Cossocks, Indians, buffalo, cowboys, cowgirls, elephants, dozens of cages of wild animals from the jungles of Africa, hundreds of horses and three bands will take part in the parade.

Afternoon and evening performances will be given.

MELLON DENIES FRENCH REPORT

WASHINGTON, July 1.—Secretary of the Treasury Mellon today authorized a denial of a story cabled from Paris that he had been in private communication with Finance Minister Caillaux and had given him assurances that article 7 of the Franco-American debt agreement would not be enforced.

Secretary Mellon said he had neither received nor sent M. Caillaux any communication regarding the terms of the debt pact.

Four Traffic Lanes Are Marked Along West Eighth Street

The department of public safety has completed the marking of West Eighth and Lisbon streets as a means of eliminating the traffic hazard which has prevailed at this point since the resurfacing of West Eighth street.

West Eighth street, beginning at a point near the Litten filling station, has been lined with white paint, making four lanes. The lane on the extreme north side of the street will be for north-bound traffic toward Lisbon. The second lane from the north is for southbound traffic from Lisbon. The third lane is for west-bound traffic to Wellsville, while the lane on the lower side of the street is for east-bound traffic from Wellsville. Each lane is approximately 10 feet in width, making it possible for four cars to travel abreast.

Automobile drivers are urged by the police to observe these markings and remain within the lines they intend to travel as a means of averting accidents.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, June 1.—Railroad stocks led the forward movement in prices in the early trading in the stock market today. The public utility stocks moved up briskly under the lead of Consolidated Gas, and low priced motor stocks were active and strong, with Chrysler and Willys Overland in the front position. Profit taking in the industrials resulted in a slightly lower range of prices for most of the speculative leaders which have been making market history in recent weeks.

Vigorous action of the pools in Willys Overland, Allied Chemical, Consolidated Gas and a few other specialty stocks made their favorite stocks the most spectacular performers on the road.

Interest in the Railroad shares was stimulated by announcement that the directors of Erie would meet today to consider the revised plans for the Van Sweringen Nickel Plate merger. Frisco common, New Haven and Rock Island sold up about 2 points on the average, at the head of the rails. Oil stocks were inactive and generally reactionary, though losses were slight.

A 6-point decline in the French franc brought that currency to 2.75 the lowest in history. Call money was fractionally higher at 3¾ per cent.

OHIO IS ASKED TO REPEAL OLD PRIMARY LAW

Petition Proposes New Plan of Nominating Candidates.

ASSEMBLY TO ACT

Would Abolish Large Expenditures of Funds in Campaigns.

COLUMBUS, July 1.—Business and politics, joined hands here today in launching a campaign for the repeal of the present primary election law and pledged support to a proposal which embodies features of the present law and the old convention form of nominating candidates for state offices.

A petition which has already been approved by Attorney General C. C. Crabbe and which outlines the principles of the new nominating plan, was filed with Secretary of State Thad H. Brown today.

Sponsors of the new proposal include some of the most prominent men in the business and political life of the state. Charles L. Knight, publisher of the Akron Beacon-Journal, and one of the state's chief political leaders, is chairman of the committee working for the petition's adoption. Other members include Robert A. Taft, of Cincinnati, speaker of the house of representatives in the state legislature; Louis H. Brush, Salem, widely known newspaper publisher; former Governor Harry L. Davis, of Cleveland, and H. H. Timken, of Canton, wealthy manufacturer.

Summary of Plan.

Summarized, the new plan would empower the state legislature to select the manner in which nominations shall be made, but provides that should the convention form be adopted, the delegates to such convention shall be elected by direct vote of the people. It provides also that the various counties may nominate candidates by either convention or primary, but in every instance delegates must be elected by popular vote.

One of the principal arguments advanced for the new proposal is that it would abolish large expenditures in securing nominations.

Chairman Knight, in a statement outlining the plan, said:

"When we have reached the point that no governor can be nominated for a $10,000 office without spending for such nomination from $50,000 to $100,000 then it is time to call a halt. The primary system as it now is has driven out of public life our able men who will no longer submit to long and arduous campaigns in a field of political adventure. Any system of selecting candidates which puts a premium on wealth drives the poor out of politics or compels him to seek financial assistance from those who seldom give it unless through the expectation of being amply repaid at the people's expense.

Better Government is Aim.

"We believe this amendment, if adopted, will restore responsible party government, will induce abler men to enter public life, will do away with the disgraceful use of large sums of money to procure nominations and will cause all parties to consider principles rather than expedients."

The statement also said the campaign for adoption as being financed by men who are not now seeking, or expect to seek, public office and who have no plans or expectations to realize other than that they may bring about better government for the state of Ohio.

vote, on account of the interim of ten days, which must elapse after the return of the ordinance, I feel fully justified in assuming the responsibility thereto.

"Casualties of past years have been so numerous and so serious that many communities have adopted measures similar to Ordinance 2041, passed by your body on Feb. 18th last.

"If any additional reason for a measure such as the one under controversy were needed, allow me to suggest that our city has suffered many disastrous fires within the past year, so frequently in fact that some of the insurance companies, that have been carrying local risks for more than 50 years, have withdrawn and refuse to do business until conditions improve.

"Human life and safety as well as property will be conserved by allowing Ordinance 2041 to remain in full force and effect and, before another year, it should be strengthened by prohibiting the sale as well as the use of fireworks."

Ohio Girl Killed And Three Others Injured in Crash

NEW LEXINGTON, July 1.—Miss Vera Dodson, 16, of Zanesville, was almost instantly killed; her mother, Mrs. Ida Dodson, received a broken arm and other injuries, and two other persons were slightly injured on the New Lexington-Crooksville road early today when the Dodson car was sideswiped by a car driven by John Hickman, of Congo.

Jurist Denies $100,000 Bribe Offer For Pennsy Primary

Judge O'Connor Declares Untrue Newspaper Report of Purported Vare Organization Proposal to "Buy Off" Opposition.

WASHINGTON, July 1.—The reported offer of a $100,000 bribe by the organization of Representative William S. Vare, victor in Pennsylvania's $3,000,000 Republican senatorial primary, to "buy off" the opposition of Judge Frank X. O'Conner, a Philadelphia magistrate, was clouded with further mystery today when O'Conner reappeared before the senate slush fund committee to deny the story again.

O'Conner said he never had given the story of the bribe offer to Philadelphia newspaper men, although three Philadelphia reporters since have testified under oath that the Philadelphia magistrate told them of the alleged offer.

O'Conner walked into the hearing just as the committee was about to send a deputy sergeant-at-arms to arrest him. He had delayed responding to a subpoena for the last two weeks.

Reed Reads Press Story.

Senator Reed, of Missouri, began the questioning of O'Conner by referring to a Philadelphia newspaper story, printed on the day after the Pennsylvania election, which said the Philadelphia magistrate had accused the Vare organization of offering him a bribe of $100,000 to withdraw his opposition to Vare in the senatorial race.

"Vare tried to buy off my opposition to his candidacy for the United States Senate," the story quoted O'Conner as saying. "He first offered me $75,000 to withdraw my opposition to him in the 48th ward. This I refused, and then on the last day on which I could withdraw my candidacy for congress, he offered me $100,000. This I declined."

Reed then read the reply O'Conner gave the committee on his earlier appearance. It was: "I am not responsible for that story in any shape or form. So far as the statements are concerned, I never made them. They are manufactured."

Denies Illinois Quiz Call.

Reports that a subpoena had been issued for Samuel Insull, the Chicago magnate, as the first step in the Illinois investigation, were denied by Senator Reed, D. of Missouri. Reed said the Illinois inquiry would not be started until the middle of next month and that no subpoenas would be issued until then.

Charles S. Wood, national campaign manager of the Association against the prohibition amendment, was the first witness.

Wood took the stand as a volunteer witness when the committee learned that other witnesses, subpoenaed for today were not present. He was questioned by Senator King, D., of Utah.

"On the 29th of September, a state conference of wets was held in Philadelphia," said Wood. "As a result of that meeting, we organized the Pennsylvania Committee for Modification of the Volstead Act. That really became our campaign committee."

After he was named national campaign manager, January 1, Wood said, he left the modification committee conduct the Pennsylvania campaign. Fred W. Brill of Philadelphia, he added, was chairman of the Pennsylvania committee.

Wood also told of the organization of the "voluntary committee of 76" in Pennsylvania. This committee "merely raised money to be spent as it saw fit for our purposes but none was spent in the Pennsylvania primary," Wood said.

Mother's Love For Children Prompts Choice of Jail Term

New Philadelphia Woman Refuses Opportunity to Return Home and Away From Tots When Arrested.

CLEVELAND, July 1.—A mother's love for her two children, caused Mrs. Donna Peters, 32, pretty brunette or New Philadelphia, to choose a stay in the Cleveland jail, where she believes she will have an opportunity to get her children, in preference to returning to her home, but away from the tots.

"My love for my children is everything. Nothing else matters, I will not leave Cleveland without them," she told Judge Moylan, in police court, when she was arraigned before him on a charge of carrying concealed weapons. The court gave her the choice of returning immediately to her home without her children or being held for the grand jury. She chose the latter.

Today she is in jail in lieu of $500 bond.

Her story is that of thwarted mother love, she said. Three years ago she was divorced from her former husband. Last Sunday he came to New Philadelphia and asked to take the children, Donald, 11, and Mary Louise, 7, for an automobile ride. She consented, Mrs. Peters said.

A few hours later her husband called and said he was going to keep the children.

The mother, almost penniless, determined to come to Cleveland and regain her children. On the way she purchased a gun in Dover. Tuesday morning she went to Peters' place of employment and drawing the gun, demanded the children. The pistol was taken from her and she was turned over to police.

The children were placed in the temporary custody of their father by Judge Baer in common pleas court. The same judge granted the divorce three years ago. He said that Peters charged his wife was unable to care for the children.

Peters, according to Judge Baer, said that humane officers at New Philadelphia a short while ago requested him to care for the children.

BAN CESSPOOLS IN EAST END

Health Board Will Order Connections With Sewer.

Cesspools, owned by property holders who have access to a sanitary sewer, are to be condemned immediately upon acceptance of the East End sanitary sewer, the board of health ordered at the monthly meeting in the clinic rooms, in the Diamond, last night.

Many property owners in the East End, it is claimed, have made no effort to connect with the sewer since its installation, but until the city approves the contract they cannot be forced to connect. The contract, it is declared, will be o. k'd shortly.

C. T. Beatty, Walnut street, appeared before the board to protest against the mixing of poisonous chemicals at the Mason Color and Chemical plant, Broadway, which, he claimed, was destroying vegetation and plant life in the neighborhood. Mason will be required to appear before the board at the next meeting.

Fifteen new cases were admitted to the clinic during the past month, Health Commissioner Fraser reported. Treatments given numbered 161. Seven cases of scarlet fever and one of diphtheria prevailed here during the month.

Mrs. Alice Davidson, registrar of vital statistics, reported 58 births and 28 deaths during the month.

NAME STUDENTS IN INN HOLD-UP

Warrants Recommended for Five Michigan University Men.

DETROIT, July 1.—Warrants charging five University of Michigan students with staging the hold-up of Harry Sowers roadhouse at Plymouth and Farmington roads June 2, in which two patrons were shot, were recommended today by James E. Chznot, assistant prosecutor.

Clare Monroe, 20, of Ann Arbor, is under arrest and has admitted driving the automobile, according to deputy sheriffs. Two of the others sought are Charles A. Johnson, of Ironwood, Mich., and Lawrence O'Farrell, of Iron Mountain, Mich. The names of two have not been obtained.

According to deputy sheriffs the students staged the robbery to get funds for their summer vacations.

About $400 in cash and $1,000 worth of jewelry was obtained in the robbery.

Jack Zimmerman and James F. English, patrons, shot during the hold-up, recovered.

Prepare Five More Illinois Election Fraud Indictments

CHICAGO, July 1.—Five or more indictments charging election frauds in the April primaries have been prepared here, it was announced today.

The indictments are understood to be scheduled for presentation to Chief Justice Lynch of the criminal court when the June grand jury is dismissed tomorrow.

The July grand jury, summoned to meet next Tuesday, will delve into alleged wholesale vote stealing and fradulent returns indicated by the recount being conducted under direction of County Judge Jarecki.

CHANG TSO-LIN, Manchurian dictator, is conferring with his rival and enemy, Wu Pei-Fu, in Pekin, and China may have peace—for a while.

Streets were sprinkled with golden sand, flowery arches erected by the people to welcome the war lords. Chang brought 100,000 troops into Pekin. Wu brought only 30,000.

All that is as old as the great wall.

The strange thing is to see people with golden sand and flowers welcoming men that put them to cutting each other's throats.

Crash at Intersection.

The crash at the corner of Washington and Fifth street occurred when a Jewett car, owned by Lewis Pollitt, Railroad street, and driven by his brother-in-law, William Martes, also of Railroad street, collided with a Nash sedan, driven by Alonzo G. Sells, 1,200 Harker avenue.

Sells, accompanied by his wife and Miss Alice Putnam, Pennsylvania avenue, on their way to the Edwin M. Knowles' pottery, Newell, where they are employed, was traveling west in Fifth street while Martes, accompanied by his nephew, William McGrew, was headed north in Washington street.

Sells claims that he attempted to avert the accident by swinging his car to the right and believes the accident would not have occurred had it not been for a woman who was standing on the street near the Ogilvie store preparing to cross. Martes machine struck the rear end of the Sells sedan, overturning it on the street.

Woman Taken to Hospital.

Miss Putnam was placed in a passing automobile and taken to the hospital where her injuries, caused mainly by flying class, were dressed by Dr. R. J. Marshall. None of the others was injured.

Patrolman Norman McFarland, who investigated the crash, ordered Martes, McGrew, Pollitt and Sells to appear in police court, where an investigation was made. He filled a charge of fast and reckless driving against Martes.

Upon the witness stand, both Sells and Martes admitted having exceeded the speed limit, which is 15 miles per hour at street intersections. Solicitor Hoover then filed a charge of fast and reckless driving against Sells, who was fined $1 and costs. A fine of $10 and costs was assessed against Martes, who agreed to settle for the damages done to Sells' car.

Martes and McGrew are employed at the Hall China company's plant. They had just driven Pollitt, who is employed by Peter Milliron, to work a few minutes before the accident occurred.

ROBBERS FLEE WITH $75,000 PERSIAN RUG

Three Men Loot Art Institute at Detroit.

Escape in Auto When Policeman Approaches Them.

DETROIT, July 1.—Three robbers who apparently spent the night removing treasures from the walls of the Art institute, East Jefferson avenue and Rivard street, fled with the $75,000 Persian rug recently given the institute by Mr. and Mrs. Edsel Ford, when a policeman interrupted them as they carried loot out early today.

Seeing the policeman, approaching as if to question them, the trio paused only long enough to deposit on the sidewalk a $28,000 Florentine bust they were carrying. Leaping into their car, they fled before the officer could shoot.

Investigating, the policeman found that a Franz Hals canvas recently donated to the museum had been removed from the wall and laid on the balcony, ready for transfer to the car. Several other items were also believed missing, but determination of the robbery's extent awaited an inventory of the museum.

The robbers had apparently concealed themselves in the building during a musicale held there last night.

William Brown, Negro night watchman, slept peacefully throughout the robbery.

About a year ago, a valuable collection of gems was found to have been removed from the institute, paste substitutes being left in its place. This mystery has never been cleared up.

A rope hanging from the third floor window had been used, apparently, to lower the loot to the ground, whence the trio below transferred it to their car. If a fourth man was inside lowering the loot, however, he escaped by some other exit, and no trace of him was found.

101 RANCH SHOW AGENT IN CITY

Advertising Car No. 1 Will Arrive Here Tomorrow.

Allen J. Lester, special representative for the Miller Brothers 101 Ranch Wild West Show, was in East Liverpool yesterday to arrange for the tented organization to exhibit at Columbian park, Saturday July 17.

Advertising car No. 1 is scheduled to arrive here tomorrow to begin the billing. The second advertising car will come about a week ahead of the show.

The show will come here from New Brighton where it will exhibit on Friday, July 16, and will go from East Liverpool into Pittsburgh where it will make a two-day stand on July 19 and 20. Dates in Cleevland, Massillon and Alliance will also be filled during the week.

Next to the Ringling Brothers-Barnum Bailey circus, the 101 Ranch is the largest tented organization on the road. Sixty railroad cars, traveling in two sections, are required to move the show which requires the same amount of field space as does the "biggest show on earth." Seating arrangements for 10,000 persons are provided in the tents.

A twwo-mile street parade will be given at 12 o'clock. The tentative route for the parade is Pennsylvania avenue to Mulberry street to St. George street, River road to Broadway to Third street to Jefferson street to Sixth street to Broadway and thence back to the show grounds along the River road. More than 100 Cossocks, Indians, buffalo, cowboys, cowgirls, elephants, dozens of cages of wild animals from the jungles of Africa, hundreds of horses and three bands will take part in the parade.

Afternoon and evening performances will be given.

MELLON DENIES FRENCH REPORT

WASHINGTON, July 1.—Secretary of the Treasury Mellon today authorized a denial of a story cabled from Paris that he had been in private communication with Finance Minister Caillaux and had given him assurances that article 7 of the Franco-American debt agreement would not be enforced.

Secretary Mellon said he had neither received nor sent M. Caillaux any communication regarding the terms of the debt pact.

Four Traffic Lanes Are Marked Along West Eighth Street

The department of public safety has completed the marking of West Eighth and Lisbon streets as a means of eliminating the traffic hazard which has prevailed at this point since the resurfacing of West Eighth street.

West Eighth street, beginning at a point near the Litten filling station, has been lined with white paint, making four lanes. The lane on the extreme north side of the street will be for north-bound traffic toward Lisbon. The second lane from the north is for southbound traffic from Lisbon. The third lane is for west-bound traffic to Wellsville, while the lane on the lower side of the street is for east-bound traffic from Wellsville. Each lane is approximately 10 feet in width, making it possible for four cars to travel abreast.

Automobile drivers are urged by the police to observe these markings and remain within the lines they intend to travel as a means of averting accidents.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, June 1.—Railroad stocks led the forward movement in prices in the early trading in the stock market today. The public utility stocks moved up briskly under the lead of Consolidated Gas, and low priced motor stocks were active and strong, with Chrysler and Willys Overland in the front position. Profit taking in the industrials resulted in a slightly lower range of prices for most of the speculative leaders which have been making market history in recent weeks.

Vigorous action of the pools in Willys Overland, Allied Chemical, Consolidated Gas and a few other specialty stocks made their favorite stocks the most spectacular performers on the road.

Interest in the Railroad shares was stimulated by announcement that the directors of Erie would meet today to consider the revised plans for the Van Sweringen Nickel Plate merger. Frisco common, New Haven and Rock Island sold up about 2 points on the average, at the head of the rails. Oil stocks were inactive and generally reactionary, though losses were slight.

A 6-point decline in the French franc brought that currency to 2.75 the lowest in history. Call money was fractionally higher at 3¾ per cent.

OHIO IS ASKED TO REPEAL OLD PRIMARY LAW

Petition Proposes New Plan of Nominating Candidates.

Would Abolish Large Expenditures of Funds in Campaigns.

COLUMBUS, July 1.—Business and politics, joined hands here today in launching a campaign for the repeal of the present primary election law and pledged support to a proposal which embodies features of the present law and the old convention form of nominating candidates for state offices.

A petition which has already been approved by Attorney General C. C. Crabbe and which outlines the principles of the new nominating plan, was filed with Secretary of State Thad H. Brown today.

Sponsors of the new proposal include some of the most prominent men in the business and political life of the state. Charles L. Knight, publisher of the Akron Beacon-Journal, and one of the state's chief political leaders, is chairman of the committee working for the petition's adoption. Other members include Robert A Taft, of Cincinnati, speaker of the house of representatives in the state legislature; Louis H. Brush, Salem, widely known newspaper publisher; former Governor Harry L. Davis, of Cleveland, and H. H. Timken, of Canton, wealthy manufacturer.

Summary of Plan.

Summarized, the new plan would empower the state legislature to select the manner in which nominations shall be made, but provides that should the convention form be adopted, the delegates to such convention shall be elected by direct vote of the people. It provides also that the various counties may nominate candidates by either convention or primary, but in every instance delegates must be elected by popular vote.

One of the principal arguments advanced for the new proposal is that it would abolish large expenditures in securing nominations.

Chairman Knight, in a statement outlining the plan, said:

"When we have reached the point that no governor can be nominated for a $10,000 office without spending for such nomination from $50,000 to $100,000 then it is time to call a halt. The primary system as it now is has driven out of public life our able men who will no longer submit to long and arduous campaigns in a field of political adventure. Any system of selecting candidates which puts a premium on wealth drives the poor out of politics or compels him to seek financial assistance from those who seldom give it unless through the expectation of being amply repaid at the people's expense.

Better Government is Aim.

"We believe this amendment, if adopted, will restore responsible party government, will induce abler men to enter public life, will do away with the disgraceful use of large sums of money to procure nominations and will cause all parties to consider principles rather than expedients."

The statement also said the campaign for adoption as being financed by men who are not now seeking, or expect to seek, public office and who have no plans or expectations to realize other than that they may bring about better government for the state of Ohio.

Jurist Denies $100,000 Bribe Offer For Pennsy Primary

WASHINGTON, July 1.—The reported offer of a $100,000 bribe by the organization of Representative William S. Vare, victor in Pennsylvania's $3,000,000 Republican senatorial primary, to "buy off" the opposition of Judge Frank X. O'Conner, a Philadelphia magistrate, was clouded with further mystery today when O'Conner reappeared before the senate slush fund committee to deny the story again.

O'Conner said he never had given the story of the bribe offer to Philadelphia newspaper men, although three Philadelphia reporters since have testified under oath that the Philadelphia magistrate told them of the alleged offer.

O'Conner walked into the hearing just as the committee was about to send a deputy sergeant-at-arms to arrest him. He had delayed responding to a subpoena for the last two weeks.

Reed Reads Press Story.

Senator Reed, of Missouri, began the questioning of O'Conner by referring to a Philadelphia newspaper story, printed on the day after the Pennsylvania election, which said the Philadelphia magistrate had accused the Vare organization of offering him a bribe of $100,000 to withdraw his opposition to Vare in the senatorial race.

"Vare tried to buy off my opposition to his candidacy for the United States Senate," the story quoted O'Conner as saying. "He first offered me $75,000 to withdraw my opposition to him in the 48th ward. This I refused, and then on the last day on which I could withdraw my candidacy for congress, he offered me $100,000. This I declined."

Reed then read the reply O'Conner gave the committee on his earlier appearance. It was: "I am not responsible for that story in any shape or form. So far as the statements are concerned, I never made them. They are manufactured."

Denies Illinois Quiz Call.

Reports that a subpoena had been issued for Samuel Insull, the Chicago magnate, as the first step in the Illinois investigation, were denied by Senator Reed, D. of Missouri. Reed said the Illinois inquiry would not be started until the middle of next month and that no subpoenas would be issued until then.

Charles S. Wood, national campaign manager of the Association against the prohibition amendment, was the first witness.

Wood took the stand as a volunteer witness when the committee learned that other witnesses, subpoenaed for today were not present. He was questioned by Senator King, D., of Utah.

"On the 29th of September, a state conference of wets was held in Philadelphia," said Wood. "As a result of that meeting, we organized the Pennsylvania Committee for Modification of the Volstead Act. That really became our campaign committee."

After he was named national campaign manager, January 1, Wood said, he left the modification committee conduct the Pennsylvania campaign. Fred W. Brill of Philadelphia, he added, was chairman of the Pennsylvania committee.

Wood also told of the organization of the "voluntary committee of 76" in Pennsylvania. This committee "merely raised money to be spent as it saw fit for our purposes but none was spent in the Pennsylvania primary," Wood said.

TRAP CATCHES ALLEGED THIEF

Colliers Farmer Shoots When Bell Warns of Sheep Raid.

A trap set by John Swearingen, a farmer residing near Colliers, early yesterday caught a man suspected of thefts of sheep from Brooke county farms.

The "catch," Nick Drugovich, believed to be a resident of Steubenville, is in the Brooke county jail at Wellsburg nursing wounds in his back where he was struck by a charge of small shot fired by Swearingen.

Swearingen, when his neighbors reported thefts of sheep, had tied to the door of his sheep shed a string running into his house where it connected with a small bell. If the door was opened, the bell would ring and sound an alarm.

Hearing the bell tinkle Swearingen seized his shotgun and ran to the shed where he found a man butchering a sheep. He called upon him to surrender, but the suspect fled. Swearingen fired first at the ground near the man's feet, but when the fugitive did not halt, he fired a charge of shot into his back.

Swearingen reported the shooting to Constable Harry Johnson of Colliers, who took the wounded man to jail at Wellsburg. He will be given a hearing tonight before Justice C. K. Jacob of Wellsburg.

It is said that a companion of Drugovich made his escape on a motorcycle.

COAL PRODUCTION SHOWS INCREASE

Actual figures, taken from the records of 1,208 mines, showed an increase of 21,018,220 tons of coal in West Virginia in 1925 over 1924, according to a report being compiled at the state department of mines and mining. Figures showing the actual business at the mines by counties will be published later in the annual report of the department.

The actual production in 1925 at 1,208 mines and allowing 1,000,000 tons for the wagon mines, was 123,061,985, compared with a total production in 1924 of 101,943,765 tons in 1924.

The total of coke produced in the state in 1925 was 503,789 tons.

The value of all coal sold was $205,581,018, and the average price received for it in 1925 was $1.69 per ton. The total received for coke was $2,329,926.51 at the average price of $4.66 a ton.

The reasons assigned for the increase in production in 1925 are the Pennsylvania strike of last year, which brought West Virginia coal additional markets; the growing reputation of the superior quality of the coal in this state and the increased demand of coal for by-product purposes.

Counties in the southern section of the state made the greatest gains in production.

Additional figures show that the number of employes at all mines in the state in 1925 was 111,708, including 92,911 inside men and 18,797 outside. Of the Kanawha county mines employed a total of 6,362, including 5,406 inside and 956 outside. McDowell county employed 19,748, including 15,026 inside and 4,722 outside.

OUTING PLANNED BY POULTRYMEN

Thursday, July 8, is the date set by the poultrymen of West Virginia for their first annual picnic which will be held in the Ohio valley near Parkersburg on the farm of E. S. Humphrey, in Wood county.

There is to be an inspection of Mr. Humphrey's farm and poultry plant from 10 o'clock in the morning until noon. Mr. Humphrey is president of the West Virginia Poultry association, and is a poultryman who knows his business and is making it pay dividends. He has a mammoth incubator, practices trap-nesting and pedigreeing, and has birds in his flock with high egg production records.

The picnic is open to every one interested in poultry. Large delegations from all parts of the state are expected.

STATE OFFICIALS RETAIN PLACES

Governor Gore last night announced the reappointment of George F. Daugherty as labor commissioner, and Clifford R. Myers as state historian and archivist.

Mr. Daugherty's term expired February 28, 1925, and has held over for the 16 intervening months. His new commission is retroactive to the date of the expiration of his old term, and will expire February 28, 1929.

Mr. Myers' term expired October 1, 1925, and his new commission will expire October 1, 1929.

Mr. Daugherty, who is a former railroad engineer and a resident of Mercer county, was appointed to succeed the late Samuel Montgomery. He now is in his second term.

Ministers Object to "Militarizing Mails;" Ask President's Aid

GREENSBORO, N. C.—President Coolidge's influence has been solicited by the Greensboro Ministerial association to put a stop to "militarization" of the mails.

The association doesn't like the way Uncle Sam cancels his stamps. A resolution was adopted by the ministerial body condemning the use of the slogan, "Let's go—Citizen's Military Training Camp."

The association wrote the president, in part:

"We believe this use of the mails creates the impression abroad that we are a militaristic nation, and that it suggests to the youth of our land that international differences are to be settled by war rather than by justice and reason.

"Furthermore, the use of this cancellation stamp on the mail of those who do not believe in the training camp makes them the unwilling promoter of a system of which they do not approve."

Japan's Ministry is Popularly Known as Adopted Son's Cabinet

TOKIO.—Japan's present ministry is popularly know as the "Yoshi" or "adopted sons" cabinet. Six members of the cabinet, including Premier Reijiro Wakatsuki, have "married" their names and been adopted by their fathers-in-law, a practice which is common in Japan.

The other "yoshi" in the cabinet are Yuko Hamaguchi, home minister; Tasuki Egi, minister of Justice; Seiji Hayami, minister of finance; Viscount Kyoshiro Inouye, railway minister, and Chuji Machida, minister of agriculture and forestry.

U. S. OF EUROPE NEXT MOVE ON WORLD STAGE

Federation of States May Take Place of League.

PREDICTION MADE

Aloofness of America May Force Change of Groups.

LONDON.—Exit: the League of Nations—Enter: the Federated States of Europe.

That is what many of Europe's leading statesmen look upon as the next big move on the world's political stage. It will not come hurriedly and it will not happen spectacularly, but it is foreseen as the inevitable consequence of the continued aloofness of the United States from the councils at Geneva, and as a development approaching nearer to a conclusion by South American suspicion of the league, now clearly demonstrated by the unconditional withdrawal of Brazil.

Suffering since its beginning by the non-membership and coldness of the United States and by the antagonism of Soviet Russia, the league in recent months has reeled under blow after blow, chiefly through internal quarrels over the admission of Germany, culminating in the Brazilian decision to retire from the European council table.

America Apathetic.

The league loses by the apathy of the nations of North and South America, because its world influence is diminished in proportion to the decreases in its sphere of operation.

Reading and realizing the meaning of the writing on the wall, the best political minds of Great Britain and the Continent see that the league's loss may not necessarily hurt European prestige, but that Europe may gain much out of the wreckage by consolidating its own interests in an association of nations almost wholly European in membership and outlook. It matters little whether this new association retains the title of league of nations, or whether it becomes a League of Europe, the Federated States or the United States of Europe. The important fact is that the nations of Europe, left alone to solve their own problems, must either unite in the development of an independent European confederation of split up into the system of ententes and alliances which existed before the war.

Movement Discussed.

Frank discussion of this evolutionary movement is going on in responsible quarters throughout Europe. The general conclusion is that the lesser league, rightly directed, will be able to do more for its membership than the old league if it turns its energies particularly to European problems, and puts Europe's house in order without mixing in the affairs of the United States and South America.

COUNTY KENNEL FUND BOOSTED

Record Compiled for Fiscal Year Shows Large Increase.

As a direct result of the activity of Deputy Sheriff Joseph McDevitt, of Wellsville, working out of the office of Sheriff George Wright, there has been an approximate increase of $3,000 in the annual balance of the county dog and kennel fund, the record for the fiscal year just compiled by County Auditor Elmer E. Walker has disclosed.

At the close of business Wednesday afternoon a total of 5,899 dog licenses had been issued for the first six months of the year, which is a new peak record for registrations and collections.

At the close of the fiscal year July 1, 1925, there was a balance of $5,591.25 in the dog and kennel fund. The balance at the close of the fiscal year, June 30, 1925, is $8,139.12, which is a record balance.

The gross collections credited to this fund during the fiscal year has been listed at $10,360.70, over half of which has been credited since Jan. 1 last.

During the fiscal year there has been paid from this fund for sheep killed and injured $3,738.96, and there has been paid for other animals killed or injured, for which the law provided compensation only $95. Witness fees totaled $133.25, and the money paid from the fund for other purposes totaled $1,982.80. Total damages and fees paid amount to $5,950.01, and the county board of education received from the fund so far a total of $1,862.30. The total of all payments from this fund during the last fiscal year was $7,812.31, and the balance in the fund at the close of the fiscal year Wednesday was $8,139.12.

During the year dog licenses have been issued for 5,379 males and 1,113 females. In addition to this business licenses have been issued for 36 dog kennels in this county.

As a result of the large balance in the dog and kennel fund at this time, the county board of education will receive a larger appropriation from the fund than ever before.

It Tired, Worn-Out, Weak and Run-Down Regain Vigor Thru Gland Treatment

GLAND secretions are called hormones — mysterious messengers which science has discovered exert a remarkable influence on health, strength and vitality.

When the glands function normally, they supply these vitalizing hormones (or secretions) which are essential to physical well-being. And when the glands fail to function, health fails.

Now, glandular treatment, which is indorsed by eminent scientists, physicians of this country and Europe, is being used by thousands of men and women to help overcome a weakened, worn-out, run-down, exhausted condition and to regain the strength, vigor and vitality that are the natural benefits resulting from a normal glandular system.

Glandogen, the new scientific gland tonic, provides a simple method of taking glandular treatment. Glandogen is prepared in convenient tablet form, for both men and women. Accept no substitutes, insist on genuine Glandogen, the original gland tonic.

COUNTY KENNEL FUND BOOSTED

Record Compiled for Fiscal Year Shows Large Increase.

As a direct result of the activity of Deputy Sheriff Joseph McDevitt, of Wellsville, working out of the office of Sheriff George Wright, there has been an approximate increase of $3,000 in the annual balance of the county dog and kennel fund, the record for the fiscal year just compiled by County Auditor Elmer E. Walker has disclosed.

At the close of business Wednesday afternoon a total of 5,899 dog licenses had been issued for the first six months of the year, which is a new peak record for registrations and collections.

At the close of the fiscal year July 1, 1925, there was a balance of $5,591.25 in the dog and kennel fund. The balance at the close of the fiscal year, June 30, 1925, is $8,139.12, which is a record balance.

The gross collections credited to this fund during the fiscal year has been listed at $10,360.70, over half of which has been credited since Jan. 1 last.

During the fiscal year there has been paid from this fund for sheep killed and injured $3,738.96, and there has been paid for other animals killed or injured, for which the law provided compensation only $95. Witness fees totaled $133.25, and the money paid from the fund for other purposes totaled $1,982.80. Total damages and fees paid amount to $5,950.01, and the county board of education received from the fund so far a total of $1,862.30. The total of all payments from this fund during the last fiscal year was $7,812.31, and the balance in the fund at the close of the fiscal year Wednesday was $8,139.12.

During the year dog licenses have been issued for 5,379 males and 1,113 females. In addition to this business licenses have been issued for 36 dog kennels in this county.

As a result of the large balance in the dog and kennel fund at this time, the county board of education will receive a larger appropriation from the fund than ever before.

If Tired, Worn-Out, Weak and Run-Down Regain Vigor Thru Gland Treatment

GLAND secretions are called hormones — mysterious messengers which science has discovered exert a remarkable influence on health, strength and vitality.

When the glands function normally, they supply these vitalizing hormones (or secretions) which are essential to physical well-being. And when the glands fail to function, health fails.

Now, glandular treatment, which is indorsed by eminent scientists, physicians of this country and Europe, is being used by thousands of men and women to help overcome a weakened, worn-out, run-down, exhausted condition and to regain the strength, vigor and vitality that are the natural benefits resulting from a normal glandular system.

Glandogen, the new scientific gland tonic, provides a simple method of taking glandular treatment. Glandogen is prepared in convenient tablet form, for both men and women. Accept no substitutes, insist on genuine Glandogen, the original gland tonic.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE:

Bee and Lou are modern girls sharing a Greenwich Village apartment. Bee is an actress, at present in the chorus, but keeping a stiff upper lip and a fond hope of success. Into the Village comes Delia, frail poetess of New England, seeking freedom from the repressions of her home. And Bee, a school chum of the fredom seeker, invites her to share their apartment. Delia is determined to win through to the freedom she came for. She is left alone in the apartment, as Bee goes off to practice at the theater. In on her, unceremoniously, bursts Wilbur Sayles, obviously much disturbed about something. Incidentally, he reports that Bee's job in the theater is to end shortly.

Now go on with the story.

—Illustration by Lester Ralph

Don't move!" he cried as Delia stirred.

CHAPTER FOUR.

For the moment he seemed to forget himself. But now he took abruptly to pacing the floor and pressed his hands again to his face.

"I'm afraid I'm not very good company just now. I—I'm just about beside myself. If it wasn't for Lou I think I'd have jumped into the river."

Delia's fingers tightened about the wicker work of the chair.

He whirled on her, quite as if she had accused him. "I've got the Oedipus complex. I can't tell you what I've—When a man turns against his own mother—Well—" He threw out his hands. "I've never been away from her a night in my life. Not before this. But Lou fairly made me come down here. Got me out of the store. Just packed me off. She called up herself, this noon, found Mother was out, and went with me to pack a few clothes. I don't believe I could have done it alone. Then she had to go back to the store. Lou's wonderful. You know, steady about things, about life."

Delia's whisp of a body was curled up like a child's in the wicker chair. She couldn't take her eyes off him. Was she about to giggle again? She clamped her lips shut.

"My mother's been everything to me." He was talking on. "Simply everything. She's put up with every sort of hardship just so I could—Oh, I can't talk about it!"

An impulse from some impish source within her prompted Delia to ask, "Then why do you?" But she kept still. Her eyes were roving from his parcels on the couch to her own small luggage in the corner. That ever-lurking giggle must be sat on firmly.

Again he confronted her. But now he seemed to be studying her—face, head, body, even feet. Suddenly he whipped off his coat. Her lids dropped. "I like your head," he remarked, as if it were a perfectly natural thing to say to a strange girl. It was quite possible that he was crazy. Better take that into account and quietly humor him. She could always get away with the excuse of joining Bee at the theater. She could, that was, if he didn't lock her in. She glanced furtively out the window. The street looked pretty far down. But there was a fire escape.

"Do you mind," he asked, "if I sketch you? I've got to do something."

Before she could order her thoughts into a reply, he had opened the wooden box. She saw a palette and brushes and tubes of paint. Of course! An artist! Naturally he'd be odd. Moving with extraordinarily deft quickness he brought a small chair from the bedroom, proped up a little square of canvas board on the seat, and squeezed out on the palette a row of squirming gay worms of color. It was to be a painting, then. She'd never been painted. He had the comfortable air of knowing, now, precisely what he was about. Familiar routine. When he came to her and with his light hands removed her hat and (with an exclamation of pleasure) touched her hair here and there, he was impersonally professional in manner. Even when he dropped on one knee and moved the foot she wasn't sitting on and rearranged the folds of her skirt, she didn't mind. Like a photographer, she thought. Or a dressmaker.

Delia didn't appear at the theater. But that wasn't surprising. Bee recalled that in their college days they'd been forever looking her up. And it was as well, today. The occasion was hardly inspiring. The girl who was to take Bee's place appeared, and then she was casually told that she might go. But she kept her chin up, and smiled. Briskly enough she dodged through the traffic of the square and entered Christopher street.

"Well, my word," craid Bee, "a taxi!"

Lou was opening her purse, "Oh, hello, Bee," she replied. "Here; take that fool thing up, will you? Don't drop it. It's heavy."

Bee looked within the cab and saw a round package wrapped in brown paper. As she lifted it out her fingers closed about the curving top and the small round handle of a gallon jug. The chauffeur grinned.

"Better get it right in,' said Lou, in her businesslike way, as she counted out the fare. She followed, then, and caught up with Bee on the top flight. "It's that alcohol," she explained. "Mr. Hargrove got it for me."

"What did it stand you?"

"Eleven dollars. I'm flat."

"That's five-fifty more I owe you."

"Never mind that. I had to take some drastic steps today, Wilbur. He blew up. Couldn't work at all. What he needs is a party. Release a few of those frightful inhibitions of his. And a party it's going to be—if I never eat or drink again."

"Sounds good to me," said Bee. "Open the door, Lou."

"Can't. Gave my key to Wilbur. He should be here." And she knocked.

The door opened. There stood the young man, coatless, hair rumpled, palette in hand. And curled up in the wicker chair with a book in her lap, sat Delia.

"I'll do the introducing as soon as I can get rid of this jug," observed Bee. Then, "My old college chum, Lou, Delia Bradley. Lou's other name is Dibble, but you'll call her Lou. And now as for you two, you're evidently getting on beautifully but I don't know if you've told each other your names."

"Well," Wilbur began, then with a swift new thought resumed his painting. "Don't move!" he cried, as Delia stirred in her chair.

"Anyway," said Bee, stripping the brown paper off the jug, "She is Delia Bradley and you are Wilbur Sayles."

How to make
Raspberry Jam
keep the color and flavor of the fresh berries

Here is an easy new way to make perfect raspberry jam without cooking away the luscious fresh flavor of your berries and their beautiful bright color.

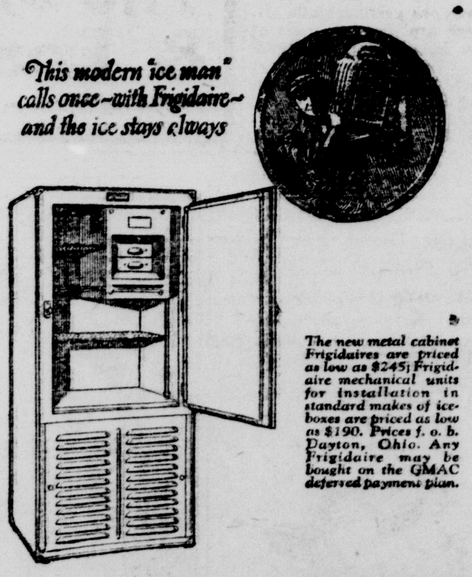

With Certo you do not have to "boil your fruit down." One or two minutes' boiling is enough to give a perfect, tender jell. You cannot have a failure and you get half again more jam from your fruit because you save the juice instead of cooking it away.

Crush thoroughly about 2 quarts ripe berries. Measure 4 level cups (2 lbs.) crushed berries into a large kettle, add 6½ level cups (2¾ lbs.) sugar and mix well. Use hottest fire and stir constantly before and while boiling. Bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard for 1 minute, remove from fire and stir in ½ cup Certo. Skim and stir repeatedly for just 5 minutes after taking from fire, to cool slightly. Then pour quickly and cover hot jam at once with melted paraffin.

A book of nearly 100 recipes for all sorts of delicious jams and jellies comes with each bottle of Certo. Your grocer carries Certo, or you can send 10c (for postage) and get a trial half-size bottle which will make from 6 to 10 glasses of jam or jelly, depending up the recipe used. Address Douglas Pectin Corporation, 8820 Granite Building, Rochester, N. Y.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE:

Bee and Lou are modern girls sharing a Greenwich Village apartment. Bee is an actress, at present in the chorus, but keeping a stiff upper lip and a fond hope of success. Into the Village comes Delia, frail poetess of New England, seeking freedom from the repressions of her home. And Bee, a school chum of the fredom seeker, invites her to share their apartment. Delia is determined to win through to the freedom she came for. She is left alone in the apartment, as Bee goes off to practice at the theater. In on her, unceremoniously, bursts Wilbur Sayles, obviously much disturbed about something. Incidentally, he reports that Bee's job in the theater is to end shortly.

Now go on with the story.

—Illustration by Lester Ralph

Don't move!" he cried as Delia stirred.

CHAPTER FOUR.

For the moment he seemed to forget himself. But now he took abruptly to pacing the floor and pressed his hands again to his face.

"I'm afraid I'm not very good company just now. I—I'm just about beside myself. If it wasn't for Lou I think I'd have jumped into the river."

Delia's fingers tightened about the wicker work of the chair.

He whirled on her, quite as if she had accused him. "I've got the Oedipus complex. I can't tell you what I've—When a man turns against his own mother—Well—" He threw out his hands. "I've never been away from her a night in my life. Not before this. But Lou fairly made me come down here. Got me out of the store. Just packed me off. She called up herself, this noon, found Mother was out, and went with me to pack a few clothes. I don't believe I could have done it alone. Then she had to go back to the store. Lou's wonderful. You know, steady about things, about life."

Delia's whisp of a body was curled up like a child's in the wicker chair. She couldn't take her eyes off him. Was she about to giggle again? She clamped her lips shut.

"My mother's been everything to me." He was talking on. "Simply everything. She's put up with every sort of hardship just so I could—Oh, I can't talk about it!"

An impulse from some impish source within her prompted Delia to ask, "Then why do you?" But she kept still. Her eyes were roving from his parcels on the couch to her own small luggage in the corner. That ever-lurking giggle must be sat on firmly.

Again he confronted her. But now he seemed to be studying her—face, head, body, even feet. Suddenly he whipped off his coat. Her lids dropped. "I like your head," he remarked, as if it were a perfectly natural thing to say to a strange girl. It was quite possible that he was crazy. Better take that into account and quietly humor him. She could always get away with the excuse of joining Bee at the theater. She could, that was, if he didn't lock her in. She glanced furtively out the window. The street looked pretty far down. But there was a fire escape.

"Do you mind," he asked, "if I sketch you? I've got to do something."

Before she could order her thoughts into a reply, he had opened the wooden box. She saw a palette and brushes and tubes of paint. Of course! An artist! Naturally he'd be odd. Moving with extraordinarily deft quickness he brought a small chair from the bedroom, proped up a little square of canvas board on the seat, and squeezed out on the palette a row of squirming gay worms of color. It was to be a painting, then. She'd never been painted. He had the comfortable air of knowing, now, precisely what he was about. Familiar routine. When he came to her and with his light hands removed her hat and (with an exclamation of pleasure) touched her hair here and there, he was impersonally professional in manner. Even when he dropped on one knee and moved the foot she wasn't sitting on and rearranged the folds of her skirt, she didn't mind. Like a photographer, she thought. Or a dressmaker.

Delia didn't appear at the theater. But that wasn't surprising. Bee recalled that in their college days they'd been forever looking her up. And it was as well, today. The occasion was hardly inspiring. The girl who was to take Bee's place appeared, and then she was casually told that she might go. But she kept her chin up, and smiled. Briskly enough she dodged through the traffic of the square and entered Christopher street.

"Well, my word," cried Bee, "a taxi!"

Lou was opening her purse, "Oh, hello, Bee," she replied. "Here; take that fool thing up, will you? Don't drop it. It's heavy."

Bee looked within the cab and saw a round package wrapped in brown paper. As she lifted it out her fingers closed about the curving top and the small round handle of a gallon jug. The chauffeur grinned.

"Better get it right in,' said Lou, in her businesslike way, as she counted out the fare. She followed, then, and caught up with Bee on the top flight. "It's that alcohol," she explained. "Mr. Hargrove got it for me."

"What did it stand you?"

"Eleven dollars. I'm flat."

"That's five-fifty more I owe you."

"Never mind that. I had to take some drastic steps today. Wilbur. He blew up. Couldn't work at all. What he needs is a party. Release a few of those frightful inhibitions of his. And a party it's going to be—if I never eat or drink again."

"Sounds good to me," said Bee. "Open the door, Lou."

"Can't. Gave my key to Wilbur. He should be here." And she knocked.

The door opened. There stood the young man, coatless, hair rumpled, palette in hand. And curled up in the wicker chair with a book in her lap, sat Delia.

"I'll do the introducing as soon as I can get rid of this jug," observed Bee. Then, "My old college chum, Lou, Delia Bradley. Lou's other name is Dibble, but you'll call her Lou. And now as for you two, you're evidently getting on beautifully but I don't know if you've told each other your names."

"Well," Wilbur began, then with a swift new thought resumed his painting. "Don't move!" he cried, as Delia stirred in her chair.

"Anyway," said Bee, stripping the brown paper off the jug, "She is Delia Bradley and you are Wilbur Sayles."

Has Served With Five Ambassadors

As an official American attache at the Court of St. James, England, Miss Marguerita Lott, of Cambridge, Mass., has served with Ambassadors Page, Davis, Harvey, Kellogg and Houghton—which hasn't taken her as long as it might seem. Miss Lott is still young and distinctly American in spite of her intensive living among the English.

America Wears Out 1,200 Tons Of Paper Currency Every Year

Life of $1 Bill, Continually Decreasing, Now Averages Six Months, Says Treasury Department.

WASHINGTON — Twelve hundred tons of paper currency are manufactured annually by the United States government to supply needs of the country.

Americans wear out their paper money faster than their shoes, according to experts, who said that during the past 12 months more than 1,000,000,000 new bills were put into circulation.

"The United States Bureau of Standards, in co-operation with the Treasury and Bureau of Efficiency have started a study to find means of extending the life of paper money," said a statement issued at the Department of Commerce.

"The life of a $1 bill, which is the greater part of our paper currency, had been continually decreasing in the past years until in 1924 it averaged six months. Formerly its life was around 20 months."

The use of paper currency has increased three-fold in the last 15 years. The country wore out a billion paper bills last year weighing 1,200 tons.

Officials said that the chief contributing factors to the decreasing life of paper currency are due to its rapidity of circulation and the increasing carelessness in handling it.

"These conditions may possibly be partly accounted for by the decreasing purchasing value of the bills," Bureau of Standards officials said.

"The cost of the annual replacement has amounted to $4,000,000. The Treasury Department is concerned not only with this huge outlay but is faced with the necessity of making costly additions to its paper currency printing plant as its production facilities are becoming overtaxed."

Officials suggested the necessity of an extensive technologic research on both the paper manufacturing processes and the printing processes. The paper manufacturing processes are being studied on a semi-commercial scale at the paper mill in the Bureau of Standards. Various proportions of linen and cotton fibers are being experimented with in the making of paper that goes into the currency.

The new processes of paper production and printing will provide against counterfeiting, according to officials.

Another line of research being followed deals with the surface sizing of the printed bills. Such treatment is said to increase life of the bills through protection from surface abrasions, giving them better water resistance and making the printing more permanent.

It has been found that increased resistance to wear is obtained by hardening the glue-sizing with fomaldehyde.

Tests made show the new processes will increase the average life of bills to 10 months. A 100 per cent increase in strength has been obtained. Officials expressed the belief that in spite of harder use and more frequent handling, paper currency soon will be improved sufficiently that it will remain in circulation in good condition more than a year.

CONCRETE POURED

Contractors Awaiting Word on Smith's Ferry Job.

The Midland-East Liverpool road between Midland and Smith's Ferry, which has been closed to traffic for about six weeks, will be opened on Saturday, James S. Rinehart, member of the contracting firm, Rinehart Brothers, in charge of the improvement, said today.

Last of the concrete on this job was poured a week ago, and Beaver county officials have consented to open the road for Independence Day travel.

The contractors are rushing work on a 300-foot stretch between the eastern end of the concrete and the western limit of the borough of Midland which will be macadam in construction. This will be completed today or Friday.

Rinehart Brothers are awaiting instructions on improvement of the road through Smith's Ferry, for which they were the low bidders.

Canada Protects Railways.

The custom of American manufacturers of automobiles to drive new cars across the Canadian border has aroused the customs department at Ottawa, the officials of which maintain that this is a discrimination against the railways that should be stopped. They say it is not only unfair to the railways, but if allowed to continue would cause congestion in the highways at times.

SEEK ACTION ON GUILFORD PARK PLANS

State Officers Will Inspect Site Friday

Offices of Attorney General and Department of Public Works to be Represented at Survey.

POSSIBLE action in the near future on improvement plans at Guilford State park may be speeded up by the visit tomorrow of an official Columbus delegation to the sportsmen's center-township preserve.

According to word received today by J. C. Miller, of this city, secretary of the Columbiana County Fish and Game Protective association, from Representative Ralph Emmons, of East Rochester, officers of the state department of public works and the attorney general's office will compose the delegation which will make a survey of the park site tomorrow afternoon.

The party will include First Assistant Attorney General Griswold.

The party will include Messrs. Griswold, first assistant attorney general, Williams, also of the attorney general's office, Wisda, of the department of public works and Buton, chief auditor of the public works department.

The Columbus quartet will arrive in Salem at noon and will go immediately to Guilford for their inspection. They probably will be accompanied by King, Chisholm and Miller of the county fish and game association.

The construction work at the dam will be in charge of the department of public works and their activities must be approved by the attorney general's office.

At the conclusion of their inspection trip they will be guests at a dinner arranged by Salem sportsmen.

FATHER-SON FINAL TODAY

W. E. Wells and Son, J. M., Rank High With Net 80.

PITTSBURGH, July 1.—Playoff this afternoon between James B. Crookston and son, James W., and E. E. Giles and E. E., Jr., at Pittsburgh Field club will decide the family golf championship of western Pennsylvania. Both pairs turned in a card of 79 for the first round.

W. E. Wells and son, Joe, of East Liverpool, Ohio, with a net 80, ranked high among the father and son pairs. Joe Wells lost the driving contest to Charles A. Totten, of Stanton Heights club, by a scant margin of half yard on three shots.

W. E. Wells was elected a member of the board of directors of the organization.

They Loom Big in 1926 Golf

As a result of their showing in the recent British Open tourney golfing fans will watch closely the coming appearances of George Von Elm and Al Watrous. Watrous, finishing second to Bobby Jones, stands out as one of the best young pros and Von Elm, finishing third, showed he is possibly the best of the amateurs outside of Bobby Jones.

Three Katy Pitchers Shelled Off Hilltop In Inaugural Inning

Pilot "Hap" Jackson Goes to Slab in Rescue Role as Jennings, Stoffel and Simcox Wilt Under Bombardment of Base Hits; Losers Put up Fight.

MAKING K. T. K. use three pitchers in the first inning when six terrific blows netted as many runs and finally causing Manager "Hap" Jackson to go to the hilltop himself and twirl the remaining five periods of play, Chester defeated the Potters at Columbian park last evening and returned to a tie with Laughlin in the City Industrial league race.

Terrific clouting marked the contest on both sides. Jennings, starting out for K. T. K., was found for a double, triple and two singles, good for three runs as one man was retired. Then Stoffel went in and a single, plus a triple and an error gave the West Virginians three more tallies. Simcox then assumed the pitching burden and fanned L. McMath.

Jackson Takes Slab.

But two straight walks off Simcox at the outset of the second caused Jackson to send him back to third and the Potters' manager himself went to the slab. His twirling was an improvement. He allowed but four scattered blows and two runs thereafter.

With none out in the third and two on after one man had scored on two doubles and error, Lysle cleared the bags with a terrific four-bagger to deep middle. This proved the undoing of P. Bennett, who had started to pitch for Chester and contributed one of the first inning triples for his team, and Wilde took up the flinging. He used speed that dropped in opposition to the hocks that Bennett had been serving up. The change of pace was very effective as he fanned the first five men to face him in two innings and retired the sixth at first base.

In addition to twirling a splendid game, he fielded his position well. In all, he fanned seven men in the four innings in which he worked.

Katies Spurt in Sixth.

With the score 8 to 5 against them, K. T. K. gestured in the sixth when the tying runs were on the bags after one tally had been made. But Wilde bore down and struck out Lysle, retiring the side and winning the contest.

In the fifth Wilde came out of a bad hole when, with the bases full, due to Kinsey's muff of Jackson's fly, Simcox's single and Lysle's pass he retired the next three men in a row and leaving the trio on the paths. He fanned Merchant, caused Jennings to fly to C. Marshall in right and himself handling Wilson's rap, assisted quickly to Wyant.

Before taking the pitching assignment, Wilde batted in two runs with a single and a double and in the fourth forced Greene between second and third and himself took second on the play which ultimately enabled him to score his second run of the game.

Simcox led the clubbers with a double and two singles in four attempts.

Jennings, tripling in the second, might have been able to register a home run by stretching his legs down the path, had he not been held at third by the coacher who decided not to take the chance. On Simcox's long single in the fifth, Jackson, on second by a wild pitch following Kinsey's muff, was held a third when, probably, a bit of a spurt might have landed him across the plate.

L. McMath, with two doubles in four tries, hit at a .500 clip. Kinsey had a single and a double in three times up for a .667 mark. A big crowd saw the contest.

The Indians scalped Ted Lyons of the White Sox, their pet jinx, and won in a romp, 11 to 3. Cleveland is now only a game and a half away from second place.

AT OAKLAND, CAL. — Charlie Long, Omaha, defeated Leo Wax, Australia, 6 rounds.

Will Name Site of Dempsey-Tunney Heavyweight Title Bout Next Week

Rickard Indicates he Has Closed His Deal for Staging Summer's Big Glove Event.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, July 1.—There was a strong bull movement—possibly with emphasis on the adjective—in the heavyweight market, Tex Rickard causing the upward trend by breaking his silence with a significant statement. This was to the general effect that he would name the site of the Dempsey-Tunney match for the world's heavyweight championship not later than next week.

In brief, Rickard has closed his deal, either with Chicago or Jersey City, and is all ready to go.

His statement followed an exchange of telegrams with the principals, Dempsey wiring Rickard from Las Vegas that he would arrive in Colorado Springs today prepared to get down to active training. The champion asked for five or six heavyweight sparring partners and a line of reformed piano movers began forming on the left at an early hour this morning, while Rickard was thumbing over the freight rates to points west.

Orders Tunney Into Training.

His next move was to wire Tunney to cease uplifting the drama in Hollywood and begin lifting up the chest weights. Tunney was ordered to report here before July 15 to beg'n conditioning for the big shot. Rickard declined to say, but it is understood that Tunney will train at Saratoga.

If that is the case, the Chicago site probably is out like a door mat, for if they fight in Chicago they will train hard by so that the boys may draw their own conclusions and shower down adequately while doing so.

As a matter of fact, the Yankee stadium, New York city, persists in some quarters as the ultimate spot for the match, regardless of the decree of the New York state athletic commission, banishing Dempsey into the silence until such time as he admits that Harry Wills is a heavyweight pugilist. It is difficult to see how the commission can run on its own ultimatum but some of the local intelligentsia seem to feel that it can and will.

The New York site, for obvious reasons, is the most attractive one to Rickard. He might, for example, come back from Jersey City with almost as much money as he took over. The fight would draw plenty there but Rickard's ultimate profit might be negligible.

As for Chicago, his objection there is that he would have to split his profits with the nominal promoter of the fight. According to the Illinois law, only resident promoters are permitted to onerate in that state, so Rickard would have to work through some one else. He might even have to sell his contract with the fighters, taking what is known as a quick profit, which often enough is just another name for a small one.

Two factors will operate against this plan. Rickard doesn't like them small and he does like the limelight. His native vanity is such that he would retire from the public management of a heavyweight champion bout only if he saw no other course open to him. He would rather take a loss than see some other man handle such a match at a profit.

SKULL PRACTICE

Sammy Mandell, Rockford, Ill., fighter, received a nickel for his first fight. That would be too much money for some fighters we've seen in action.

Willie Meehan might have drawn bigger crowds had he paid the public to attend.

Willie was supposed to be in mortal fear of thunder and lightning. His enterprising manager spread the word that he had to dry Willie's tears and promise to take him to the circus before the fat boy would crawl out from under the bed after a summer storm.

The only dirty trick Willie ever played us was when he appeared after a rain to fight Tommy Gibbons.

Willie was terribly confused that night. He couldn't decide where to lay down when Gibbons soaked him in the pork barrel.

Lad Bums Way 200 Miles to See Ruth Slam One

Clarence "Rusty" Queen, 12 years old, Springfield, Mo., has always wanted to see Babe Ruth smack the ball for a home run. After walking and "bumming" rides for the 200 miles to St. Louis he was taken in tow by St. Louis police and held for the Juvenile Court. However, reporters took him to the game where he did see Babe Ruth hit one of his home runs. Also, the Bambino gave him an autographed baseball.

Three Events On July 5 Golf Card At Country Club

Tombstone, Foursome Tourneys Driving Contest Listed.

BECKONED by a golf program of three-ply dimensions, Country club players are expected to set a new attendance mark on the occasion of their first real holiday competition Monday.

A tombstone tournament, a mixed Scotch foursome and a driving contest for women are the three feature events of the days' card.

The tombstone tourney is slated for the morning over 18 holes under full handicap. The winner will take the annual C. A. Bough trophy.

Mixed foursomes will negotiate the course in the afternoon for trophies donated by R. L. E. Chambers and H. S. Russell.

At the conclusion of the foursome competition, feminine players will stage a driving contest for a trophy to be donated by Tom Stackpole, of the May company, of Cleveland. The best three drives down the fairway will land the prize.

Four double-plays helped Detroit beat the Browns, 4 to 1. A shower of raspberries descended on the field when McManus caught Heilmann with the hidden ball trick while Ty Cobb was coaching at third.

Mandell is False Favorite, Asserts White Who Knows

CHICAGO, July 1—Sammy Mandell of Rockford who fights champion Rocky Kansas here Saturday for the world's lightweight boxing title, is a "false-favorite" to win at odds of 2 to 1, in the opinion of Charley White who once lost to Kansas.

"The back hand punch—the same that put Benny Leonard down for a count and pounded out a victory over myself—will win for Kansas in his fight with Mandell," augurs White.

City League Flag Rivals In Action On Two Diamonds

Laughlin Plays Turk-Nash; Chester Goes to Wellsville.

WITH three pennant pointed teams of the City Industrial league in action tonight in two games, a delectable baseball dish will be served to loop fans in this city and Wellsville.

Laughlin will play Turk-Nash at Patterson Field and Chester will go into action at Wellsville.

Should Chester and Laughlin both win, the tie for first place will continue. And if one loses, of course, the other takes undisputed possession.

If Turk-Nash wins, the auto outfit will be but one game behind the second place and in an advantageous position to reach it by a possible victory in Friday's game with Chester.

TAGGING ALL --BASES--

The Pirates walked the plank for the sixth time in a row, losing to the Cardinals, 5 to 2. Haines turned in another good game while homers by Blades and Bell spoiled the afternoon for Lee Meadows.

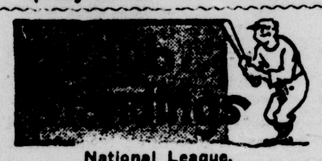

Cincinnati's winning streak curled up and died when the Reds lost the second game of a double header to the Cubs, 9 to 4, after winning the opener 3 to 2. Luque served them red-hot in the first game but May and Lucas wilted in the nightcap.

The Giants tried to add another game to the Braves but the Beaneaters wouldn't hear of it, so McGraw's pets walked away with the game in the fifteenth inning, 7 to 6. Lindstrom starred with a homer and three other hits.

Brooklyn downed Philadelphia in an 11 to 9 slugging match, Ehrhardt receiving credit for his first victory in 2o starts. Harper's two homers kept the Phils in the running.

The Athletics nosed out the Yankees in the ninth, 5 to 4, when Poole, who had already hit a homer, doubled with the bases full.

Two rookies starred in Washington's 8 to 5 victory over the Red Sox. Morrell yielded only five hits and Dan Taylor, formerly of Buffalo, got three hits, including a homer.

SEEK ACTION ON GUILFORD PARK PLANS

State Officers Will Inspect Site Friday

Offices of Attorney General and Department of Public Works to be Represented at Survey.

POSSIBLE action in the near future on improvement plans at Guilford State park may be speeded up by the visit tomorrow of an official Columbus delegation to the sportsmen's center-township preserve.

According to word received today by J. C. Miller, of this city, secretary of the Columbiana County Fish and Game Protective association, from Representative Ralph Emmons, of East Rochester, officers of the state department of public works and the attorney general's office will compose the delegation which will make a survey of the park site tomorrow afternoon.

The party will include First Assistant Attorney General Griswold.

The party will include Messrs. Griswold, first assistant attorney general, Williams, also of the attorney general's office, Wisda, of the department of public works and Buton, chief auditor of the public works department.

The Columbus quartet will arrive in Salem at noon and will go immediately to Guilford for their inspection. They probably will be accompanied by King, Chisholm and Miller of the county fish and game association.

The construction work at the dam will be in charge of the department of public works and their activities must be approved by the attorney general's office.

At the conclusion of their inspection trip they will be guests at a dinner arranged by Salem sportsmen.

FATHER-SON FINAL TODAY

W. E. Wells and Son, J. M., Rank High With Net 80.

PITTSBURGH, July 1.—Playoff this afternoon between James B. Crookston and son, James W., and E. E. Giles and E. E., Jr., at Pittsburgh Field club will decide the family golf championship of western Pennsylvania. Both pairs turned in a card of 79 for the first round.

W. E. Wells and son, Joe, of East Liverpool, Ohio, with a net 80, ranked high among the father and son pairs. Joe Wells lost the driving contest to Charles A. Totten, of Stanton Heights club, by a scant margin of half yard on three shots.

W. E. Wells was elected a member of the board of directors of the organization.

Joe Wells was twice amateur golf champion of Ohio, and runner-up this year.

Will Name Site of Dempsey-Tunney Heavyweight Title Bout Next Week

Rickard Indicates he Has Closed His Deal for Staging Summer's Big Glove Event.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, July 1.—There was a strong bull movement—possibly with emphasis on the adjective—in the heavyweight market, Tex Rickard causing the upward trend by breaking his silence with a significant statement. This was to the general effect that he would name the site of the Dempsey-Tunney match for the world's heavyweight championship not later than next week.

In brief, Rickard has closed his deal, either with Chicago or Jersey City, and is all ready to go.

His statement followed an exchange of telegrams with the principals, Dempsey wiring Rickard from Las Vegas that he would arrive in Colorado Springs today prepared to get down to active training. The champion asked for five or six heavyweight sparring partners and a line of reformed piano movers began forming on the left at an early hour this morning, while Rickard was thumbing over the freight rates to points west.

Orders Tunney Into Training.

His next move was to wire Tunney to cease uplifting the drama in Hollywood and begin lifting up the chest weights. Tunney was ordered to report here before July 15 to begin conditioning for the big shot. Rickard declined to say, but it is understood that Tunney will train at Saratoga.

If that is the case, the Chicago site probably is out like a door mat, for if they fight in Chicago they will train hard by so that the boys may draw their own conclusions and shower down adequately while doing so.

As a matter of fact, the Yankee stadium, New York city, persists in some quarters as the ultimate spot for the match, regardless of the decree of the New York state athletic commission, banishing Dempsey into the silence until such time as he admits that Harry Wills is a heavyweight pugilist. It is difficult to see how the commission can run on its own ultimatum but some of the local intelligentsia seem to feel that it can and will.

The New York site, for obvious reasons, is the most attractive one to Rickard. He might, for example, come back from Jersey City with almost as much money as he took over. The fight would draw plenty there but Rickard's ultimate profit might be negligible.

As for Chicago, his objection there is that he would have to split his profits with the nominal promoter of the fight. According to the Illinois law, only resident promoters are permitted to operate in that state, so Rickard would have to work through some one else. He might even have to sell his contract with the fighters, taking what is known as a quick profit, which often enough is just another name for a small one.

Two factors will operate against this plan. Rickard doesn't like them small and he does like the limelight. His native vanity is such that he would retire from the public management of a heavyweight champion bout only if he saw no other course open to him. He would rather take a loss than see some other man handle such a match at a profit.

Three Katy Pitchers Shelled Off Hilltop In Inaugural Inning

Pilot "Hap" Jackson Goes to Slab in Rescue Role as Jennings, Stoffel and Simcox Wilt Under Bombardment of Base Hits; Losers Put up Fight.

MAKING K. T. K. use three pitchers in the first inning when six terrific blows netted as many runs and finally causing Manager "Hap" Jackson to go to the hilltop himself and twirl the remaining five periods of play, Chester defeated the Potters at Columbian park last evening and returned to a tie with Laughlin in the City Industrial league race.

Terrific clouting marked the contest on both sides. Jennings, starting out for K. T. K., was found for a double, triple and two singles, good for three runs as one man was retired. Then Stoffel went in and a single, plus a triple and an error gave the West Virginians three more tallies. Simcox then assumed the pitching burden and fanned L. McMath.

Jackson Takes Slab.

But two straight walks off Simcox at the outset of the second caused Jackson to send him back to third and the Potters' manager himself went to the slab. His twirling was an improvement. He allowed but four scattered blows and two runs thereafter.

With none out in the third and two on after one man had scored on two doubles and error, Lysle cleared the bags with a terrific four-bagger to deep middle. This proved the undoing of P. Bennett, who had started to pitch for Chester and contributed one of the first inning triples for his team, and Wilde took up the flinging. He used speed that dropped in opposition to the hocks that Bennett had been serving up. The change of pace was very effective as he fanned the first five men to face him in two innings and retired the sixth at first base.

In addition to twirling a splendid game, he fielded his position well. In all, he fanned seven men in the four innings in which he worked.

Katies Spurt in Sixth.

With the score 8 to 5 against them, K. T. K. gestured in the sixth when the tying runs were on the bags after one tally had been made. But Wilde bore down and struck out Lysle, retiring the side and winning the contest.

In the fifth Wilde came out of a bad hole when, with the bases full, due to Kinsey's muff of Jackson's fly, Simcox's single and Lysle's pass he retired the next three men in a row and leaving the trio on the paths. He fanned Merchant, caused Jennings to fly to C. Marshall in right and himself handling Wilson's rap, assisted quickly to Wyant.

Before taking the pitching assignment, Wilde batted in two runs with a single and a double and in the fourth forced Greene between second and third and himself took second on the play which ultimately enabled him to score his second run of the game.

Simcox led the clubbers with a double and two singles in four attempts.

Jennings, tripling in the second, might have been able to register a home run by stretching his legs down the path, had he not been held at third by the coacher who decided not to take the chance. On Simcox's long single in the fifth, Jackson, on second by a wild pitch following Kinsey's muff, was held a third when, probably, a bit of a spurt might have landed him across the plate.

L. McMath, with two doubles in four tries, hit at a .500 clip. Kinsey had a single and a double in three times up for a .667 mark. A big crowd saw the contest.

The Indians scalped Ted Lyons of the White Sox, their pet jinx, and won in a romp, 11 to 3. Cleveland is now only a game and a half away from second place.

POTTERS LEAVE FOR SEASHORE

Campers Increase.

Large number of campers have pitched tents on the Ohio side of Beaver creek during the week. Majority plan to return home after Independence day which will be observed next Monday.

Scouts To Meet.

Boy Scouts will meet tomorrow night in the Pennsylvania Avenue Methodist Episcopal church. Routine program will be followed during the session.

Large Crowd at Game.

Large crowd attended the baseball game last night at Columbian park between Chester and Knowles, Taylor and Knowles teams of the Industrial league. The result of the contest leaves the race deadlocked between Homer Laughlin and Chester.

Bonds Will Be Sold.

Beaver county commissioners plan to sell a large bond issue next week to meet the expenses of a number of road improvement projects which are in progress in various sections of the county.

Aid Society Meets.

Members of the Ladies' Aid society of the Pennsylvania Avenue Church of Christ held an all-day session today in the church. The usual program was carried out.

Choir Practice.

Choir practice will be held this evening in several of the churches of this section of the city. Pastors conducted prayer services last night.

Lodge Meeting Tonight.

Members of Pennova lodge No. 880, I. O. O. F., will meet this evening in the Hill building, Mulberry street. Session will be given over to the transaction of routine business.

Turkish Traffic Police Gay.

Traffic police in Constantinople take excessive pride in their dress and carriage. They wear crimson and brass helmets and carry a baton of red and white stripes which resemble sticks of peppermint candy. They take great pride in outdoing one another in the neatness of their uniforms and in their carriage. The effect is striking to tourists visiting that country.

EAST END

POTTERS LEAVE FOR SEASHORE

Campers Increase.

Large number of campers have pitched tents on the Ohio side of Beaver creek during the week. Majority plan to return home after Independence day which will be observed next Monday.

Scouts To Meet.

Boy Scouts will meet tomorrow night in the Pennsylvania Avenue Methodist Episcopal church. Routine program will be followed during the session.

Large Crowd at Game.

Large crowd attended the baseball game last night at Columbian park between Chester and Knowles, Taylor and Knowles teams of the Industrial league. The result of the contest leaves the race deadlocked between Homer Laughlin and Chester.

Bonds Will Be Sold.

Beaver county commissioners plan to sell a large bond issue next week to meet the expenses of a number of road improvement projects which are in progress in various sections of the county.

Aid Society Meets.

Members of the Ladies' Aid society of the Pennsylvania Avenue Church of Christ held an all-day session today in the church. The usual program was carried out.

Choir Practice.

Choir practice will be held this evening in several of the churches of this section of the city. Pastors conducted prayer services last night.

Lodge Meeting Tonight.

Members of Pennova lodge No. 880, I. O. O. F., will meet this evening in the Hill building, Mulberry street. Session will be given over to the transaction of routine business.

Turkish Traffic Police: Gay.

Traffic police in Constantinople take excessive pride in their dress and carriage. They wear crimson and brass helmets and carry a baton of red and white stripes which resemble sticks of peppermint candy. They take great pride in outdoing one another in the neatness of their uniforms and in their carriage. The effect is striking to tourists visiting that country.

Steel Above 140.

Purifying Her.

David Danced It, Perhaps.

Mysterious Money.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

UNITED STATES STEEL crossed 140 yesterday, highest price. That started speculative suction that will dry in little lambs all over the country. Stocks were up, bonds also, bears were down.

Individual owners of United States Steel common number 93,671, and all wish somebody would answer these questions.

What will "Steel" do with its four or five hundred millions or more of accumulated cash?

Will it pay out accumulated reserves and leave itself naked to the winds and waves? or will it issue a stock bonus? If so, what dividend will that new stock pay?

Answer those questions and you can become rich in the short time needed to call up your broker. Don't gamble!

FLO ZIEGFELD of many "Follies," does not mean to have the wicked tide of nude stage indecency roll over him. Having devoted his life to "glorifying American girls" he now announces his intention to "purify the American stages, and the American girl with it." He advertises a show in which the most beautiful girls ever seen on earth are "pr[illegible]." Those that have been yo[illegible] old, little thought t[illegible] to hear Flo Ziegfeld [illegible]nty costumes for stage la[illegible]

DANCING masters "bar the Charleston." But won't succeed in driving out that wild dance. It is probably like that David danced before the ark. It enables the dancer to express frenzied emotions for which words can't be found.

Dancing originally was all wild, as among American Indians or African savages. Primitive man desiring to "express himself," danced himself into exhaustion.

Then came brief control, stately minuet, waltz, jerky polka, quadrille. There is no personality or expression in them.

The Charleston, allowing youth to throw up both legs and arms at once, will stay until our craving for "self expression" shall have been satisfied.

THOSE that understand finance, there may be two or three among our 115,000,000, watch Caillaux's efforts to stabilize the franc.

Money is mysterious. If the franc goes down to nothing, as the German mark did, danger is feared—although Germany survived it.

If the franc went back to its prewar value, or half that, France would be swept by a dreadful panic of "dear money."

IS YOUR GARDEN SICK?

Is there something wrong with your garden? Are your plants turning yellow and dying? Are the vines wilting and drying up? Are the beans and the squash and the tomatoes covered with bugs? Are you almost in despair because you don't know what to do to save the many hours of labor you have given to your garden?

The United States government is the best doctor in the world for sick gardens. In its booklet "Diseases and Insects of Garden Vegetables" it tells how to prevent and cure most garden ailments. With this booklet at hand you can diagnose the trouble and apply the correct remedy.

Our Washington Bureau will secure a copy of this booklet for you if you will send in your name and address together with two cents in stamps to cover return postage.

FIREWORKS BAN EFFECTIVE AS COUNCIL PLAN IS THWARTED

Benedum Explains Action in Killing Ordinance.

SAFE HOLIDAY

Solons Cannot Act Upon Veto Before July 11.

Pointing to the fact that "casualties of past years have been so numerous and so serious" that many communities have adopted prohibitory legislation, Mayor Ralph C. Benedum today vetoed Ordinance No. 2041, enacted by council last Saturday night, which, if allowed to become a law, would have repealed the measure banning the use of fireworks in East Liv[illegible]pool.

The vet[illegible]cited. [illegible]be read to council at [illegible]g in Municipal court headquarters, but inasmuch as 10 days must elapse before the mayor's action can be considered, no effort to evade the veto will be made before July 11.

The mayor, in his message to council, expressed the opinion that "human life and safety as well as property will be conserved" by allowing the fireworks banning ordinance to remain in effect and advocated the strengthening of the measure by legislation "prohibiting the sale as well as the use of fireworks."

The repealer was passed by the solons by a vote of 6 to 1 at last Saturday night's meeting. Mayor Benedum had planned to defer action until Saturday night, making it too late for council to re-enact it, a state law was discovered which prohibits the overriding of the mayor's veto by a legislative body until 10 days have elapsed.

The state law, covering this point, is found in Section No. 4234 of the General Code of Ohio which reads: "When the mayor disapproves an ordinance or a resolution, or any part thereof, and returns it to the council with his objections, council may, after 10 days, reconsider it . . . . . " This means that the ordinance cannot be taken up for passage over the mayor's veto before July 11.

About 12 dealers have taken out permits for the sale of fireworks which began today. Instructions have been issued to the police to arrest persons who discharge pyrotechnics within the city limits.

Mayor's Veto Message.

Mayor Benedum's message to the city law makers disapproving the repealer message, his first veto since assuming the reins of office last January 1, follows:

"I am returning herewith an ordinance passed by your honorable body on June 26, 1926, entitled 'An ordinance to repeal ordinance number 2041 passed on the 18th day of February, 1926, prohibiting the use of fireworks within the corporate limits of the City of East Liverpool, Ohio,' which I have seen fit to veto.

"While I realize that the Fourth of July is just four days ahead and your honorable body will not be in position to override my veto by a two-thirds

ELKS PLAN BOAT TRIP TOMORROW

Officers of Elks' lodge No. 258 today announced plans for their first boat excursion of the season which will be held tomorrow night on the steamer Washington.

The boat is scheduled to leave the Broadway street wharf at 8:30 o'clock. Music for the dancing will be provided by Elder's Dreamland orchestra.

THREE PERSONS HURT IN TWO AUTO WRECKS; SEDAN IS OVERTURNED

2-Year-old Boy Fatally Burned In Blazing Sedan

CLEVELAND, July 1.—Burns received when he was trapped in a blazing sedan here late yesterday proved fatal today to 2-year-old Clifford Krieger. The car caught on fire from gasoline spilled on an overheated exhaust pipe while the motorist was having the tank filled. Attracted by the mother's screams, V. L. Tichy, 28, rescued Evelyn Kobbs, 3, from the back seat where she rode with the boy, but was unable to reach the boy before the flames burned him.

Three persons were injured, none seriously, in two traffic accidents, one on the Lincoln highway, near Sherwood, at 9:15 o'clock last night, and the other at the intersection of Fifth and Washington streets shortly after 7 o'clock this morning.

The injured:

MISS ALICE PUTNAM, Pennsylvania avenue, laceration on head and possibly internally hurt; in City hospital.

MRS. CATHERINE FARROW, 89, Frances avenue, Pleasant Heights, bruised; attended at hospital by Dr. C. B. Bailey and removed to her home.

A. L. DONOHEW, 21, Frances avenue, Pleasant Heights, lacerated and cut about the face and head; treated at hospital by Dr. Bailey and sent home.

Seven other persons, who figured in two crashes were unhurt.

Accident in Lincoln Highway.

The accident along the Lincoln highway, last night, was the more serious of the two. Young Donohew, accompanied by Mrs. Farrow and the latter's two grandchildren, Frank Farrow, 6, and Florence Farrow, 10, children of Henry Farrow, were returning to their homes from a pleasure ride. Near the George McClintock home, Sherwood, their car was struck headon by a Buick coupe driven by Robert Thompson of Wellsville, who was accompanied by William Kessler, also of Wellsville.

One front wheel of Donohew's machine was demolished and the car disabled. The four occupants, including the children, who were unhurt, were taken to the hospital in the Sturgis ambulance.

Although damaged, Thompson's car continued on its way after the accident. Sheriff George Wright and Deputy Sheriff Lawrence Kindsvatter, who had been notified of the accident, started toward East Liverpool in an effort to locate the driver. They met Thompson and his companion on the grade just north of "Hall Deaden." The pair were loaded into the sheriff's car and brought to the East Liverpool jail. McElravy Brothers' wrecker hauled the Thompson machine to their garage.

Thompson entered a plea of not guilty to a charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated and was re-

GIRL KILLED BY AUTO AFTER BRUTAL ATTACK

Pretty Akron Maiden, Deaf Mute, is Victim.

ESCORT BEATEN

Run Down by Car After Two Men Stripped Her.

AKRON, July 1. — The pretty 25-year-old girl who was run down and killed on Portage Lake drive early today after being stripped and attacked by two men who took her away from her escort, J. J. Griffiths, 32, whom they beat up, was identified today as Mrs. Otto Coppage, also known as Opal Woodyard. The identification was made at the morgue about noon by Donald C. Merton, of 36 North Walnut street, where the woman and her husband, Merton said, had light housekeeping rooms.

Mrs. Coppage was evidently thrown from the automobile of her assailants. Half-dazed and attired only in a flimsy chemise she tottered in front of a machine occupied by Ollie E. Sockwell, 22, and George Wicker, 23, who were driving rapidly in the dark road. An artery was ruptured in her lung by the impact of the car against her body and death followed in a few minutes.

Sockwell and Wicker have been exonerated, but will be used as witnesses if the abductors are caught.

Detectives were looking for an alleged Portage Lake bootlegger and his companion, it was said.

W. H. Proctor, Former Local Resident, is Earthquake Victim

William H. Proctor, 45, former resident of East Liverpool, was among those killed two months ago in an earthquake at Santa Barbara, Cal., according to word received here today by his sister, Mrs. Estella Hilton Shamp.

Proctor, who was driving his machine along the highway near Santa Barbara, met his death when a building, shaken by the tremor collapsed, burying the car under the debris.

He is survived by his wife and three children, two sisters, Mrs. Annie Ledbetter, Muskogee, Okla.; Mrs. Shamp, and one half brother, Earl Hilton, Youngstown.

Burial was made at Santa Barbara.

STATE BOARD TO ACT JULY 16 IN WELLSVILLE POLICE FIGHT

Civil Service Chiefs Will Conduct Investigation.

H. F. HURD CASE

Attorney General Will Send Counsel to Get Facts.

Promising an investigation into "the situation relative to the enforcement of civil service laws," members of the state civil service commission, accompanied by a representative of the attorney general's office will arrive in Wellsville on July 16, as an aftermath to the ex-Patrolman H. F. Hurd controversy, according to dispatches today from Columbus.

In announcing the proposed investigation, the state civil servcie commission says:

"Under provisions of civil service laws of Ohio, the state civil service commission and a representative from the office of the attorney general of Ohio will conduct an investigation under the date of July 16, 1926, at Wellsville, Ohio, of the situation relative to the enforcement of the civil service laws which has been officially referred to this office."

Mayor Will Co-Operate.

The state commission consists of Rollin Swisher, William S. Bundy and Frank W. Forsythe, secretary.

Mayor W. L. Fogo listed inefficiency, drunkenness and "other reasonable causes" in charges filed against Hurd recently with the Wellsville civil service commission.

The deposed patrolman, in filing an appeal for a hearing before the Wellsville commission, asked that the board require the dates and places of the charges be specified and that the charges in general be made more specific.

Although Mayor Fogo today said he had not received notice of the investigation, he announced that he would welcome the Columbus delegation and will co-operate in any way possible in the inquiry.

HARRY BROKAW LIONS' LEADER

Club Officers Will be Installed Next Wednesday.

Attorney Harry Brokaw will head the local Lions club for the fiscal year beginning July 7, his election having occurred at a recent meeting of the club. He succeeds Emmet E. Mylar.

Other officers are:

First vice-president, M. E. Eppley; second vice-president, Lee Weikert; third vice-president, Willis Davidson; secretary, H. D. Rist; treasurer, Earl Greenwalt; tail twister, Joseph Smith; pepmaker and cheer leader, Robert Baur; assistant pepmaker, Kenneth Martin.

New members of the board of directors are Emmet E. Mylar and Fred Glenn. Three other members of the board who retain their places are Dr. John A. Fraser, Charles Kidd and Attorney G. L. Brokaw.

Rev. R. C. Ehrheart, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church of Chester, addressed members of the club at yesterday's meeting. M. J. Lejeune was a guest.

Officers will be installed at the weekly luncheon meeting at the Y. M. C. A. next Wednesday.

OCCUPANTS UNHARMED AS AMERICAN HOUSE AND HOME ARE RAZED

RESIDENCE ADJOINING HOSTELRY, ALSO YOUNG'S, WAS UNOCCUPIED

Barn, Owned by Mrs. George Downard, is Also Destroyed, While Other Dwellings are Threatened in Village Which Has No Fire Fighting Equipment.

Fire, originating in the third story of the Irondale hotel building, known as the old American House, wiped out the frame structure and an adjoining two-story residence this morning at 7 o'clock, entailing a loss estimated between $8,000 and $10,000.

The owner and occupants of the hotel, handicapped by lack of adequate fire fighting methods, were forced to watch the buildings converted into a mass of charred timber.

Robert Young and family, who operated the hotel, were living there along with four boarders, all of whom escaped.

While first floor equipment was removed before reached by the flames, practically all the hotel furniture on the second and third stories went up in smoke.

The house adjoining the hotel building was unoccupied. Dr. J. V. Rice, Irondale's physician, had previously been living in the house. Yesterday he moved out.

Today the Young family was to have moved into the house and Richard Furniss, of Wellsville, pastry baker, was to have taken over the management of the hotel. He also planned the installation of his baking equipment there.

Wellsville Firemen Called.

A barn owned by Mrs. George Downard, a short distance from the hotel, was caught by the flames and destroyed.

Other residences, including the J. T. Lowry home, across the creek, were threatened for a short time.

A call was sent into the Wellsville fire department, but, lacking a pumper, which would have been necessary to throw water on the flames, the down river department was not able to render any aid.

The loss is partially covered by insurance.

Whistles Scream As Mail Airplane Lands in Boston

BOSTON, July 1.—Amid the din of screaming factory whistles the zooming of airplanes over head and floating above streams of water shooting high from fireboats, the first mail airplane reached the East Boston airport today, linking Boston closer to the west and middle west.

The plane came from New Brunswick, N. J., via Hartford, Conn., and carried on its maiden run as a passenger from Hartford, Governor John H. Trumbull of Connecticut.

Ohio Power Company Bond Issue Given State's Approval

COLUMBUS, July 1.—State utilities commission today authorized the Ohio Power company, headquarters at Canton, to issue $9,625,900 in bonds, to be sold at not less than 80 and $517,600 in preferred stock.

Proceeds are to be used in purchasing properties of six electrical and public service companies in various parts of Ohio and in liquidating a portion of the Ohio Power company's indebtedness.

American Woman Is Given Divorce By Seine Tribunal

PARIS, July 1.—Mrs. William Heraldo Brady, the former Alice Emma Leonard, of Mt. Vernon, N. Y., was granted a divorce by the Seine tribunal today.

Mrs. Brady in her petition charged that her husband had refused to resume marital relations.

The surplus for the fiscal year which closed at midnight was officially set at $377,768,000.

The public debt is $875,000,000 less than on July 1 a year ago.

J. J. PURINTON KIWANIS GUEST

Banker Discusses History of Building and Loan Units.

History of the building and loan associations in the East Liverpool district was traced by John J. Purinton, president of the First National bank and secretary of the Potters Savings & Loan company, in an address before 60 members of the Kiwanis club and their friends in Larkins' annex, Market street, at noon today. His subject was "A Building and Loan and Its Relation to the Community."

First building and loan association was organized in East Liverpool, according to Purinton, in 1885, by George Wilson, who later moved to the south. This was known as the Bitina Building and Loan association. Two years later the East Liverpool Building and Loan association was formed by Robert Hall and Purinton. This was followed by the Potters' Savings and Loan association, which was organized in 1898, the Union Savings and Loan, formed in 1898, the People's Building and Loan in 1899, the Federal Savings and Loan and the Hancock County Building and Loan association, Chester, both in 1902.

Main purpose of the institutions, he said, is to assist people in becoming home owners. Assets of the several associations in Columbiana county total $15,600,000, of which approximately 11,000,000 is held by East Liverpool institutions. No better security for the thrifty investor is offered any

With the meter registering continuously the fare, Miss Dora Dorothy Allison, of Chester, and Truman C. Greenwalt, of East Liverpool were married shortly after 8 o'clock last evening while sitting in the rear seat of one of E. C. Hyatt's green taxicabs as it rested on a grassy spot off the Chester-Newell roadway, known as "the Narrows," just along the Ohio river.

The officiating clergyman was the Rev. John F. Dimit, pastor of the First Methodist Protestant church of this city, who told the contracting parties that since they had procured their license in West Virginia, the ceremony must also be performed in that state.

The taxicab was driven by E. C. Hyatt. The run began at 8:10 and was concluded at 8:35.

Two women witnesses were members of the taxi bridal party. One of the witnesses sat in the rear seat with the principals, while the other woman and the minister occupied the two push seats.

Upon the return to the Ohio side Rev. Mr. Dimit was taken to the postoffice and the wedding party to the Diamond, where they boarded a street car for Chester.

Mr. Greenwalt and his bride-elect had gone to the Methodist Protestant church, where they expected to be married. When the marriage license law was explained by the pastor, the taxicab was called and the trip made across the river.

The bride, who is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Allison, near Chester, wore a pretty gown of Rosewood crepe with hat to match. For the past several years she has been a teacher in the primary department of the Butler district school at Weirton.

The bridegroom is a son of Mrs. Nan J. Greenwalt. He is employed in the Cord Tire corporation of Chester.

After a honeymoon trip, Mr. and Mrs. Greenwalt will reside in East Liverpool.

C. E. Dutt Writes Story In Haberdashers' Magazine

"Rejoice in Success of Your Neighbor," is Advice of William Erlanger Company's Advertising Manager.

"Rejoice in the success of your neighbor!"

This is the advice of Clarence E. Duff, advertising and display manager for the William Erlanger Company, this city, writing in the May jubilee number of The Haberdasher and The Clothier & Furnisher, New York trade publication. The story carries the heading "How Your Town Can Hold Its Trade."

"If your competitor has succeeded in bringing in customers to his store," reads the article, "you are going to profit, too, by his good fortune and efforts, that is if you are equally as progressive and have not allowed your customers to become disloyal through slip-shod methods, unreliable merchandise, poor advertising and uninteresting window displays.

"Every time a merchant makes a sale of dependable merchandise, he is helping the other merchants of his city. True, it may be only an indirect aid, but nevertheless the customer has made a purchase from a reliable store and the more satisfactory his purchase proves to be, the more merchandise he is going to buy in stores of that city. He becomes not only the customer of the clothing store, but also the dry goods store and other stores that can supply his needs, keeping his money in circulation in his own city, helping his friends, himself and his community."

Speaking of window displays in which Duff is a recognized expert, the article says:

"People like good clothing and haberdashery, good automobiles, good roads, good books—and they like to see good window displays. If the larger city stores can attract our customers away from us by neat, attractive uncrowded displays, and thrive on them, we can compete with them by making our displays just as modern and interesting by emulating the methods that they have found to be so restful in building up such great merchandising institutions."

Duff possesses many prizes which he has won in window display contests. At the 1925 convention of the International Association of Display men, held at St. Louis, he was awarded the gold medal championship prize, held only by 14 other advertising men in the United States. He is the first Ohioan to receive this honor and was awarded it only after he had qualified by winning a number of other prizes, each of which was counted in points.

Since beginning his window display work, Duff has captured approximately 100 trophies. These include silver cups, baskets, gold, silver and bronze medals, drawing sets, engraved diplomas and cash awards.

Simple Home Treatment That Is Giving Amazing Results.

The world progresses. Today ailments that took weeks to cure can now be ended in a few days. If you have varicose veins or bunches you can start today to bring them back to normal size, and if you are wise you will do so.

Just get an original bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil at any dispensing pharmacist and apply it night and morning to the enlarged veins. It is very powerful and penetrating, and only a little is required.

After a few days' treatment the veins will begin to grow smaller and by regular use will soon reduce to normal.

Moone's Emerald Oil is also a marvelous healing agent. One application for instance stops the itching of eczema, and a few applications cause the eruptions to dry up, scale off and completely disappear. It is equally as effective in barber's itch, salt rheum, redness and inflammatory skin trouble.

People who want to reduce varicose veins, or get rid of eczema, ulcers, or piles in a few days should not hesitate to get a bottle at once. It is so powerful that a small bottle lasts a long time. Any pharmacy can supply you. Mathew's Medicine Store and J. D. Holloway sell lots of it.

NEW OVERLAND WHIPPET READY

American Firm Builds European Low, Light Car.

It has been anticipated for some months that a large American builder of motor cars would soon be on the market with a European type low, light car. The initial production of what may be the forerunner of a complete change in our great mass production of light automobiles made its appearance in this city this week. It is the Overland Whippet on which the engineers of Willys-Overland, Inc., have been working, both here and in Europe, for the past two years.

This new car is totally different from anything we have ever seen before in this country. It looks different, it acts different and it serves a different but constantly increasing demand. Mechanically, it is an adaptation of the best that Europe has to offer in the way of powerful, economical engines, with a wide speed range, more power for climbing than has characterized even the best of the European productions, and with a flexibility, silence and smoothness of running which is new to our light car production.

It is a quality product in every detail from the trim, smart, extremely low body with its brilliant finish and superb upholstery to the last detail of its mechanical construction.

The sedan will travel 58 miles an hour as easily and comfortably as the great majority of our present day "sixes."

It will accelerate from five to 25 miles an hour in 10 seconds, or in just half a second more time than some of our largest and most flexible "sixes" and it will cover 28 to 30 miles on a gallon of fuel.

It will stop in a little over twice its own length from an average driving speed, for it is equipped with four wheel brakes, having a drum diameter of 11 inches, which is larger than those on many of our large cars.

The motor develops 23 per cent more power per cubic inch of piston displacement than any other light four-cylinder motor built in America.

A Girl Guide organization has been formed in British Guinea.

The Duchess of Rutland

HER GRACE, the Duchess Dowager of Rutland, widow of the eighth Duke, is the talented mother of a talented daughter, Lady Diana Manners, who played the leading part in "The Miracle."

The Duchess, who is the inseparable companion of her daughter while they are traveling in this country, has become acquainted with Clicquot Club Ginger Ale and considers it a most delightful drink.

She says: "An enticing drink, delightful in flavor and most refreshing; I am very pleased that I have come to know Clicquot Club Ginger Ale."

Two flavors to choose from

You can now get Clicquot Club Ginger Ale in two flavors. The new Pale Dry Clicquot is very delicate and subtle in taste. The Golden Clicquot is more gingery, a particularly invigorating drink; for a generation the most popular of all bottled beverages the nation over. Clicquot Club Ginger Ale, noted for its high quality, also gives more generous quantity and at a very reasonable price. The Clicquot Club Company, Millis, Massachusetts.

Fomeen's Royal Accordion Four With Dix Film At Ceramic

Metropolitan Dancer and Radio Singer Top All-star Bill Which Opens Three-day Engagement.

Basil Fomeen's Royal Accordion Ensemble, with Nita Rosso, a whirlwind dancer, and Dana Call, radio singer, will be the metropolitan vaudeville feature in connection with an all-star photo play program at the Ceramic theatre today, tomorrow and Saturday.

Fomeen and his two pretty girls have scored hits in the biggest vaudeville theatres in the country, and they were engaged for the East Liverpool visit through the agency which books attractions for the Million Dollar Grand theatre, Pittsburgh.

The vaudeville program will be presented with Richard Dix and Lois Wilson in the rollicking romance, "Let's Get Married," and Walter Hiers in "Fresh Faces," a Bingville beauty comedy. Orchestra music will be rendered afternoon and evening.

The Morgantown, W. Va., Post, speaking of the Royal Accordian Ensemble says:

"An act which strikes the fancy of Morgantown theatre patrons is offered at the Metropolitan today and Saturday in the sketch presented on the stage by Basil Fomeen's Accordion Ensemble, with Nita Rosso, the girl named the "whirlwind dancer," and Wanda Goll, famous as a radio soprano. Musical selections which range from the overture from "William Tell" to a medley of popular song hits of the day, are handled well by the quartet of skilled accordion players, who were given an enthusiac reception on Thursday.

"Miss Rosso in her opening dance gave a classical interpretation of "The Swan Song," which was probably the best bit of work of its kind seen here this season. Explanatory to the excellence of the dance is the announcement that Miss Rosso has been appearing with "Pavlowa" and was also included one season in the revue of the Greenwich Village Follies. Miss Rosso's Charleston dance offered the audience a chance for comparison of another district type of her art.

"Wanda Goll, whose sweet soprano voice and charming stage presence won Thursday's audience, is offering a group of songs that have won her fame in the theatres and moving picture houses of Chicago. She brings the fine western enthusiasm into her work, which is of a popular type here."

Richard Dix, popular Paramount star, knows all about the inner workings of Blackwell's Island now. In his latest farce comedy, "Let's Get Married," he is sent "up the river.' And many of the scenes actually show him in jail. But it must be admitted that Richard succeeds in getting out. Lois Wilson is seen as the warden's daughter. Gregory La Cava directed for Paramount.

Most likely, you've never been to Blackwell's Island. It's a little drop of land placed in the East river, right near New York city. Here we are on the Queensboro bridge; and now we're drawing up to a sign which reads, "Welfare Island." Don't let the name confuse you. Behind that bit of painting, there's another name—"Blackwell's"—and this is our destination.

Down in the elevator and on to the island itself. Look around. Everything is spotlessly clean. Many Florida developments would make it look awfully small. It's only about one hundred and twenty acres in area. But here, on this diminutive stretch of land are located those city institutions which could not possibly be maintained in the heart of New York. Such things as sanitariums and hospitals are part and parcel of it. And last but not least—Blackwell's Island is the proud possessor of a huge prison.

The jail, to say the least, is forbidding in stature. It's the kind one looks at from the bridge which towers above, and gives vent to a slight shudder. Why? Because, though they are unseen, one knows that steel bars are keeping a lot of men captive.

Although the highest bidder, an American firm was awarded the contract for paving the streets of Cordoba, Argentina.

May Abolish Primary System

The August 10 primaries, when state and county nominees will be named by the Republican and Democratic parties, may be the last conducted in Ohio.

The question of abolishing the primary system and adopting a new plan of nominating candidates for public offices will be submitted at the November election if 210,000 signatures required are obtained.

Decision to circulate petitions was reached yesterday at Columbus at a conference of representative Republicans who favor a proposal that will enable both Democrats and the G. O. P. to pave the way for a return to party responsibility which is impossible in the present primary system.

Under the proposed amendment, the road is open for the legislature to determine how nominations shall be made—whether by convention, or a modified primary system involving a pre-primary convention and an endorsed slate. However, it provides delegates must be elected by the voters if nominations are to be made by convention. The method of selecting delegates to national conventions is left unchanged.

In the opinion of many observers, abolition of the present primary system should arouse more interest in the selection of party nominees and, too, it will encourage many qualified men and women, who dislike to be made targets of mud-throwing, to permit their names to be suggested for public office.

Popular Summer Schools

Summer schools are open, or opening, in all parts of the country. There are summer courses for every grade of pupil from the little tots to teachers taking post-graduate work.

The increasing popularity of summer study for adults may be attributed to the higher requirements for teachers and to the interest in travel and professional advancement.

The youngsters go to summer school for various reasons. Sometimes it is because they failed in a subject in regular term and want to make it up instead of staying behind their class. Sometimes it is because they have been absent a good deal during the regular session and, although they could be passed, it is better for them to have a little more practice and training in certain difficult branches before they start the new school year. In still other cases, it is because they want to get ahead, to finish the full school course in a year or a term less time. Finally, some pupils go to summer school for the simple but surprising reason that they like it. The summer term is short. It leaves ample time for vacation fun before the fall term begins. The classes are small. The teachers have time to give individual attention to pupils.

A summer teacher in a high school remarked, "The children enjoy the summer work. One little girl told me it was more fun to come to school than just fool around at home."

All this popularity of summer schools is interesting. It may hasten the day of all-year-round schools, with short holidays between them instead of two long semesters with long summer vacation.

Metropolitan Curfew

"Curfew" used to be rung at 7, 8 or 9 o'clock, according to season and place, when the curfew was a real thing. Then the good wife "covered fire," people came in off the streets, city gates were locked, and soon everybody went to bed.

People lived, on the whole, naturally and healthily in those times—until epidemics carried them off.

Modern lighting has greatly prolonged the evening. So we find New Yorkers, mostly financially interested persons, objecting to Mayor Walker's "curfew law" closing places of entertainment and refreshment at 3 a. m. A strangely deferred curfew, our ancestors would have thought it.

Many persons don't want to go home at 3 a. m. But probably a more or less paternal city government owes it to them, and to the community that they often disturb by night, to give them an impulse homeward before dawn comes. A little sleep will do them good, and do the city good.

In fact, a little more sleep would do this whole nation good. There are so many new and engrossing kinds of nocturnal entertainment that often the leisure hours after the day's work is done are wrested from their proper purpose and unfit people for the next day's work instead of preparing them for it. Half our "nerves" and "break-downs" and "degenerative diseases of middle age" would be prevented by adequate and regular sleep.

Rewards of Art

Bud Fisher, famous comic artist, sued for divorce by his French countess wife, is asked for $3,000 a month alimony, $5,000 for expenses and $10,000 counsel fee pending settlement of the case. It is stated by friend countess wife that Bud admits spending $100,000 a year for living expenses, and pays $15,000 a year to the trainer of his racing stable.

America subtly manifests its democratic opposition to royalty by entertaining royal visitors to death.

Brazil might organize a Portuguese league of nations, and have any office she wanted.

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, July 1. — In a few weeks New York will prepare to return from the country. And enjoy a little comfort. Sepia complexions will be on parade in smart cafes as a reminder to those forced to stay in town that the wearers have been enjoying the great open spaces!

They will have a "well, that's over with!" look. Somehow I don't believe New Yorkers enjoy the summer isolation as much perhaps as they should. Some one foisted the notion on the social world that to remain in town during June, July and August carried a stigma. And everybody fled.

So going to the country becomes a duty more than a vacation. It is something to refer to—like a yacht. I never knew a yacht owner to keep his ownership a secret. It is the husband who suffers in this summer hegira. His life becomes a race for trains.

And when the season is over he has not yet mastered the time table. They all do it, of course, for the wife and kiddies, but it puts a crimp in their club life that is painful. Just about the time they are in the middle of hearing a new one, they look at their watch and romp to Grand Central.

Then there are the week-end visitors. I have come to believe that around New York nobody wants week-end visitors any more than the visitors want to suffer themselves to be put up in guest rooms. A guest room is where the reading lamp never works and the window always rattles.

If there has ever been a comfortable guest room I have never seen it, and I have done a lot of week-ending before taking the pledge. A guest room was designed for an unpopular step-child in the beginning and has remained true to type.

Guests spend the evening on the verandah, trying to look comfortable while the bull mosquito calls all his boy and girls friends to work on their ankles. Then they go to the guest room and read the only book there—"Modern Andirons and Their Use."

A stroll on Fifth Avenue invariably offers a spicy touch to life. Yesterday one of the strollers was a dancer, upon the front of whose linen dress was embroidered a cherry tree with branches running down the sleeves. There was also a step ladder against the tree and a figure picking cherries. She seemed utterly oblivious to the way the curious circled around her and looked back. One wag suggested it might have been a good idea to have embroidered beneath the tree: "Matinees Wednesdays and Saturdays."

The hatless fad among men so popular last summer did not gain many new recruits this year. The idea was really wafted from Hollywood, where many motion picture males go hatless. And lead a police dog.

There is one pleasant aspect of life in the country I overlooked in a flurry against it. That is the open fireplace. I think it was Max Beerbohm who said one should know a man at least seven years before poking his fire. If that is true I have committed innumerable breaches of hospitality, for I am always poking up the dying embers and laying on new logs in strange homes. It is the only feature that makes a visit bearable. Of course, the so-called country estates around New York are not the real country. They have the flavor of the summer scenes in musical comedies, where the handsome tenor in flannels sings and the girls cluster adoringly at his feet.

Find Shell Fossils in Well.

In drilling an oil well recently near Medicine Hat, a stratum of fish and shell fossils was found. The fossils were struck at a depth of 3720 feet and it was apparent that they were being washed into the well. Other finds were reported. Iron pyrites and talcum were found at varying depths, the talcum rock being about 750 feet down.

PROTECTING THE GENTLER SEX

A certain young lady who gives interpretative dances in rather scanty costume was engaged to go to a staid community in New England and dance before the local dramatic and literary society.

The day after her appearance the entertainment committee—all women—held a meeting to discuss the affair of the night before. Several had been heard, when one member raised her voice.

"Personally," she said, "I enjoyed it ever so much. To me it was most artistic and symbolic and everything. But if you ask me, I must say this: It certainly was no place to take a nervous man!"

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Chemists In Industry.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 1. — Early last year the wood alcohol industry reports showed that it was in a prosperous condition with excellent business prospects. Within sixty days this industry, which has more than $100,000,000 invested in it and turns out an annual product valued at a third of that amount, had received a body blow, the full effects of which have not yet been determined.

This was due to the simultaneous discoveries by a Frenchman and a German of a process for manufacturing methanol, which is the scientific name for the kind of alcohol that is distilled from wood, that is very much cheaper than the distillation process. If all that the inventors of the new process claim for it is true it is said that the wood alcohol industry in its present form will cease to exist.

This is cited as a sample of the things that chemists are doing to and for industry. For the most part, the things they are doing are helpful. Improved products and lowered production costs are the results that they achieve regularly. However, occasionally there comes from the laboratory a new process that works havoc with an old industry, unless it happens that that industry has had the foresight to do the experimenting that led to the discovery, and is able to adjust itself accordingly.

Chemists say that their field is as broad as all industry. Everything that we touch, see, smell; everything that we use, light, heat, transportation; everything that we consume, food, clothing—everything, is a chemical compound of some kind or another and can, in time, be reproduced synthetically.

Therefore it is said that the industry that does not keep step with the progress of modern chemical research is likely to get a jolt at any moment that may prove fatal to it and distressing to its stockholders.

"The American investor owes himself the obligation of supporting the managers of industry who are looking ahead and of forcing those who are not to wake up," says one of the experts.

The Price Of Survival.

"Eternal research is the price of survival in modern industry. No investor or banker can feel sure that his interest in any security is secure in the absence of the assurance given by knowledge that science is on guard. The producer who survives modern competition is the producer whose technical advisers know what is going on in the world and whose executives know how and when to apply their knowledge."

There are some 200,000 corporations in the United States that are engaged in manufacturing, mining, transportation, and various other productive pursuits, and none of them is safe, it is declared, unless it is doing everything that can be done in the line of chemical research, or is identified with an association that is doing this work.

Industry is being revolutionized by the scientist who is developing new products and new processes every hour of every day, and not infrequently what were flourishing industries are being scrapped overnight as a result of the chemist's work in his laboratory. When this last happens, it is inevitable, of course, that new industries are created to take the place of the ones that are scrapped, but in many instances the new industries have new managers and new owners, and the managers and owners of the obsolete concerns are junked along with their enterprises.

These changes are coming more rapidly with each year that passes. It has not been so very long since the indigo growers of India, it is pointed out, lost their means of livelihood and their investment in the indigo industry as the result of the discovery of a chemical method of manufacturing a purer indigo from the waste products of coke manufacture, but since that time the chemist has discovered how to make artificial silk, artificial dyes, artificial rubber, and many other vitally important products. Some of these as yet do not compare favorably with the natural products—synthetic rubber, for instance—but it is only a question of time, the chemists claim, until they supplant the products of nature.

Often Improve Upon Nature.

Moreover, it is asserted that the chemist not only succeeds in duplicating the products of nature in most cases, but often he actually improves upon the natural product, making a stronger, purer, and more lasting thing than nature can or does turn out, and more beautiful, too. The chemist's colors—some of them—have no counterpart in nature and are much more brilliant and enduring.

Some of the country's greatest industries are subject to the hazards of revolutionary change quite as great as that which the chemist has brought about in the wood alcohol industry. Take the oil industry as an example. At this very moment there may be in some laboratory a process in the course of development or even actually perfected that will produce a fuel that will be a substitute for gasoline, and when that happens the oil industry will have either to re-discover how gasoline once was made and sold at less than ten cents the gallon or develop a new use for the volatile product that is as universal as that for which it wil be supplanted.

Chemistry's most significant contribution to industry, however, is said to be in the lowering of production costs, rather than in the displacing of existing products, and it also serves notably in turning out better and purer products. The chemist is not a destroyer; he is a builder, a purifier, and a simplifier, as well as a creator. He achieves some of his greatest results, also, in the utilization of waste products or by-products.

An illustration of the latter that is frequently pointed out is what Henry Ford does with coal. The flivver king gets by-products out of a ton of coal that in the aggregate are worth two or three times the value of the coal as

DR. W. B. CALDWELL AT THE AGE OF 83

Constipation! How to Keep Bowels Regular

To Dr. W. B. Caldwell, of Monticello, Ill., a practicing physician for 47 years, it seemed cruel that so many constipated men, women, children, and particularly old folks, had to be kept constantly "stirred up" and half sick by taking cathartic pills, tablets, salts, calomel and nasty oils.

While he knew that constipation was the cause of nearly all headaches, biliousness, indigestion and stomach misery, he did not believe that a sickening "purge" or "physic" was necessary.

In Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin he discovered a laxative which helps to establish natural bowel "regularity" even for those chronically constipated. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin not only causes a gentle, easy bowel movement, but, best of all, it never gripes, sickens, or upsets the system. Besides, it is absolutely harmless, and so pleasant that even a cross, feverish, bilious, sick child gladly takes it.

Well Known Lady Gets Relief After Five Years of Rheumatism

Was so bad at times she couldn't even walk or raise her arms Gained complete relief after taking Dreco for six weeks.

"For over five years I suffered so with rheumatism that every joint and muscle in my body ached," says Mrs. Martha Krantz, 2408 Larkyns Way, South Side, Pittsburgh, Pa.

"I was unable to do any of my housework and for months at a time was not able to help myself around. At such times I couldn't walk or even raise my arms to my head. I had to be helped from my bed six or seven times a night to relieve my kidneys. Losing so much sleep made me nervous and cross and even a chair scraping across the floor would irritate me.

"I was always constipated and had a stale taste in my mouth and a coated tongue. I was subject to severe headaches and suffered so with my stomach I lost all appetite for food, which made me lose lots of weight. Believe me, I was a very sick woman and I didn't believe there was a thing in the world that would help me.

"Then I learned of Dreco and in six weeks this wonderful remedy has made me completely well. I'm enjoying my meals better than I have in years and never had the least trouble with indigestion or constipation afterwards. The headaches have vanished entirely. I can sleep soundly all night thru, and my body is as free from rheumatism as any baby's. I can almost cry for joy now that Dreco has made me well and I recommend it to everyone I meet."

50,000 WILL GO TO SEATTLE EAGLES' MEET

Annual Convention Will be Held August 9 to 14.

Pacific Fleet Will be Anchored There During Session.

SEATTLE, Wash., July 1—Extensive preparations are being made by Seattle Aerie No. 1 of Eagles for "Home Coming Week," when the twenty-eighth annual convention will be held here August 9 to 14, inclusive.

Plans for entertaining more than 50,000 guests are well under way and many added attractions have been secured for the entertainment of the visitors.

Prizes totaling more than $12,000 have been offered for drill teams, bands, ritualistic contests to be open to the public.

Seattle, the play ground of the Northwest, offers every attraction possible for the guest. Its ideal location on Puget Sound, with the snow covered Cascade range on the East and the Olympic mountains on the West make it the wonder spot of this section.

The Pacific fleet will be anchored in Seattle waters during the convention week and the Pacific Northwest Merchants Exposition will also hold its annual show.

Hotel facilities are ample to care for the big crowd expected, while more than $100,000 has been raised for entertainment.

All local golf clubs will throw their links open to the visitors, assuring them plenty of opportunities to play, while the big lakes surrounding Seattle offer ideal swimming, yachting and fishing attractions.

Secluded Camp Becomes Nation's Political Center As Coolidges Flee Heat of Capital for Summer

Swedish Crown Princess Says Nothing to Criticize In U. S.

—Once Popular Song.

Being a princess places certain obligations on one, and raising a racket (and also roses) seems out of the picture until you hear the Crown Princess Louise of Sweden confess that that such is her favorite sport. Not the traditional "sport of kings" but that of a modern princess who says when asked of hobbies:

"I play a little bad tennis."

Gardening is really her favorite pastime. She tells you with a glow in her hazen eyes:

"English roses grow beautifully in Swedish gardens. They don't seem to mind transplanting."

And this lovely young British princess has weathered transplanting from her own land to Sweden's court. She possesses gratifying chic which, strangely enough, withholds itself from the camera, so that you behold a royal elegance that too seldom exists among the highly placed. She says of American women:

Her Costume.

"I have always had lots of American women friends, but I find them even more charming in their own country I think, perhaps, one is always best against one's own background."

Feminine eyes eagerly took in details of the princess' costume—beige tailored frock, nude stockings and light kid one-strap slippers to match her gown; broad-brimmed hat of black transparent straw with a wide rose velvet ribbon twisted smartly about its crown and tucked under the brim with a matching rose or two; rose and white figured chiffon scarf about her throat.

"Look at that lovely old fashioned jewelry the Princess wears," one of the company whispered. So it was—old fashioned—wide yellow-gold wedding ring, the conventional solitaire, neither too big nor too small, and a simple size sapphire of a style that begun at least fifteen years ago.

Likes Silk Stockings.

"I would like to do some shopping in New York," said the Princess. "Especially for silk stockings. We have good ones in our own country, but there is something about American silk stockings that is simply wonderful. I shall take home quantities of them."

The Princess smoked while she talked, using a long, plain black holder, which she held at an angle of 45 degrees.

"I don't see much difference in skirt lengths here and back home," she replied to a question. "Styles are the same everywhere.

"Fashions have grown comfortable, and I am sure they will stay that way.

"The Charleston? Oh, I saw that in Paris. It looks like fun, doesn't it? I love your theatre. We saw "Craig's Wife,' the play of the woman who loved her home too much. In America you don't have to wait between the acts as long as we do on the other side.

Didn't Try Subway.

"I didn't try the subway. Didn't want to. I know one thing I should like to do in New York—walk, and walk and walk.

"If you ask me if I have noticed a distinct American type in women, I should say yes—that it is rather on the tall side, slender, graceful.

American cooking? The Princess likes it.

"I like your hot rolls and lobster. All your food is splendid.

"Of course I found charming—the Americans who have entertained me."

The Princess laughed at the question someone asked, as if she could not or would not say otherwise. Talking on with her cigarette holder hanging from the corner of her mouth:

Women Advanced.

"Women of Sweden are advanced, that's true. They are interested in labor movements, in feminism and in education, in work for children and in better hospitals. But I think women should, and most of them do, place their homes first in importance."

Ahead of her when she returns is a pleasant Summer working in her garden. Of this she confides:

"In the Summer we can keep to ourselves more. We can be quiet and talk and plan."

Her slender hands seemed to tremble a little as she took the burned-out cigarette from its holder and arose to say goodbye. The Crown Princess is quiet and retiring and very likely would prefer not to be interviewed.

"No, I shan't criticize anything in America,' she said. "I see nothing to criticize."

500,000 AWAIT ADMISSION TO UNITED STATES

GATES CLOSED

Irish Free State Alone Did Not Send Number Allowed.

WASHINGTON, July 1.—With the closing of the government's fiscal year today, immigration quotas were exhausted and more than a half million foreigners were vainly seeking admission to the United States.

Under the present quota law many must wait three years or more before making legal entry.

Of the larger countries it was indicated that the Irish Free State alone would fail to exhaust its quota. The number allowed Germany, Great Britain, Norway, Poland, France and other large countries had been reached some time ago.

The restrictive immigration law permitted 164,657 immigrants to enter the country during the year ending today.

During the next fiscal year more than 71 per cent of the European immigrants will be examined abroad by American consuls, state department officials declare.

In the past many aliens have sold their slender possessions and sailed for the United States, only to be told at Ellis island that they must go back.

Atlantic-Pacific Company Increases Advertising Funds

Announcement comes from the main offices of The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea company in Jersey City, that the company's advertising appropriation for the current year will show an increase of $500,000.

A&P, as it is known throughout the country, is a large and consistent user of newspaper advertising space, and the bulk of the advertising increase this year is being devoted to newspapers for the furtherance of local retail business in every community where A&P is established. A magazine campaign will also be inaugurated.

The familiar red front of the A&P store is to be seen in practically every neighborhood trading center in the larger cities, and in the smaller communities as well.

The administrative and buying organization of the A&P is world-wide. In London, England, is a purchasing office with a complete purchasing staff. Food brokers from all parts of Europe travel regularly to London to offer their merchandise to A&P. In South America, A&P maintains five coffee-purchasing offices—one at Santos, Brazil; one at Rio de Janeiro and three in Colombia. These buyers make several trips into the interior each season, 300 and 400 miles, to the coffee plantations, where they inspect and examine the coffee in the growing bean, on the trees.

In San Francisco, A&P maintain fruit and vegetable purchasing headquarters. Its salmon fisheries in Alaska are operated for the exclusive use of the company stores. Other representatives are scattered throughout the Orient.

Kills Pesky Bed-Bugs

Doctors declare that bed-bugs and other vermin are the most to be feared means of spreading such diseases as consumption, spinal meningitis and other infectious troubles. There is no disgrace in getting bed-bugs in your home, because that can't be avoided. But it is a disgrace to permit them to remain and thrive when it is so easy to get rid of them with the new chemical compound, P.D.Q., which quickly puts an end to these pesky devils.

A Million Bed-bugs

A 35-cent package of this golden chemical will make a quart of a mixture that is so deadly to bed-bugs that it would kill a million of them if you could get that many together. Instantly it smothers and annihilates the living creatures, coats their eggs and stops them from hatching and multiplying.

Cut This Out

Your druggist has P.D.Q. and will be glad to furnish it for 35 cents. One package makes a quart of the mixture and is equal to a barrel of old-fashioned bug-killer. Don't accept a substitute. If your druggist hasn't P.D.Q. write Owl Chemical Co., Terre Haute, Ind., sending us your name and 35 cents and we will send you a package postage prepaid to your address.

Will Not Damage Goods

P.D.Q. will not injure delicate fabrics, clothing, carpets, furniture, bedding, wall paper or woodwork. In fact, it is often used as a deodorizer and disinfectant.

Kills Fleas on Dogs

If your pet dog is infested with fleas take a little P.D.Q. mixture in your hand and rub into the fur. Then watch the fleas move. They will be dead before they hit the floor.

Moths

Very simple to rid these pests from furs or clothing. Just follow the directions on each package. Impossible for moths to exist with the proper use of P.D.Q. A treatment on garments will prevent moths for two years.

For Ants and Cockroaches

P.D.Q. In Liquid Form

P.D.Q. can be purchased in sealed bottles double strength liquid form, with patent spout free. P.D.Q. Liquid can be diluted to make a quart or it can be used pure.

P.D.Q. is marketed in two style packages, Liquid form 50c, ready for use and P.D.Q. Dry form, 35c. Each package makes one quart.

Miss Jeannette Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Jones, of Newell, W. Va., and Roy Maloney, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Maloney, of Church alley, were married at noon today at the home of the bride's parents, with Dr. J. G. Reinartz, pastor of St. John's Lutheran church, officiating.

The bride was gowned in cream georgette combined with point lace, and she carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses and lilies of the valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Maloney left this afternoon for a honeymoon trip to Philadelphia, Canada and lake points. After July 15 they will be at home to friends at 129½ West Fifth street.

Bridge Party at Porter Home.

The second of a series of bridge parties was given yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Sidney Porter, of Newell. Eight tables were in play. Trophies were presented Mesdames H. Dan Smith and Walter Hewitt.

Refreshments were served by the hostess. Summer flowers were used in the appointments.

Bible Class Session.

Members of the Berean Bible class of Pleasant Heights will be received tonight at the home of Mrs. Mentor Shenkle, of Northside avenue. The first chapter of Exodus will be reviewed by Mrs. Shenkle. The devotionals will be in charge of Mrs. William Good.

Community Club Reorganized.

The Community club of East End was reorganized last evening, when a meeting was held in the East End fire station. The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. May Hutchison; vice-president, H. A. Miller; secretary, John N. Hughes; treasurer, Miss Florence Stuttler; chaplain, I. N. Hughes; trustees, Frank Stuttler, F. E. Dailey and Mrs. Earl Hughes; social chairman, Mrs. Zella Stuttler; entertainment chairman, Mrs. Kathryn Anderson. Three new members were enrolled.

At the close of the business session, an old-fashioned box social was held. Eighteen members were present.

On next Wednesday evening, officers will be installed, after which the social committee will serve a surprise luncheon, honoring the newly elected officers.

On Monday evening Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Thoms, of LaCroft, will entertain the club members.

Mrs. Russell Floyd Hostess.

Members of the Always Ready class of the Nazarene church were entertained Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Russell Floyd, of Gardendale. The devotionals were in charge of the president, Mrs. Fred Stoffer, after which a short business session was conducted. The class donated clothing for a mission school in Kentucky.

Luncheon was served by Mrs. Floyd, assisted by Mrs. Greenwood and Mrs. C. F. Brindley.

Japanese Weddings Too Costly; Discuss Plan to Cut Expense

TOKIO.—Weddings in Japan are too expensive and a movement to cut down nuptial expenditures has been launched by the Ladies' Thrift & Savings society. The movement is a part of a nation-wide thrift campaign launched by the organization. Other economies recommended by the society include non-use of silk in dresses for school girls, a reduction in the number of servants per household, and the complete abolition of smoking and drinking.

fuel, or its cost to mine and transport to Detroit.

It is interesting to know, also of the research work in another line. During the present summer a series of tests will be carried out at the Bureau of Standards, Washington, on the fastness to light colored textiles and printing inks, at the instance of the American Association of Textile Chemists and Colorists. The dyeings have been made by some twenty cooperating laboratories, and the samples to be tested will be divided into sets, each set consisting of 1047 dyeings divided equally among cotton, wool, and silk colors. They represent several hundred of the important textile dyes dyed in either of two or in three strengths.

The printing inks to be tested represent the important organic dye lakes and pigments and the inorganic pigments in several strengths. The total number of samples to be exposed is 10,710, or 9 duplicate sets of 1190 samples each.

Sciatic Neuritis

The disease is a very obstinate one and does not readily respond to ordinary treatment. It takes more than the usual pain sedative even to alleviate the pain.

The quickest, safest and surest way to get rid of the persistent nerve racking pains of Neuritis is to get a bottle of Allenrhu Special Formula No. 2, which comes in capsule form. Take them as directed and notice how in about 24 hours they have considerably reduced, if not entirely banished, all pain and soreness. Continue until the neuritis has entirely disappeared and you are able to work and rest in comfort once again. Mathews' Cut Rate Store keeps Allenrhu Special Formula No. 2 in stock all the time and sells lots of it.

Mother's Love For Children Prompts Choice of Jail Term

New Philadelphia Woman Refuses Opportunity to Return Home and Away From Tots When Arrested.

CLEVELAND, July 1.—A mother's love for her two children, caused Mrs. Donna Peters, 32, pretty brunette of New Philadelphia, to choose a stay in the Cleveland jail, where she believes she will have an opportunity to get her children, in preference to returning to her home, but away from the tots.

"My love for my children is everything. Nothing else matters, I will not leave Cleveland without them," she told Judge Moylan, in police court, when she was arraigned before him on a charge of carrying concealed weapons. The court gave her the choice of returning immediately to her home without her children or being held for the grand jury. She chose the latter.

Today she is in jail in lieu of $500 bond.

Her story is that of thwarted mother love, she said. Three years ago she was divorced from her former husband. Last Sunday he came to New Philadelphia and asked to take the children, Donald, 11, and Mary Louise, 7, for an automobile ride. She consented, Mrs. Peters said.

A few hours later her husband called and said he was going to keep the children.

The mother, almost penniless, determined to come to Cleveland and regain her children. On the way she purchased a gun in Dover. Tuesday morning she went to Peters' place of employment and drawing the gun, demanded the children. The pistol was taken from her and she was turned over to police.

The children were placed in the temporary custody of their father by Judge Baer in common pleas court. The same judge granted the divorce three years ago. He said that Peters charged his wife was unable to care for the children.

Peters, according to Judge Baer, said that humane officers at New Philadelphia a short while ago requested him to care for the children.

BAN CESSPOOLS IN EAST END

Health Board Will Order Connections With Sewer.

Cesspools, owned by property holders who have access to a sanitary sewer, are to be condemned immediately upon acceptance of the East End sanitary sewer, the board of health ordered at the monthly meeting in the clinic rooms, in the Diamond, last night.

Many property owners in the East End, it is claimed, have made no effort to connect with the sewer since its installation, but until the city approves the contract they cannot be forced to connect. The contract, it is declared, will be o. k'd shortly.

C. T. Beatty, Walnut street, appeared before the board to protest against the mixing of poisonous chemicals at the Mason Color and Chemical plant, Broadway, which, he claimed, was destroying vegetation and plant life in the neighborhood. Mason will be required to appear before the board at the next meeting.

Fifteen new cases were admitted to the clinic during the past month, Health Commissioner Fraser reported. Treatments given numbered 161. Seven cases of scarlet fever and one of diphtheria prevailed here during the month.

Mrs. Alice Davidson, registrar of vital statistics, reported 58 births and 28 deaths during the month.

NAME STUDENTS IN INN HOLD-UP

Warrants Recommended for Five Michigan University Men.

DETROIT, July 1.—Warrants charging five University of Michigan students with staging the hold-up of Harry Sowers roadhouse at Plymouth and Farmington roads June 2, in which two patrons were shot, were recommended today by James E. Chznot, assistant prosecutor.

Clare Monroe, 20, of Ann Arbor, is under arrest and has admitted driving the automobile, according to deputy sheriffs. Two of the others sought are Charles A. Johnson, of Ironwood, Mich., and Lawrence O'Farrell, of Iron Mountain, Mich. The names of two have not been obtained.

According to deputy sheriffs the students staged the robbery to get funds for their summer vacations.

About $400 in cash and $1,000 worth of jewelry was obtained in the robbery.

Jack Zimmerman and James F. English, patrons, shot during the hold-up, recovered.

Many Lives Lost When Storm Sweeps Salonica District

ATHENS, July 1.—Serious loss of life occurred at Salonica and throughout Macedonia today when the region was swept by storms of unusual violence.

Prepare Five More Illinois Election Fraud Indictments

CHICAGO, July 1.—Five or more indictments charging election frauds in the April primaries have been prepared here, it was announced today.

The indictments are understood to be scheduled for presentation to Chief Justice Lynch of the criminal court when the June grand jury is dismissed tomorrow.

The July grand jury, summoned to meet next Tuesday, will delve into alleged wholesale vote stealing and fradulent returns indicated by the recount being conducted under direction of County Judge Jarecki.

naped, carried into Mexico, held prisoner, etc. Some reporter suggested that there was a "love mystery." Not at all. The lady will only marry a man six feet tall at least, able to play the trombone, a good singer, "a good and holy man," and also a preacher. It sounds like a difficult combination.

CHANG TSO-LIN, Manchurian dictator, is conferring with his rival and enemy, Wu Pei-Fu, in Pekin, and China may have peace—for a while.

Streets were sprinkled with golden sand, flowery arches erected by the people to welcome the war lords. Chang brought 100,000 troops into Pekin. Wu brought only 30,000.

All that is as old as the great wall.

The strange thing is to see people with golden sand and flowers welcoming men that put them to cutting each other's throats.

ROME will build subways, and Mussolini, who respects the past, will avoid as far as possible running fast trains through the Catacombs. If the old bones of the early Christians and others could think, how would they explain electric trains rushing through the ground with the crowds of the living? Would they believe those trains on their way to the infernal regions, an improvement on Charon's slow old boat?

Charon, son of night, and grandson of Chaos, is replaced by electricity and modern engineering.

ROY D. FINCH, New York's able state engineer, shows that neglect to harness the St. Lawrence costs New York state 10,000,000 tons of coal every year. Waste does not disturb the American people.

leased under $100 bond for his appearance in court at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning. Kessler was fined $10 and costs upon a charge of intoxication. Thompson's brother, who appeared at the city hall this morning to claim the car, told the police it had been taken from the garage yesterday morning without his knowledge or consent. Donohew and Mrs. Farrow will appear at the hearing against Robert Thompson tomorrow.

Crash at Intersection.

The crash at the corner of Washington and Fifth street occurred when a Jewett car, owned by Lewis Pollitt, Railroad street, and driven by his brother-in-law, William Martes, also of Railroad street, collided with a Nash sedan, driven by Alonzo G. Sells, 1,200 Harker avenue.

Sells, accompanied by his wife and Miss Alice Putnam, Pennsylvania avenue, on their way to the Edwin M. Knowles' pottery, Newell, where they are employed, was traveling west in Fifth street while Martes, accompanied by his nephew, William McGrew, was headed north in Washington street.

Sells claims that he attempted to avert the accident by swinging his car to the right and believes the accident would not have occurred had it not been for a woman who was standing on the street near the Ogilvie store preparing to cross. Martes machine struck the rear end of the Sells sedan, overturning it on the street.

Woman Taken to Hospital.

Miss Putnam was placed in a passing automobile and taken to the hospital where her injuries, caused mainly by flying class, were dressed by Dr. R. J. Marshall. None of the others was injured.

Patrolman Norman McFarland, who investigated the crash, ordered Martes, McGrew, Pollitt and Sells to appear in police court, where an investigation was made. He filed a charge of fast and reckless driving against Martes.

Upon the witness stand, both Sells and Martes admitted having exceeded the speed limit, which is 15 miles per hour at street intersections. Solicitor Hoover then filed a charge of fast and reckless driving against Sells, who was fined $1 and costs. A fine of $10 and costs was assessed against Martes, who agreed to settle for the damages done to Sells' car.

Martes and McGrew are employed at the Hall China company's plant. They had just driven Pollitt, who is employed by Peter Milliron, to work a few minutes before the accident occurred.

ROBBERS FLEE WITH $75,000 PERSIAN RUG

Three Men Loot Art Institute at Detroit.

Escape in Auto When Policeman Approaches Them.

DETROIT, July 1.—Three robbers who apparently spent the night removing treasures from the walls of the Art institute, East Jefferson avenue and Rivard street, fled with the $75,000 Persian rug recently given the institute by Mr. and Mrs. Edsel Ford, when a policeman interrupted them as they carried loot out early today.

Seeing the policeman, approaching as if to question them, the trio paused only long enough to deposit on the sidewalk a $28,000 Florentine bust they were carrying. Leaping into their car, they fled before the officer could shoot.

Investigating, the policeman found that a Franz Hals canvas recently donated to the museum had been removed from the wall and laid on the balcony, ready for transfer to the car. Several other items were also believed missing, but determination of the robbery's extent awaited an inventory of the museum.

William Brown, Negro night watchman, slept peacefully throughout the robbery.

About a year ago, a valuable collection of gems was found to have been removed from the institute, paste substitutes being left in its place. This mystery has never been cleared up.

A rope hanging from the third floor window had been used, apparently, to lower the loot to the ground, whence the trio below transferred it to their car. If a fourth man was inside lowering the loot, however, he escaped by some other exit, and no trace of him was found.

101 RANCH SHOW AGENT IN CITY

Advertising Car No. 1 Will Arrive Here Tomorrow.

Allen J. Lester, special representative for the Miller Brothers 101 Ranch Wild West Show, was in East Liverpool yesterday to arrange for the tented organization to exhibit at Columbian park, Saturday July 17.

Advertising car No. 1 is scheduled to arrive here tomorrow to begin the billing. The second advertising car will come about a week ahead of the show.

The show will come here from New Brighton where it will exhibit on Friday, July 16, and will go from East Liverpool into Pittsburgh where it will make a two-day stand on July 19 and 20. Dates in Cleevland, Massillon and Alliance will also be filled during the week.

Next to the Ringling Brothers-Barnum Bailey circus, the 101 Ranch is the largest tented organization on the road. Sixty railroad cars, traveling in two sections, are required to move the show which requires the same amount of field space as does the "biggest show on earth." Seating arrangements for 10,000 persons are provided in the tents.

A twwo-mile street parade will be given at 12 o'clock. The tentative route for the parade is Pennsylvania avenue to Mulberry street to St. George street, River road to Broadway to Third street to Jefferson street to Sixth street to Broadway and thence back to the show grounds along the River road. More than 100 Cossocks, Indians, buffalo, cowboys, cowgirls, elephants, dozens of cages of wild animals from the jungles of Africa, hundreds of horses and three bands will take part in the parade.

Afternoon and evening performances will be given.

MELLON DENIES FRENCH REPORT

WASHINGTON, July 1.—Secretary of the Treasury Mellon today authorized a denial of a story cabled from Paris that he had been in private communication with Finance Minister Caillaux and had given him assurances that article 7 of the Franco-American debt agreement would not be enforced.

Secretary Mellon said he had neither received nor sent M. Caillaux any communication regarding the terms of the debt pact.

Four Traffic Lanes Are Marked Along West Eighth Street

The department of public safety has completed the marking of West Eighth and Lisbon streets as a means of eliminating the traffic hazard which has prevailed at this point since the resurfacing of West Eighth street.

West Eighth street, beginning at a point near the Litten filling station, has been lined with white paint, making four lanes. The lane on the extreme north side of the street will be for north-bound traffic toward Lisbon. The second lane from the north is for southbound traffic from Lisbon. The third lane is for west-bound traffic to Wellsville, while the lane on the lower side of the street is for east-bound traffic from Wellsville. Each lane is approximately 10 feet in width, making it possible for four cars to travel abreast.

Automobile drivers are urged by the police to observe these markings and remain within the lines they intend to travel as a means of averting accidents.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, June 1.—Railroad stocks led the forward movement in prices in the early trading in the stock market today. The public utility stocks moved up briskly under the lead of Consolidated Gas, and low priced motor stocks were active and strong, with Chrysler and Willys Overland in the front position. Profit taking in the industrials resulted in a slightly lower range of prices for most of the speculative leaders which have been making market history in recent weeks.

Vigorous action of the pools in Willys Overland, Allied Chemical, Consolidated Gas and a few other specialty stocks made their favorite stocks the most spectacular performers on the road.

Interest in the Railroad shares was stimulated by announcement that the directors of Erie would meet today to consider the revised plans for the Van Sweringen Nickel Plate merger. Frisco common, New Haven and Rock Island sold up about 2 points on the average, at the head of the rails. Oil stocks were inactive and generally reactionary, though losses were slight.

A 6-point decline in the French franc brought that currency to 2.75 the lowest in history. Call money was fractionally higher at 3¾ per cent.

OHIO IS ASKED TO REPEAL OLD PRIMARY LAW

Petition Proposes New Plan of Nominating Candidates.

Would Abolish Large Expenditures of Funds in Campaigns.

COLUMBUS, July 1.—Business and politics, joined hands here today in launching a campaign for the repeal of the present primary election law and pledged support to a proposal which embodies features of the present law and the old convention form of nominating candidates for state offices.

A petition which has already been approved by Attorney General C. C. Crabbe and which outlines the principles of the new nominating plan, was filed with Secretary of State Thad H. Brown today.

Sponsors of the new proposal include some of the most prominent men in the business and political life of the state. Charles L. Knight, publisher of the Akron Beacon-Journal, and one of the state's chief political leaders, is chairman of the committee working for the petition's adoption. Other members include Robert A. Taft, of Cincinnati, speaker of the house of representatives in the state legislature; Louis H. Brush, Salem, widely known newspaper publisher; former Governor Harry L. Davis, of Cleveland, and H. H. Timken, of Canton, wealthy manufacturer.

Summary of Plan.

Summarized, the new plan would empower the state legislature to select the manner in which nominations shall be made, but provides that should the convention form be adopted, the delegates to such convention shall be elected by direct vote of the people. It provides also that the various counties may nominate candidates by either convention or primary, but in every instance delegates must be elected by popular vote.

One of the principal arguments advanced for the new proposal is that it would abolish large expenditures in securing nominations.

Chairman Knight, in a statement outlining the plan, said:

"When we have reached the point that no governor can be nominated for a $10,000 office without spending for such nomination from $50,000 to $100,000 then it is time to call a halt. The primary system as it now is has driven out of public life our able men who will no longer submit to long and arduous campaigns in a field of political adventure. Any system of selecting candidates which puts a premium on wealth drives the poor out of politics or compels him to seek financial assistance from those who seldom give it unless through the expectation of being amply repaid at the people's expense.

Better Government is Aim.

"We believe this amendment, if adopted, will restore responsible party government, will induce abler men to enter public life, will do away with the disgraceful use of large sums of money to procure nominations and will cause all parties to consider principles rather than expedients."

The statement also said the campaign for adoption as being financed by men who are not now seeking, or expect to seek, public office and who have no plans or expectations to realize other than that they may bring about better government for the state of Ohio.

vote, on account of the interim of ten days, which must elapse after the return of the ordinance, I feel fully justified in assuming the responsibility thereto.

"Casualties of past years have been so numerous and so serious that many communities have adopted measures similar to Ordinance 2041, passed by your body on Feb. 18th last.

"If any additional reason for a measure such as the one under controversy were needed, allow me to suggest that our city has suffered many disastrous fires within the past year, so frequently in fact that some of the insurance companies, that have been carrying local risks for more than 50 years, have withdrawn and refuse to do business until conditions improve.

"Human life and safety as well as property will be conserved by allowing Ordinance 2041 to remain in full force and effect and, before another year, it should be strengthened by prohibiting the sale as well as the use of fireworks."

Jurist Denies $100,000 Bribe Otter For Pennsy Primary

WASHINGTON, July 1.—The reported offer of a $100,000 bribe by the organization of Representative William S. Vare, victor in Pennsylvania's $3,000,000 Republican senatorial primary, to "buy off" the opposition of Judge Frank X. O'Conner, a Philadelphia magistrate, was clouded with further mystery today when O'Conner reappeared before the senate slush fund committee to deny the story again.

O'Conner said he never had given the story of the bribe offer to Philadelphia newspaper men, although three Philadelphia reporters since have testified under oath that the Philadelphia magistrate told them of the alleged offer.

O'Conner walked into the hearing just as the committee was about to send a deputy sergeant-at-arms to arrest him. He had delayed responding to a subpoena for the last two weeks.

Reed Reads Press Story.

Senator Reed, of Missouri, began the questioning of O'Conner by referring to a Philadelphia newspaper story, printed on the day after the Pennsylvania election, which said the Philadelphia magistrate had accused the Vare organization of offering him a bribe of $100,000 to withdraw his opposition to Vare in the senatorial race.

"Vare tried to buy off my opposition to his candidacy for the United States Senate," the story quoted O'Conner as saying. "He first offered me $75,000 to withdraw my opposition to him in the 48th ward. This I refused, and then on the last day on which I could withdraw my candidacy for congress, he offered me $100,000. This I declined."

Reed then read the reply O'Conner gave the committee on his earlier appearance. It was: "I am not responsible for that story in any shape or form. So far as the statements are concerned, I never made them. They are manufactured."

Denies Illinois Quiz Call.

Reports that a subpoena had been issued for Samuel Insull, the Chicago magnate, as the first step in the Illinois investigation, were denied by Senator Reed, D. of Missouri. Reed said the Illinois inquiry would not be started until the middle of next month and that no subpoenas would be issued until then.

Charles S. Wood, national campaign manager of the Association against the prohibition amendment, was the first witness.

Wood took the stand as a volunteer witness when the committee learned that other witnesses, subpoenaed for today were not present. He was questioned by Senator King, D., of Utah.

"On the 29th of September, a state conference of wets was held in Philadelphia," said Wood. "As a result of that meeting, we organized the Pennsylvania Committee for Modification of the Volstead Act. That really became our campaign committee."

After he was named national campaign manager, January 1, Wood said, he left the modification committee conduct the Pennsylvania campaign. Fred W. Brill of Philadelphia, he added, was chairman of the Pennsylvania committee.

Wood also told of the organization of the "voluntary committee of 76" in Pennsylvania. This committee "merely raised money to be spent as it saw fit for our purposes but none was spent in the Pennsylvania primary," Wood said.

TRAP CATCHES ALLEGED THIEF

Colliers Farmer Shoots When Bell Warns of Sheep Raid.

A trap set by John Swearingen, a farmer residing near Colliers, early yesterday caught a man suspected of thefts of sheep from Brooke county farms.

The "catch," Nick Drugovich, believed to be a resident of Steubenville, is in the Brooke county jail at Wellsburg nursing wounds in his back where he was struck by a charge of small shot fired by Swearingen.

Swearingen, when his neighbors reported thefts of sheep, had tied to the door of his sheep shed a string running into his house where it connected with a small bell. If the door was opened, the bell would ring and sound an alarm.

Hearing the bell tinkle Swearingen seized his shotgun and ran to the shed where he found a man butchering a sheep. He called upon him to surrender, but the suspect fled. Swearingen fired first at the ground near the man's feet, but when the fugitive did not halt, he fired a charge of shot into his back.

Swearingen reported the shooting to Constable Harry Johnson of Colliers, who took the wounded man to jail at Wellsburg. He will be given a hearing tonight before Justice C. K. Jacob of Wellsburg.

It is said that a companion of Drugovich made his escape on a motorcycle.

COAL PRODUCTION SHOWS INCREASE

Actual figures, taken from the records of 1,208 mines, showed an increase of 21,018,220 tons of coal in West Virginia in 1925 over 1924, according to a report being compiled at the state department of mines and mining. Figures showing the actual business at the mines by counties will be published later in the annual report of the department.

The actual production in 1925 at 1,208 mines and allowing 1,000,000 tons for the wagon mines, was 123,061,985, compared with a total production in 1924 of 101,943,765 tons in 1924.

The total of coke produced in the state in 1925 was 503,789 tons.

The value of all coal sold was $205,581,018, and the average price received for it in 1925 was $1.69 per ton. The total received for coke was $2,329,926.51 at the average price of $4.66 a ton.

The reasons assigned for the increase in production in 1925 are the Pennsylvania strike of last year, which brought West Virginia coal additional markets; the growing reputation of the superior quality of the coal in this state and the increased demand of coal for by-product purposes.

Counties in the southern section of the state made the greatest gains in production.

Additional figures show that the number of employes at all mines in the state in 1925 was 111,708, including 92,911 inside men and 18,797 outside. Of these Kanawha county mines employed a total of 6,362, including 5,406 inside and 956 outside. McDowell county employed 19,748, including 15,026 inside and 4,722 outside.

OUTING PLANNED BY POULTRYMEN

Thursday, July 8, is the date set by the poultrymen of West Virginia for their first annual picnic which will be held in the Ohio valley near Parkersburg on the farm of E. S. Humphrey, in Wood county.

There is to be an inspection of Mr. Humphrey's farm and poultry plant from 10 o'clock in the morning until noon. Mr. Humphrey is president of the West Virginia Poultry association, and is a poultryman who knows his business and is making it pay dividends. He has a mammoth incubator practices trap-nesting and pedigreeing, and has birds in his flock with high egg production records.

The picnic is open to every one interested in poultry. Large delegations from all parts of the state are expected.

STATE OFFICIALS RETAIN PLACES

Governor Gore last night announced the reappointment of George F. Daugherty as labor commissioner, and Clifford R. Myers as state historian and archivist.

Mr. Daugherty's term expired February 28, 1925, and has held over for the 16 intervening months. His new commission is retroactive to the date of the expiration of his old term, and will expire February 28, 1929.

Mr. Myers' term expired October 1, 1925, and his new commission will expire October 1, 1929.

Mr. Daugherty, who is a former railroad engineer and a resident of Mercer county, was appointed to succeed the late Samuel Montgomery. He now is in his second term.

Ministers Object to "Militarizing Mails;" Ask President's Aid

GREENSBORO, N. C.—President Coolidge's influence has been solicited by the Greensboro Ministerial association to put a stop to "militarization" of the mails.

The association doesn't like the way Uncle Sam cancels his stamps. A resolution was adopted by the ministerial body condemning the use of the slogan, "Let's go—Citizen's Military Training Camp."

The association wrote the president, in part:

"We believe this use of the mails creates the impression abroad that we are a militaristic nation, and that it suggests to the youth of our land that international differences are to be settled by war rather than by justice and reason.

"Furthermore, the use of this cancellation stamp on the mail of those who do not believe in the training camp makes them the unwilling promoter of a system of which they do not approve."

Japan's Ministry is Popularly Known as Adopted Son's Cabinet

TOKIO.—Japan's present ministry is popularly know as the "Yoshi" or "adopted sons" cabinet. Six members of the cabinet, including Premier Reijiro Wakatsuki, have "married" their names and been adopted by their fathers-in-law, a practice which is common in Japan.

The other "yoshi" in the cabinet are Yuko Hamaguchi, home minister; Tasuki Egi, minister of Justice; Seiji Hayami, minister of finance; Viscount Kyoshiro Inouye, railway minister, and Chuji Machida, minister of agriculture and forestry.

U. S. OF EUROPE NEXT MOVE ON WORLD STAGE

Federation of States May Take Place of League.

PREDICTION MADE

Aloofness of America May Force Change of Groups.

LONDON.—Exit: the League of Nations—Enter: the Federated States of Europe.

That is what many of Europe's leading statesmen look upon as the next big move on the world's political stage. It will not come hurriedly and it will not happen spectacularly, but it is foreseen as the inevitable consequence of the continued aloofness of the United States from the councils at Geneva, and as a development approaching nearer to a conclusion by South American suspicion of the league, now clearly demonstrated by the unconditional withdrawal of Brazil.

Suffering since its beginning by the non-membership and coldness of the United States and by the antagonism of Soviet Russia, the league in recent months has reeled under blow after blow, chiefly through internal quarrels over the admission of Germany, culminating in the Brazilian decision to retire from the European council table.

America Apathetic.

The league loses by the apathy of the nations of North and South America, because its world influence is diminished in proportion to the decreases in its sphere of operation.

Reading and realizing the meaning of the writing on the wall, the best political minds of Great Britain and the Continent see that the league's loss may not necessarily hurt European prestige, but that Europe may gain much out of the wreckage by consolidating its own interests in an association of nations almost wholly European in membership and outlook. It matters little whether this new association retains the title of league of nations, or whether it becomes a League of Europe, the Federated States or the United States of Europe. The important fact is that the nations of Europe, left alone to solve their own problems, must either unite in the development of an independent European confederation of split up into the system of ententes and alliances which existed before the war.

Movement Discussed.

Frank discussion of this evolutionary movement is going on in responsible quarters throughout Europe. The general conclusion is that the lesser league, rightly directed, will be able to do more for its membership than the old league if it turns its energies particularly to European problems, and puts Europe's house in order without mixing in the affairs of the United States and South America.

COUNTY KENNEL FUND BOOSTED

Record Compiled for Fiscal Year Shows Large Increase.

As a direct result of the activity of Deputy Sheriff Joseph McDevitt, of Wellsville, working out of the office of Sheriff George Wright, there has been an approximate increase of $3,000 in the annual balance of the county dog and kennel fund, the record for the fiscal year just compiled by County Auditor Elmer E. Walker has disclosed.

At the close of business Wednesday afternoon a total of 5,899 dog licenses had been issued for the first six months of the year, which is a new peak record for registrations and collections.

At the close of the fiscal year July 1, 1925, there was a balance of $5,591.25 in the dog and kennel fund. The balance at the close of the fiscal year, June 30, 1925, is $8,139.12, which is a record balance.

The gross collections credited to this fund during the fiscal year has been listed at $10,360.70, over half of which has been credited since Jan. 1 last.

During the fiscal year there has been paid from this fund for sheep killed and injured $3,738.96, and there has been paid for other animals killed or injured, for which the law provided compensation only $95. Witness fees totaled $133.25, and the money paid from the fund for other purposes totaled $1,982.80. Total damages and fees paid amount to $5,950.01, and the county board of education received from the fund so far a total of $1,862.30. The total of all payments from this fund during the last fiscal year was $7,812.31, and the balance in the fund at the close of the fiscal year Wednesday was $8,139.12.

During the year dog licenses have been issued for 5,379 males and 1,113 females. In addition to this business licenses have been issued for 36 dog kennels in this county.

As a result of the large balance in the dog and kennel fund at this time, the county board of education will receive a larger appropriation from the fund than ever before.

If Tired, Worn-Out, Weak and Run-Down Regain Vigor Thru Gland Treatment

GLAND secretions are called hormones — mysterious messengers which science has discovered exert a remarkable influence on health, strength and vitality.

When the glands function normally, they supply these vitalizing hormones (or secretions) which are essential to physical well-being. And when the glands fail to function, health fails.

Now, glandular treatment, which is indorsed by eminent scientists, physicians of this country and Europe, is being used by thousands of men and women to help overcome a weakened, worn-out, run-down, exhausted condition and to regain the strength, vigor and vitality that are the natural benefits resulting from a normal glandular system.

Glandogen, the new scientific gland tonic, provides a simple method of taking glandular treatment. Glandogen is prepared in convenient tablet form, for both men and women. Accept no substitutes, insist on genuine Glandogen, the original gland tonic.

Mathew's Medicine Store will supply you.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE:

Bee and Lou are modern girls sharing a Greenwich Village apartment. Bee is an actress, at present in the chorus, but keeping a stiff upper lip and a fond hope of success. Into the Village comes Delia, frail poetess of New England, seeking freedom from the repressions of her home. And Bee, a school chum of the fredom seeker, invites her to share their apartment. Delia is determined to win through to the freedom she came for. She is left alone in the apartment, as Bee goes off to practice at the theater. In on her, unceremoniously, bursts Wilbur Sayles, obviously much disturbed about something. Incidentally, he reports that Bee's job in the theater is to end shortly.

Now go on with the story.

—Illustration by Lester Ralph

Don't move!" he cried as Delia stirred.

CHAPTER FOUR.

For the moment he seemed to forget himself. But now he took abruptly to pacing the floor and pressed his hands again to his face.

"I'm afraid I'm not very good company just now. I—I'm just about beside myself. If it wasn't for Lou I think I'd have jumped into the river."

Delia's fingers tightened about the wicker work of the chair.

He whirled on her, quite as if she had accused him. "I've got the Oedipus complex. I can't tell you what I've—When a man turns against his own mother—Well—" He threw out his hands. "I've never been away from her a night in my life. Not before this. But Lou fairly made me come down here. Got me out of the store. Just packed me off. She called up herself, this noon, found Mother was out, and went with me to pack a few clothes. I don't believe I could have done it alone. Then she had to go back to the store. Lou's wonderful. You know, steady about things, about life."

Delia's whisp of a body was curled up like a child's in the wicker chair. She couldn't take her eyes off him. Was she about to giggle again? She clamped her lips shut.

"My mother's been everything to me." He was talking on. "Simply everything. She's put up with every sort of hardship just so I could—Oh, I can't talk about it!"

An impulse from some impish source within her prompted Delia to ask, "Then why do you?" But she kept still. Her eyes were roving from his parcels on the couch to her own small luggage in the corner. That ever-lurking giggle must be sat on firmly.

Again he confronted her. But now he seemed to be studying her—face, head, body, even feet. Suddenly he whipped off his coat. Her lids dropped. "I like your head," he remarked, as if it were a perfectly natural thing to say to a strange girl. It was quite possible that he was crazy. Better take that into account and quietly humor him. She could always get away with the excuse of joining Bee at the theater. She could, that was, if he didn't lock her in. She glanced furtively out the window. The street looked pretty far down. But there was a fire escape.

"Do you mind," he asked, "if I sketch you? I've got to do something."

Before she could order her thoughts into a reply, he had opened the wooden box. She saw a palette and brushes and tubes of paint. Of course! An artist! Naturally he'd be odd. Moving with extraordinarily deft quickness he brought a small chair from the bedroom, proped up a little square of canvas board on the seat, and squeezed out on the palette a row of squirming gay worms of color. It was to be a painting, then. She'd never been painted. He had the comfortable air of knowing, now, precisely what he was about. Familiar routine. When he came to her and with his light hands removed her hat and (with an exclamation of pleasure) touched her hair here and there, he was impersonally professional in manner. Even when he dropped on one knee and moved the foot she wasn't sitting on and rearranged the folds of her skirt, she didn't mind. Like a photographer, she thought. Or a dressmaker.

Delia didn't appear at the theater. But that wasn't surprising. Bee recalled that in their college days they'd been forever looking her up. And it was as well, today. The occasion was hardly inspiring. The girl who was to take Bee's place appeared, and then she was casually told that she might go. But she kept her chin up, and smiled. Briskly enough she dodged through the traffic of the square and entered Christopher street.

"Well, my word," cried Bee, "a taxi!"

Lou was opening her purse, "Oh, hello, Bee," she replied. "Here; take that fool thing up, will you? Don't drop it. It's heavy."

Bee looked within the cab and saw a round package wrapped in brown paper. As she lifted it out her fingers closed about the curving top and the small round handle of a gallon jug. The chauffeur grinned.

"Better get it right in,' said Lou, in her businesslike way, as she counted out the fare. She followed, then, and caught up with Bee on the top flight. "It's that alcohol," she explained. "Mr. Hargrove got it for me."

"What did it stand you?"

"Eleven dollars. I'm flat."

"That's five-fifty more I owe you."

"Never mind that. I had to take some drastic steps today, Wilbur. He blew up. Couldn't work at all. What he needs is a party. Release a few of those frightful inhibitions of his. And a party it's going to be—if I never eat or drink again."

"Sounds good to me," said Bee. "Open the door, Lou."

"Can't. Gave my key to Wilbur. He should be here." And she knocked.

The door opened. There stood the young man, coatless, hair rumpled, palette in hand. And curled up in the wicker chair with a book in her lap, sat Delia.

"I'll do the introducing as soon as I can get rid of this jug," observed Bee. Then. "My old college chum, Lou, Delia Bradley. Lou's other name is Dibble, but you'll call her Lou. And now as for you two, you're evidently getting on beautifully but I don't know if you've told each other your names."

"Well," Wilbur began, then with a swift new thought resumed his painting. "Don't move!" he cried, as Delia stirred in her chair.

"Anyway," said Bee, stripping the brown paper off the jug, "She is Delia Bradley and you are Wilbur Sayles."

How to make

Raspberry Jam

Here is an easy new way to make perfect raspberry jam without cooking away the luscious fresh flavor of your berries and their beautiful bright color.

With Certo you do not have to "boil your fruit down." One or two minutes' boiling is enough to give a perfect, tender jell. You cannot have a failure and you get half again more jam from your fruit because you save the juice instead of cooking it away.

Crush thoroughly about 2 quarts ripe berries. Measure 4 level cups (2 lbs.) crushed berries into a large kettle, add 6½ level cups (2¾ lbs.) sugar and mix well. Use hottest fire and stir constantly before and while boiling. Bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard for 1 minute, remove from fire and stir in ½ cup Certo. Skim and stir repeatedly for just 5 minutes after taking from fire, to cool slightly. Then pour quickly and cover hot jam at once with melted paraffin.

A book of nearly 100 recipes for all sorts of delicious jams and jellies comes with each bottle of Certo. Your grocer carries Certo, or you can send 10c (for postage) and get a trial half-size bottle which will make from 6 to 10 glasses of jam or jelly, depending up the recipe used. Address Douglas Pectin Corporation, 6820 Granite Building, Rochester, N. Y.

America Wears Out 1,200 Tons Of Paper Currency Every Year

Life of $1 Bill, Continually Decreasing, Now Averages Six Months, Says Treasury Department.

WASHINGTON — Twelve hundred tons of paper currency are manufactured annually by the United States government to supply needs of the country.

Americans wear out their paper money faster than their shoes, according to experts, who said that during the past 12 months more than 1,000,000,000 new bills were put into circulation.

"The United States Bureau of Standards, in co-operation with the Treasury and Bureau of Efficiency have started a study to find means of extending the life of paper money," said a statement issued at the Department of Commerce.

"The life of a $1 bill, which is the greater part of our paper currency, had been continually decreasing in the past years until in 1924 it averaged six months. Formerly its life was around 20 months."

The use of paper currency has increased three-fold in the last 15 years. The country wore out a billion paper bills last year weighing 1,200 tons.

Officials said that the chief contributing factors to the decreasing life of paper currency are due to its rapidity of circulation and the increasing carelessness in handling it.

"These conditions may possibly be partly accounted for by the decreasing purchasing value of the bills," Bureau of Standards officials said.

"The cost of the annual replacement has amounted to $4,000,000. The Treasury Department is concerned not only with this huge outlay but is faced with the necessity of making costly additions to its paper currency printing plant as its production facilities are becoming overtaxed."

Officials suggested the necessity of an extensive technologic research on both the paper manufacturing processes and the printing processes. The paper manufacturing processes are being studied on a semi-commercial scale at the paper mill in the Bureau of Standards. Various proportions of linen and cotton fibers are being experimented with in the making of paper that goes into the currency.

The new processes of paper production and printing will provide against counterfeiting, according to officials.

Another line of research being followed deals with the surface sizing of the printed bills. Such treatment is said to increase life of the bills through protection from surface abrasions, giving them better water resistance and making the printing more permanent.

It has been found that increased resistance to wear is obtained by hardening the glue-sizing with fomaldehyde.

Tests made show the new processes will increase the average life of bills to 10 months. A 100 per cent increase in strength has been obtained. Officials expressed the belief that in spite of harder use and more frequent handling, paper currency soon will be improved sufficiently that it will remain in circulation in good condition more than a year.

CONCRETE POURED

Contractors Awaiting Word on Smith's Ferry Job.

The Midland-East Liverpool road between Midland and Smith's Ferry, which has been closed to traffic for about six weeks, will be opened on Saturday, James S. Rinehart, member of the contracting firm, Rinehart Brothers, in charge of the improvement, said today.

Last of the concrete on this job was poured a week ago, and Beaver county officials have consented to open the road for Independence Day travel.

The contractors are rushing work on a 300-foot stretch between the eastern end of the concrete and the western limit of the borough of Midland which will be macadam in construction. This will be completed today or Friday.

Rinehart Brothers are awaiting instructions on improvement of the road through Smith's Ferry, for which they were the low bidders.

Canada Protects Railways.

The custom of American manufacturers of automobiles to drive new cars across the Canadian border has aroused the customs department at Ottawa, the officials of which maintain that this is a discrimination against the railways that should be stopped. They say it is not only unfair to the railways, but if allowed to continue would cause congestion in the highways at times.

SEEK ACTION ON GUILFORD PARK PLANS

State Officers Will Inspect Site Friday

Offices of Attorney General and Department of Public Works to be Represented at Survey.

POSSIBLE action in the near future on improvement plans at Guilford State park may be speeded up by the visit tomorrow of an official Columbus delegation to the sportsmen's center-township preserve.

According to word received today by J. C. Miller, of this city, secretary of the Columbiana County Fish and Game Protective association, from Representative Ralph Emmons, of East Rochester, officers of the state department of public works and the attorney general's office will compose the delegation which will make a survey of the park site tomorrow afternoon.

The party will include First Assistant Attorney General Griswold.

The party will include Messrs. Griswold, first assistant attorney general, Williams, also of the attorney general's office, Wisda, of the department of public works and Buton, chief auditor of the public works department.

The Columbus quartet will arrive in Salem at noon and will go immediately to Guilford for their inspection. They probably will be accompanied by King, Chisholm and Miller of the county fish and game association.

The construction work at the dam will be in charge of the department of public works and their activities must be approved by the attorney general's office.

At the conclusion of their inspection trip they will be guests at a dinner arranged by Salem sportsmen.

FATHER-SON FINAL TODAY

W. E. Wells and Son, J. M., Rank High With Net 80.

PITTSBURGH, July 1.—Playoff this afternoon between James B. Crookston and son, James W., and E. E. Giles and E. E., Jr., at Pittsburgh Field club will decide the family golf championship of western Pennsylvania. Both pairs turned in a card of 79 for the first round.

W. E. Wells and son, Joe, of East Liverpool, Ohio, with a net 80, ranked high among the father and son pairs. Joe Wells lost the driving contest to Charles A. Totten, of Stanton Heights club, by a scant margin of half yard on three shots.

W. E. Wells was elected a member of the board of directors of the organization.

They Loom Big in 1926 Golf

As a result of their showing in the recent British Open tourney golfing fans will watch closely the coming appearances of George Von Elm and Al Watrous. Watrous, finishing second to Bobby Jones, stands out as one of the best young pros and Von Elm, finishing third, showed he is possibly the best of the amateurs outside of Bobby Jones.

Will Name Site of Dempsey-Tunney Heavyweight Title Bout Next Week

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, July 1.—There was a strong bull movement—possibly with emphasis on the adjective—in the heavyweight market, Tex Rickard causing the upward trend by breaking his silence with a significant statement. This was to the general effect that he would name the site of the Dempsey-Tunney match for the world's heavyweight championship not later than next week.

In brief, Rickard has closed his deal, either with Chicago or Jersey City, and is all ready to go.

His statement followed an exchange of telegrams with the principals, Dempsey wiring Rickard from Las Vegas that he would arrive in Colorado Springs today prepared to get down to active training. The champion asked for five or six heavyweight sparring partners and a line of reformed piano movers began forming on the left at an early hour this morning, while Rickard was thumbing over the freight rates to points west.

Orders Tunney Into Training.

His next move was to wire Tunney to cease uplifting the drama in Hollywood and begin lifting up the chest weights. Tunney was ordered to report here before July 15 to begin conditioning for the big shot. Rickard declined to say, but it is understood that Tunney will train at Saratoga.

If that is the case, the Chicago site probably is out like a door mat, for if they fight in Chicago they will train hard by so that the boys may draw their own conclusions and shower down adequately while doing so.

As a matter of fact, the Yankee stadium, New York city, persists in some quarters as the ultimate spot for the match, regardless of the decree of the New York state athletic commission, banishing Dempsey into the silence until such time as he admits that Harry Wills is a heavyweight pugilist. It is difficult to see how the commission can run on its own ultimatum but some of the local intelligentsia seem to feel that it can and will.

The New York site, for obvious reasons, is the most attractive one to Rickard. He might, for example, come back from Jersey City with almost as much money as he took over. The fight would draw plenty there but Rickard's ultimate profit might be negligible.

As for Chicago, his objection there is that he would have to split his profits with the nominal promoter of the fight. According to the Illinois law, only resident promoters are permitted to operate in that state, so Rickard would have to work through some one else. He might even have to sell his contract with the fighters, taking what is known as a quick profit, which often enough is just another name for a small one.

Two factors will operate against this plan. Rickard doesn't like them small and he does like the limelight. His native vanity is such that he would retire from the public management of a heavyweight champion bout only if he saw no other course open to him. He would rather take a loss than see some other man handle such a match at a profit.

SKULL PRACTICE

Sammy Mandell, Rockford, Ill., fighter, received a nickel for his first fight. That would be too much money for some fighters we've seen in action.

Willie Meehan might have drawn bigger crowds had he paid the public to attend.

Willie was supposed to be in mortal fear of thunder and lightning. His enterprising manager spread the word that he had to dry Willie's tears and promise to take him to the circus before the fat boy would crawl out from under the bed after a summer storm.

The only dirty trick Willie ever played us was when he appeared after a rain to fight Tommy Gibbons.

Willie was terribly confused that night. He couldn't decide where to lay down when Gibbons soaked him in the pork barrel.

Lad Bums Way 200 Miles to See Ruth Slam One

Clarence "Rusty" Queen, 12 years old, Springfield, Mo., has always wanted to see Babe Ruth smack the ball for a home run. After walking and "bumming" rides for the 200 miles to St. Louis he was taken in tow by St. Louis police and held for the Juvenile Court. However, reporters took him to the game where he did see Babe Ruth hit one of his home runs. Also, the Bambino gave him an autographed baseball.

Three Events On July 5 Golf Card At Country Club

Tombstone, Foursome Tourneys Driving Contest Listed.

BECKONED by a golf program of three-ply dimensions, Country club players are expected to set a new attendance mark on the occasion of their first real holiday competition Monday.

A tombstone tournament, a mixed Scotch foursome and a driving contest for women are the three feature events of the days' card.

The tombstone tourney is slated for the morning over 18 holes under full handicap. The winner will take the annual C. A. Bough trophy.

Mixed foursomes will negotiate the course in the afternoon for trophies donated by R. L. E. Chambers and H. S. Russell.

At the conclusion of the foursome competition, feminine players will stage a driving contest for a trophy to be donated by Tom Stackpole, of the May company, of Cleveland. The best three drives down the fairway will land the prize.

Four double-plays helped Detroit beat the Browns, 4 to 1. A shower of raspberries descended on the field when McManus caught Heilmann with the hidden ball trick while Ty Cobb was coaching at third.

Mandell is False Favorite, Asserts White Who Knows

CHICAGO, July 1—Sammy Mandell of Rockford who fights champion Rocky Kansas here Saturday for the world's lightweight boxing title, is a "false-favorite" to win at odds of 2 to 1, in the opinion of Charley White who once lost to Kansas.

"The back hand punch—the same that put Benny Leonard down for a count and pounded out a victory over myself—will win for Kansas in his fight with Mandell," augurs White.

City League Flag Rivals In Action On Two Diamonds

Laughlin Plays Turk-Nash; Chester Goes to Wellsville.

WITH three pennant pointed teams of the City Industrial league in action tonight in two games, a delectable baseball dish will be served to loop fans in this city and Wellsville.

Laughlin will play Turk-Nash at Patterson Field and Chester will go into action at Wellsville.

Should Chester and Laughlin both win, the tie for first place will continue. And if one loses, of course, the other takes undisputed possession.

If Turk-Nash wins, the auto outfit will be but one game behind the second place and in an advantageous position to reach it by a possible victory in Friday's game with Chester.

TAGGING ALL --BASES--

The Pirates walked the plank for the sixth time in a row, losing to the Cardinals, 5 to 2. Haines turned in another good game while homers by Blades and Bell spoiled the afternoon for Lee Meadows.

Cincinnati's winning streak curled up and died when the Reds lost the second game of a double header to the Cubs, 9 to 4, after winning the opener 3 to 2. Luque served them red-hot in the first game but May and Lucas wilted in the nightcap.

The Giants tried to add another game to the Braves but the Beaneaters wouldn't hear of it, so McGraw's pets walked away with the game in the fifteenth inning, 7 to 6. Lindstrom starred with a homer and three other hits.

Brooklyn downed Philadelphia in an 11 to 9 slugging match, Ehrhardt receiving credit for his first victory in 2o starts. Harper's two homers kept the Phils in the running.

The Athletics nosed out the Yankees in the ninth, 5 to 4, when Poole, who had already hit a homer, doubled with the bases full.

Two rookies starred in Washington's 8 to 5 victory over the Red Sox. Morrell yielded only five hits and Dan Taylor, formerly of Buffalo, got three hits, including a homer.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON.

Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

The principle of unwinding the body more slowly in the forward swing, and particularly in the early stages of the forward swing, is closely allied to the principle that in good golf form controls the action of the right shoulder at the ball when you hit. If the body unwinds slowly, evenly and rhythmically the right shoulder will not go forward until the clubhead is at the ball. You can then shoot it into the ball and out after it as far as you can reach, and the trigger-like action of the body at that instant can also be thrown in. If you leap forward with the body quickly from the top of the back swing, the chances are the right shoulder will dip downward. It never dips down, but goes straight forward into the ball.

Pilot "Hap" Jackson Goes to Slab in Rescue Role as Jennings, Stoffel and Simcox Wilt Under Bombardment of Base Hits; Losers Put up Fight.

MAKING K. T. K. use three pitchers in the first inning when six terrific blows netted as many runs and finally causing Manager "Hap" Jackson to go to the hilltop himself and twirl the remaining five periods of play, Chester defeated the Potters at Columbian park last evening and returned to a tie with Laughlin in the City Industrial league race.

Terrific clouting marked the contest on both sides. Jennings, starting out for K. T. K., was found for a double, triple and two singles, good for three runs as one man was retired. Then Stoffel went in and a single, plus a triple and an error gave the West Virginians three more tallies. Simcox then assumed the pitching burden and fanned L. McMath.

Jackson Takes Slab.

But two straight walks off Simcox at the outset of the second caused Jackson to send him back to third and the Potters' manager himself went to the slab. His twirling was an improvement. He allowed but four scattered blows and two runs thereafter.

With none out in the third and two on after one man had scored on two doubles and error, Lysle cleared the bags with a terrific four-bagger to deep middle. This proved the undoing of P. Bennett, who had started to pitch for Chester and contributed one of the first inning triples for his team, and Wilde took up the flinging. He used speed that dropped in opposition to the hooks that Bennett had been serving up. The change of pace was very effective as he fanned the first five men to face him in two innings and retired the sixth at first base.

In addition to twirling a splendid game, he fielded his position well. In all, he fanned seven men in the four innings in which he worked.

Katies Spurt in Sixth.

With the score 8 to 5 against them, K. T. K. gestured in the sixth when the tying runs were on the bags after one tally had been made. But Wilde bore down and struck out Lysle, retiring the side and winning the contest.

In the fifth Wilde came out of a bad hole when, with the bases full, due to Kinsey's muff of Jackson's fly, Simcox's single and Lysle's pass he retired the next three men in a row and leaving the trio on the paths. He fanned Merchant, caused Jennings to fly to C. Marshall in right and himself handling Wilson's rap, assisted quickly to Wyant.

Before taking the pitching assignment, Wilde batted in two runs with a single and a double and in the fourth forced Greene between second and third and himself took second on the play which ultimately enabled him to score his second run of the game.

Simcox led the clubbers with a double and two singles in four attempts. Jennings, tripling in the second, might have been able to register a home run by stretching his legs down the path, had he not been held at third by the coacher who decided not to take the chance. On Simcox's long single in the fifth, Jackson, on second by a wild pitch following Kinsey's muff, was held a third when, probably, a bit of a spurt might have landed him across the plate.

L. McMath, with two doubles in four tries, hit at a .500 clip. Kinsey had a single and a double in three times up for a .667 mark. A big crowd saw the contest.

The Indians scalped Ted Lyons of the White Sox, their pet jinx, and won in a romp, 11 to 3. Cleveland is now only a game and a half away from second place.

EAST END

POTTERS LEAVE FOR SEASHORE

Campers Increase.

Large number of campers have pitched tents on the Ohio side of Beaver creek during the week. Majority plan to return home after Independence day which will be observed next Monday.

Scouts To Meet.

Boy Scouts will meet tomorrow night in the Pennsylvania Avenue Methodist Episcopal church. Routine program will be followed during the session.

Large Crowd at Game.

Large crowd attended the baseball game last night at Columbian park between Chester and Knowles, Taylor and Knowles teams of the Industrial league. The result of the contest leaves the race deadlocked between Homer Laughlin and Chester.

Bonds Will Be Sold.

Beaver county commissioners plan to sell a large bond issue next week to meet the expenses of a number of road improvement projects which are in progress in various sections of the county.

Aid Society Meets.

Members of the Ladies' Aid society of the Pennsylvania Avenue Church of Christ held an all-day session today in the church. The usual program was carried out.

Choir Practice.

Choir practice will be held this evening in several of the churches of this section of the city. Pastors conducted prayer services last night.

Lodge Meeting Tonight.

Members of Pennova lodge No. 880, I. O. O. F., will meet this evening in the Hill building, Mulberry street. Session will be given over to the transaction of routine business.

Turkish Traffic Police Gay.

Traffic police in Constantinople take excessive pride in their dress and carriage. They wear crimson and brass helmets and carry a baton of red and white stripes which resemble sticks of peppermint candy. They take great pride in outdoing one another in the neatness of their uniforms and in their carriage. The effect is striking to tourists visiting that country.

Columbiana County, on Section "B-1" of the Youngstown-East Liverpool Road, I. C. H. No. 502, State Route No. 7, Petition No. 5454, in St. Clair Township, by constructing new 30 foot clear span concrete arch bridge over Long's Run.

Width: Pavement 24 ft. Roadway 24 ft.
Estimated cost of construction $10,399.70
Date set for completion, October 1, 1926.

The bidder must submit with his bid a certified check in an amount equal to five per cent (5%) of the estimated cost, but in no event more than ten thousand dollars ($10,000.00.)

Plans and specifications are on file in the office of the County Surveyor, Resident Engineer, and the Department of Highways and Public Works, Division of Highways.

G. F. SCHLESINGER
Director of Highways and Public Works.
